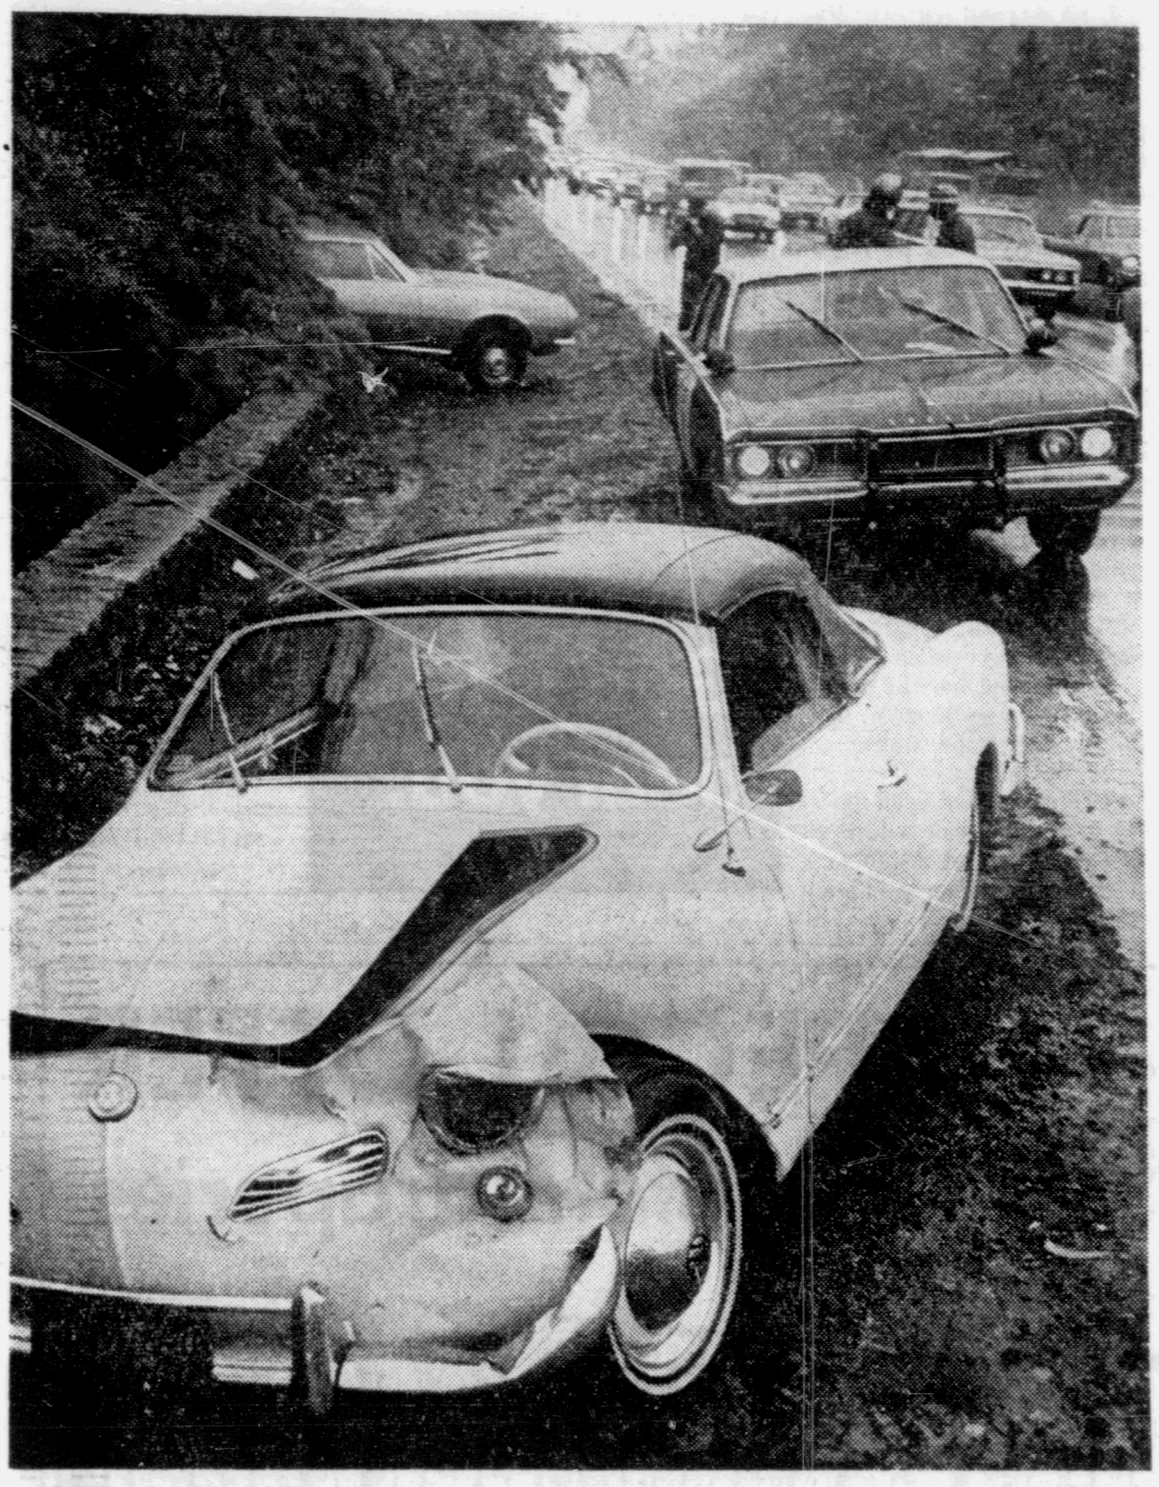
Marin Alerts Bay Area Law Agencies To Bomb Plot Risk



WET CRASH—Six cars went off the road on southbound Highway 101 today near San Rafael, clogging traffic for about a half hour at 9:30 a.m. One car was knocked over the rock wall that borders the west side of the highway on Puerto Suello Hill north of San Rafael. No one was seriously hurt.

Teacher Pay Compromise For Novato

The impasse between Novato teachers and the Novato Unified School District board over salaries yesterday was solved when an overwhelming majority of the teachers voted to accept a compromise 6 per cent pay hike and hope for more.

The teachers had demanded an 8 per cent salary increase, which would have cost the district $456,665 this fiscal year. The 6 per cent hike, retroactive to Sept. 1, will cost the district approximately $300,000, reported Supt. James G. Bunker.

The compromise, and the request of non-teaching employees for a 5 per cent pay hike, which would cost another $50,000, will go before the district trustees at 8 p.m. today in the Marion School.

The points worked out by the negotiating council and school officials included the 6 per cent hike of all base salaries, agreement that any additional money which might come to the district during the rest of the fiscal

FEW PROBLEMS

Rain Is Expected Through Tonight

Most of Marin awoke to a watery world today and weathermen predicted it would stay that way through tonight.

Much of the county experienced a steady, sometimes wind-whipped downpour. San Rafael had accumulated an inch of rain at noon.

The California Highway Patrol reported a rash of accidents on rain-slick roads, especially on Highway 101, but other rain-related problems were minor.

"It's just like a sunny day," the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported. "We've had no problems at all."

Marin County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost also reported no problems and said the rain was not expected to create any.

Clogged drains were the major headache, but public works crews were anxious over the prediction of a 60 per cent chance of rain through tonight.

In southern Sonoma County, light rain began falling shortly before 4 a.m. and by 8 a.m. had developed into a steady pour.

Novato measured .29 inch of rain at 11 a.m. and Hamilton Air Force Base had .35 at 11.

Other 24-hour totals, as of 8 a.m., were Woodacre, .39 of an inch, Chevy Chase area of Larkspur, .26, San Anselmo, .4, Civic Center, .15, Terra Linda, .10, Sausalito, .02, Tamalpais Valley, .06, Bolinas, .10, Tiburon and Mill Valley, traces.

The weatherman predicted the threat of rain would decrease to 30 per cent tomorrow and winds were expected to diminish.

Alioto Joins In Warning

By STEPHEN COOK

A Marin sheriff's inspector has placed all county and Bay Area police agencies on notice that their stations may become the next targets for saboteurs armed with 60 sticks of dynamite.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto charged yesterday that the recent rash of bombings and attempted bombings directed against law enforcement officers in the Bay Area is the work of an organized band of saboteurs.

OFFICES GUARDED

In Marin, increased security precautions are being taken at the Marin City substation, target for seven sticks of dynamite Thursday night, according to Undersheriff Sidney Stinson.

Capt. Theodore Parnow of the California Highway Patrol also reported he has increased security around his Corte Madera station.

The Bay Area's most recent bombing occurred yesterday outside the Oakland office of the Highway Patrol. The explosive, placed beneath the privately owned car of Patrolman Robert Penkivich, destroyed the automobile and badly damaged two others, but there were no injuries.

DYNAMITE'S SOURCE

No other departments in Marin reported increased security outside their stations.

Inspector Kenneth Irving of the sheriff's office, assigned to investigate the Marin City bombing attempt, reported that the dynamite tossed under the substation has been tentatively identified as loot from a San Francisco armed robbery two days earlier.

In that robbery, two Negro men, each about 21 years old and armed with handguns, took 60 sticks of dynamite and 50 feet of fuse from their victim, Irving said.

Irving described the bombing attempt in Marin City in his bulletin, then said:

"Attention, all Bay Area departments . . . Attention, all

McCarthy Nod Brings Smiles To Humphrey

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey joyfully accepted the rosier side of a lukewarm endorsement by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy today and said it will have a "decided effect" on his presidential campaign.

The Democratic presidential contender learned of his former rival's announcement that he intends to vote for Humphrey as he took part in a local television program. (See other political stories, page 26.)

'HAPPY MAN'

"I'm a happy man this morning in terms of his support," Humphrey said of the man who had contested him for the Democratic presidential nomination, then withheld his support until one week before election day.

"I say thank you, Gene," Humphrey beamed, seeming to ignore McCarthy's statement that he continues to be dissatisfied with Humphrey's position on the Vietnam War and other matters.

Humphrey said he expects "lots of undecided votes to come our way" in the last days before the election. "There are a lot of Democrats coming back to the party. The McCarthy announcement will have a decided effect."

VOICES CONFIDENCE

The Vice President voiced confidence as he campaigned among working men in hopes of keeping their votes from third-party candidate George C. Wallace. He directed his attack toward Wallace in remarks prepared for a factory visit.

"Can he really run the government? Can he keep our economy strong? Can he keep the workers on overtime and off unemployment lines?

"He couldn't do it in Alabama —and I say he couldn't do it as president of the United States."

As Humphrey combs the populous eastern industrial states in the waning days of his campaign, he is devoting less and less time to serious discussion of national issues. His speeches are pep talks, virtually identical from one stop to another, given over heavily to attacks on his chief rival, Republican Richard M. Nixon.

FUTURE UNDECIDED

Supporters Asked To Vote For HHH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., endorsed Hubert H. Humphrey for president today but fired fresh criticism at Democratic party leaders and the Chicago convention where he lost the presidential nomination.

In a statement ending his sustained refusal to back Humphrey after the latter wrested the nomination from him last August, McCarthy called on his supporters to vote for the vice president as he said he plans to do.

But the Minnesota senator left open the possibility that he might quit the party.

And he did not foreclose the possibility that he would seek re-election to the Senate in 1970 or a presidential nomination two years later under some other political banner than the Democratic standard.

He did so by declaring: "I will not be a candidate of my party for re-election to the Senate from the state of Minnesota in 1970. Nor will I seek the presidential nomination of the Democratic Party in 1972."

In saying he would vote for Humphrey against GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon, he called on those who supported his effort to win the Democratic nomination to do likewise.

But he said he wanted to make it clear that "this endorsement is in no way intended to reinstate me in the good graces of the Democratic leaders nor in any way to suggest my having forgotten or condoned the things that happened both before Chicago and at Chicago."

In a walking news conference after he had read his statement for broadcast, McCarthy declined to clear up whether he might run for office in 1970 or 1972 on other than the Democratic ticket.

He said, however, that when he said he would not be the can-

COMMERCIAL DROPPED

Demos Brand Nixon TV Spot A 'Smear'

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. said today that Richard M. Nixon's campaign forces have withdrawn a television commercial which Hubert H. Humphrey's forces called a "smear."

"It is not NBC's decision whether to run the commercial or not, but the Nixon-Agnew campaign committee has decided to withdraw that particular commercial from all future broadcasts," an NBC spokesman said.

John N. Mitchell, Nixon's campaign manager, said the ad was meant to portray Humphrey's "politics of joy in contrast to the serious politics of our times."

Mitchell said there had been a growing number of "distasteful distorted spots" by Humphrey's campaigners and added "it ill behooves" the Democratic National Committee to complain.

Mitchell said the Nixon forces would welcome creation of network review of political ads, a proposal made by the Democrats.

The Nixon commercial that started it all showed a smiling Humphrey with scenes of war, poverty and rioting.

"It is a smear in keeping with Nixon's below-the-belt reputation in politics and unworthy of a man running for the nation's highest office," said the Democratic National Committee.

The one-minute commercial, paid for by the Nixon campaign, was shown at 8:47 p.m. during

Jury Still Out In Murder Case

SAN JOSE (UPI) — The jury in the murder trial of two Washington State farm youths moved into a fifth day of deliberations today still without a verdict.

The panel of seven men and five women had failed to reach agreement by late last night and was locked up for the night after eating a late dinner.

There was speculation the jurors were unable to agree on the role of Leonard E. Maine in the slaying of Timothy Luce, 17, and the kidnap, shooting and rape of Susan Bartolomei, now 18, paralyzed and unable to speak.

Maine contended during the 10-week trial that he was an unwilling companion forced at gunpoint to accompany his co-defendant, Thomas E. Braun, on a three-state crime and murder spree in August 1967.

Nixon Urges Home Stretch Votes Push

DETROIT (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, describing Democratic rival Hubert Humphrey as "a man of the old politics," urged Republicans today to bear down hard for victory in the final week of the presidential campaign.

The Republican candidate, addressing an enthusiastic party rally in suburban Livonia—several thousand were on hand—promised new leadership if he is elected president.

AROUND DETROIT

Nixon was spending most of the day stumping around the fringes of Detroit. He even dropped in on hundreds of high school students in Dearborn—but had no microphone to permit him to speak.

And he visited a privately-financed Negro job placement and counseling center on the edge of the inner city hit by riots more than a year ago.

Eager to avoid any last-minute letdown in Republican ranks, Nixon has been urging party workers to get him an extra half-vote a precinct—because "it could make the difference."

He carried that message to the GOP faithful in Albany, N.Y., and Pittsburgh yesterday before flying to Detroit.

EXTRA EFFORT

The Republican presidential candidate told a Pittsburgh party meeting that an extra half-vote in each precinct would have given him a victory in 1960 over the late John F. Kennedy. Urging an 11th-hour drive to get those votes next Tuesday, Nixon said, "It could make the difference this time."

Nixon said "this is the week that is." And he urged his listeners: "Don't panic in the face of personal attacks. Just crack them right on the issues."

The GOP candidate, appearing later before more than 14,000 in Pittsburgh's domed civic auditorium, noted this is Halloween week and predicted:

"This week you're going to see a lot of tricks pulled out of the bag—these by the panicky ones on the other side."

Russ Cosmonaut Continues Trip

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russian cosmonaut Col. Georgy Beregovoi looped the earth alone today, well on his way toward equalling the Soviet solo endurance mark. There was no indication when he would return to earth.

The Russians said he had completed 51 orbits at 2:37 p.m. Moscow time (1:47 a.m. PST). He had then been in space 76 hours and was orbiting once every 89 minutes. The Soviet solo mark was 119 hours and 6 minutes, set in 1963 by Valery Bykovsky.

Geregovoi told ground control today he felt fine and was in good spirits.

$10 Million Living Memorial For RFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., announced today the Kennedy family will create a $10 million Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation to act "as a catalyst in the solution of pressing public problems."

The memorial to the assassinated New York senator was decided on, Kennedy said, after a number of suggestions were advanced by friends and associates.

Tiburon Council Adopts Gatter Plan

After being termed "unexciting," "unimaginative" and "realistic," the proposed Gatter Plan for downtown Tiburon last night was reluctantly but unanimously endorsed by the Tiburon City Council. (Another Tiburon Council story, page 26).

In its action, the council adopted the plan's statement of policy but delayed adopting the accompanying map until an economic feasibility study of the square-footage allocations to commercial and residential development can be completed — possibly, the council said, within two to four months.

The plan, originally drafted by designer Charles Warren Callister and modified by the city's planning consultant George Gatter, won out over the harbor-lagoon alternative proposed by a group of Tiburon residents.

In so doing, the approved plan was condemned by a spokesman for Callister, Christopher C. Layton, who told the council that Callister and his staff were totally disassociating themselves from the plan as modified by Gatter.

The alternative which calls for the development of a harbor and lagoon on 20 of the 38 acres owned by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad in downtown Tiburon was repeatedly praised by councilmen as "exciting," "imaginative" but finally condemned as unfeasible and perhaps illegal at the present time.

The major difference between the Gatter Plan and the Harbor-lagoon alternative is the harbor itself on the railroad property. The Gatter Plan calls for mixed commercial and residential development on the 38-acre parcel.

The harbor-lagoon plan also envisioned development of a pedestrian mall in the area that is now the city's parking lot adjacent to city hall and a town square at the end of Tiburon Boulevard with Paradise Drive relocated.

Councilman Denis T. Rice, who described the harbor-lagoon alternative as an "honest and straightforward plan which has a great deal to commend it to the city," said

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pacifier To Be Turkey Envoy

SAIGON (AP) — Robert W. Komer, who is leaving Saigon to become U.S. ambassador to Turkey for three months, claims the number of Vietnamese under Viet Cong control has been cut in half since he took over America's part in the pacification program.

Komer

Komer, 46, arrived in 1967 with a mandate from President Johnson to revitalize the flagging pacification program. At the time the number of Vietnamese civilians classified as being under enemy control was more than double present official estimates.

Using computers to rate the more than 13,000 hamlets in South Vietnam, Komer reported recently only 16.8 per cent of the civilian population was under enemy control, 66.9 per cent lived in "relatively secure areas" and the remaining 16.3 per cent were in "contested areas."

Best Solution

NEW YORK (AP) — A top mediator urges binding arbitration to settle the teachers strike and get all 1.1-million public school pupils back in classes and provide polling places for next week's elections.

State Mediation board chairman Vincent D. McDonnell said yesterday that balloting next Tuesday was in jeopardy if the walkout continued and added:

"The plight of the democratic process should be so overwhelming as to cause the parties to submit the entire dispute to binding arbitration."

McDonnell served with former U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as a mediator in labor disputes with city police, firemen and sanitation men.

There was no immediate comment on McDonnell's proposal by Albert Shanker, head of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, or John M. Doar, president of the board of education.

Halt Saboteurs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli army units turned back a sabotage band trying to cross the usually quiet Lebanese border near the villages of Honeen and Malkeih in upper Galilee last night, an army spokesman reported.

No Israeli casualties were reported.

Terrorist Bomb

SAIGON (AP) — An explosive charge thrown by a Viet Cong terrorist exploded in a market place in the Mekong Delta town of Kien Long early today, killing six civilians and wounding 17, the U.S. mission reported.

The incident was the latest in a series of terrorist acts that have killed 18 persons and wounded 58 in the last four days, the mission said.

LBJ To Lecture

HOUSTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson, a school teacher before turning to politics, will conduct several seminars at Rice University after his term in office expires in January.

Johnson has accepted an invitation to speak at the Houston school sometime in the spring.

Dr. Joseph Cooper, head of Rice's political science department, said yesterday that Johnson probably will discuss American politics.

Steal Parts

BONN (UPI) — Soviet spies have stolen the guidance system of an American Sidewinder missile and other military gear and shipped them off to Moscow by air freight, a West German prosecutor said today.

Prosecutor Ludwig Martin told newsmen a "Herr X" has been arrested.

But he said besides the guidance system of the heat-seeking missile used by American jets in Vietnam, the Soviet agents got away with the navigational device of the U.S.-developed F104 Starfighter and another newly developed aircraft direction-finding system.

$625,000 Paid Out Of Court In Pool Lawsuit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A law student with all four limbs paralyzed from a swimming pool accident has won a $265,000 settlement out of court from his half brother and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

While diving in a backyard pool at Yuba City on Aug. 28, 1965, he caught his arm on an overhead wire, lost his balance and broke his neck.

Todd had filed a $1.5 million suit against Pacific Telephone and Thomas Nielson, at whose home the accident happened.

He asserted the closeness of the wire violated state Public Utilities Commission regulations.

Nielson and his wife paid $25,000 which was covered by their home owner's insurance policy and PT&T produced $600,000.

Todd's attorney said the settlement was made Friday.

Muskie Calls For Trust In Each Other

"Let's have some faith in our own medicine," the Democratic vice presidential nominee told 1,500 persons at a Santa Monica rally last night.

When a scuffle broke out between supporters of third-party candidate George C. Wallace and pro-Msukie listeners and after police ejected two men, Muskie gave a heckler time to speak from the floor, then said:

"As long as American men and women are thinking, Wallace doesn't have a chance."

Youthful protesters, demanding human values over economic security have much to give other Americans, he said. "What they want should be wanted by all Americans in this year 1968," he added.

"The answer is to reverse our field and to begin to trust each other once more," he said.

The rally ended a day of campaigning in California, where the Republicans are given the edge by a 50-34 margin, accordiog to the latest California Poll.

Muskie was to head today for Texas, campaigning in five cities with Amarillo the first stop.

Jobs, schools and houses cannot be provided overnight to the poor, Muskie said last night. "They have to be reassured that this is the purpose of the American people."

"We haven't yet lived out our life as a country and we're much stronger than when we began," the Maine senator said.

THE TIMES EDITORIAL

Agnew Denies Interest Conflicts

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew has denied all the charges in a New York Times editorial that accused him of "clear and repeated conflicts of interest" while serving as Maryland's governor. (See other political stories, page 1.)

In a four-page statement issued last night in Houston, Tex., Agnew said it was unfortunate that the Times "should find itself in the embarrassing position of having pulled the major blooper of the campaign."

'DISTORT FACTS'

"Everyone knows that the Times endorsed Vice President Humphrey and is actively supporting him," the statement continued. "The fact that the Times waited until a week before the election to distort the facts and make its inaccurate charges against me compounds the libel."

Meanwhile the Times reprinted the editorial in today's edition. The newspaper acted after Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, said he would demand a retraction of the editorial which first appeared Saturday.

Nixon, in a network television interview Sunday night, said the editorial was "the lowest kind of gutter politics that a great newspaper could possibly engage in. It is not news that's fit to print. . ."

In today's editorial the Times said: "Mr. Nixon asserted that the charges in the Times were 'stale.' Some, if not all, of these issues were indeed raised prior to the campaign; but that fact makes them not one whit the less valid, nor less pertinent to a judgment on Mr. Agnew's fitness to be vice president of the United States."

LAND PURCHASE

The editorial Saturday said that Agnew joined a group of businessmen in purchasing a tract of land on the probable approach of a new Chesapeake Bay bridge and sold it only after he had become governor and in response to public criticism.

In his statement Agnew said: "The Times charged or inferred that because of favorable treatment given friends of mine while I was in office that my financial worth has risen sharply. This is a completely false statement."

Agnew said that several weeks ago he declared his net worth at $110,084. He said that of that total $35,000 to $40,000 had been inherited from his parents.

He said that prior to his election as governor he voluntarily disclosed his ownership in the bay bridge land and deeded his interest to an irrevocable trust with instructions that it be sold and any profit turned over to a charitable organization.

He said the approach route to the new bay bridge "was approved and recommended by the state Roads Commission under a Democratic governor prior to my administration." He said the land was sold by the trustee for the same price he had paid for it.

In today's editorial the Times said that an attorney for Nixon and Agnew informed the newspaper Monday that the "sole factual point under challenge by Mr. Nixon was the sentence: "In response to public criticism Gov. Agnew later sold his share of the land.'

"The contention is made that at the time he decided to sell the land, Mr. Agnew was not governor, but was candidate for governor. Furthermore, instead of beneficially selling his share in the partnership, he had placed his interest in the hands of a bank, in trust, with instructions that it be sold. Mr. Agnew was to recoup his original purchase price, but any profits were to go to a children's home," the editorial said.

"As it turns out, Mr. Agnew's share was sold at auction by the trustees the following year—while he was governor—for the price Mr. Agnew had paid for it. The only (and successful) bidder was a lawyer representing Mr. Agnew's former partners in the investment.

"Mr. Agnew did not profit from this sale, nor did the editorial allege that he had so profited," the editorial said. "The other statements concerning Mr. Agnew's real estate activities and his directorship of the Chesapeake National Bank apparently are undisputed."

20 Die In Bus

ISTANBUL (AP) — Twenty persons were killed and 15 others were injured seriously when a packed bus and a truck loaded with wheat collided head-on near Izmir, reports reaching Istanbul today said.

The accident occurred last night. Both vehicles plunged into a 90-foot ravine.

LeMay Favors Equal Rights For Everyone

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—George C. Wallace's running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, says he favors desegregation and thinks "every real thinking person in the country" feels the same.

Campaigning in the Midwest for the American Independent Party ticket, the retired Air Force general said he's for equal rights and opportunities for everyone in the country.

"I believe everyone believes in that," LeMay said at a news conference here yesterday. LeMay added, however, that he was opposed to federal civil rights legislation and thought desegregation should be left to the states and the processes of education.

"Encouraging desegregation is one thing," he said, "but forcing it down someone's throat is another."

LeMay said his views on desegregation were the same as his running mate's. Told by a newsman that Wallace, campaigning in Alabama four years ago, declared that he was for "segregation today. Segregation tomorrow, segregation forever," LeMay said he was not familiar with everything Wallace had ever said on the subject.

A peculiar tail and head movement in a species of wild duck may show its relationship to a species more clearly than feather patterns.

Wallace Holds Neither Foe Will Help South

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — George C. Wallace, going into the final week of his fight for the presidency, asserted neither Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon nor Democratic nominee Hubert H. Humphrey would represent the South.

The former Alabama governor drew cheers from his audience in this port city on the Gulf of Mexico when he blamed the Democrats and Republicans at another point for what he said was neglect of the U.S. maritime fleet.

During an earlier speech in Hannibal, Mo., a sharp-edged rock the size of a fist sailed from the corwd of about 3,000 and fell about 12 feet in front of Wallace.

"I don't mind speaking here," Wallace said, "but when you start throwing rocks that size, well. . ."

Two eggs also were hurled at Wallace, along with an assortment of pennies, pebbles and small sticks. None hit him.

There was only a handful of dissenters in the crowd at Hannibal. Two of them, both Negroes, were hauled away by police after a shoving match with a Wallace supporter.

In Beaumont, three Negroes were yanked from the crowd, handcuffed and taken away in a police car, and during a brief airport speech at Quincy, Ill., police removed a protester dressed in hippie garb.

None of the Wallace supporters in any of the incidents was taken into custody.

In all three of his appearances yesterday Wallace continued his attack on the Gallup Poll, which claimed in its latest report that Wallace's popularity had slipped from 20 per cent of the electorate to 15 per cent.

Wallace insisted the size of his crowds during the past week indicated that the opposite was the case. He also accused newsmen of underestimating sizes.

God can heal you.

Saigon, Viet Cong Seek Peace Roles

PARIS (UPI)—The Saigon government and the Viet Cong injected themselves into the Paris talks today. Each one issued a statement demanding it be included in any formal peace negotiations aimed at ending the war.

Pham Van Ba, chief of the newly-opened office of the National Liberation Front (NLF), political arm of the Viet Cong, said the NLF was the only true representative of the people of South Vietnam. So did Pham Dang Lam, chief South Vietnamese observer at the Paris talks.

The Washington and Hanoi delegations meet tomorrow for the 28th time since the talks opened May 13. It will be the last meeting before the U.S. election.

The South Vietnamese are unofficial observers at the Paris talks.

"The United States must recognize the NLF," Ba said. He said his organization holds the power in South Vietnam.

"Therefore the United States must deal with us," he said.

Lam said the Saigon government's position "remains unchanged."

"Any question regarding the future of Vietnam must be discussed between Saigon and Hanoi," he said. "We will sit at any peace conference as the delegation of the Republic of (South) Vietnam and not as members of the American delegation."

"As regards the NLF we hace no objection to its inclusion in the North Vietnamese delegation but nothing else," Lam said.

Hanoi stepped up its propaganda attack today against the United States and North Vietnamese spokesmen indicated they were disappointed with the past few days' behind-the-scenes talks.

U.S. Launches Heavy Attack On Panhandle

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes and warships, including B52 bombers and the battleship New Jersey, attacked North Vietnam's southern panhandle yesterday with the heaviest blows in nearly a month, U.S. military spokesmen reported

There were clearing skies across the panhandle, and Air Force, Navy and Marine jet fighterbombers flew 139 missions, the largest number since 143 were logged on Oct. 3.

"The attacking crews continued to concentrate on road and river traffic, interdicting the southward flow of supplies and material," a U.S. communique said.

Meanwhile 30 B52 bombers, carrying a bomb load roughly equivalent to that of 450 fighter-bombers, dropped 900 tons of bombs on enemy gun positions along the southern edge of North Vietnam.

Striking northwest of the allied combat bases at Con Thien and Gio Lioh, the B52s touched off 27 secondary explosions and sent columns of smoke 4,000 feet up, indicating the bombs scored direct hits on munitions and fuel stores. The Stratofortresses penetrated six miles inside North Vietnam.

The chief targets of the B52s were antiaircraft and artillery positions threatening the smaller fighter-bombers and the Con Thien and Gio Linh combat bases.

A tactical fighter-bomber on the average carries about two tons of bombs, a B52 30 tons. But the B52s failed to knock out all of the antiaircraft guns. Marine fighters attacking enemy troop concentrations and trucks in the northern half of the Demilitarized Zone came under heavy fire.

The New Jersey, the world's only active battleship, was called in and trained its huge 16-inch guns on the enemy positions.

No significant ground fighting was reported. Allied forces reported killing 50 enemy soldiers in a half a dozen small skirmishes from the jungled invasion routes northwest of Saigon to the populous coastal lowlands below Da Nang.

Wornum Against Saucelito Canal Spoils Proposal

Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, candidate for Marin County supervisor in Southern Marin's Third District, last night said the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission should reject a proposal to dump mud spoils from Saucelito Canal elsewhere in the bay.

Wornum, speaking at a reception for him at the Belvedere home of John A. Erickson, said the proposal "would set a disastrous precedent for further bay filling."

The proposal, which has yet to be presented to the BCDC, envisions dumping the mud on the east side of Strawberry Point to create a tidal "bird island."

Wornum is a commissioner on the BCDC.

A firm stand by the BCDC barring disposal of all spoils in the bay, said Wornum, would force development of a system of "large specialized barges" to take all spoils out to sea. Such a system would remove pressure to fill the bay and would allow waterfront development to proceed said Wornum.

Innocent Pleas

Alvin Netherton, 23, of Concord, and Hugh Eugene Bell II, 24, of Pacheco, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a charge of possessing marijuana. Jury trial was scheduled for March 31.

Mill Valley Teacher Pay Group Picked

The Mill Valley School District board last night agreed to recognize a seven-man committee appointed by the Mill Valley Teachers Association as the official negotiating council, Supt. James A. Collins reported.

The council, authorized under state law at the discretion of the board when only one teachers association exists in the district, will represent all certificated personnel in salary negotiations with the board.

Other employees are represented through the district chapter of the Calfiornia School Employees Association.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

DEED — Accepted the certification of acceptance for the deed to 18.5 acres of city property in Project 17 in exchange for 11 acres of school district property adjacent to Enchanged Knolls.

HOMESTEAD — Heard that installation of six portable classrooms is completed at Homestead School and that plans for demolition of the second floor of the old Homestead School building have been approved by the state. The main floor of the old building will be preserved for storage and lavatories.

FINANCE — Postponed discussion of a proposal by the California School Boards Association for a statewide property tax and statewide uniform teachers salary schedules until association representatives can meet with the board on Nov. 12 to explain the proposal.

DELEGATES — Refused to vote for delegates to the California School Boards Association's state convention in December because of inadequate information about the delegates.

CONFERENCES — Commended Superintendent Collins for brochures prepared for parents outlining the district's parent-teacher conference and report card system for this year.

APPLICANTS — Heard that 14 persons have applied for the post of director of business services, a vacancy created by the resignation of Leo B. Edson earlier this month. A screening committee, yet to be named, will meet with 12 of the applicants starting at 9 a.m. Saturday in the district offices.

MEETING — Changed the regular meeting from Nov. 11 to Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. at Park School because of the Veteran's Day holiday.

Board Answers Questionnaire

Tomales Bay School District trustees last night answered a questionnaire on possible legislation to benefit small school districts, according to board clerk Evelyn Souza.

The district had been selected as one of 100 in California to answer questions from the California School Boards Association to help determine its attitudes toward future legislation, according to Mrs. Souza.

The board also adopted the district's first student rules handbook, Mrs. Souza said.

Gatter Plan Wins Nod Of Tiburon's Council

his main concern was not the economics or feasibility but its legality in requiring a developer to devote so much of his property to a highly expensive open area use.

Mayor William R. Bremer said the Gatter plan was a "solid, basic plan" but also added: "Sure, it leaves a lot to be desired; there isn't anyone here who doesn't recognize that."

He praised the harbor-lagoon alternative as a "tremendous idea" and said, "I would like to see the dream come true." He then urged approval of the Gatter plan.

The council left some holes open for possible incorporation of elements of the harbor-lagoon plan into the Gatter plan when it modified a suggestion of Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood — that the city adopt the Callister, Gatter and harbor-lagoon maps — and commended the three maps to the planning commission for further study.

Miss Ellinwood said the three maps might be attached to the statement of policy "as examples of how this policy statement might be implemented . . . so as not to cast the Gatter map and plan in bronze.

The council directed the planning commission to give careful study to the harbor lagoon alternative and to consider incorporating height and density bonuses, tied directly to a harbor development, in the policy statement.

The council also asked the commission to consider incorporating a statement in the policy calling for the preservation of the architectural charm and character of old Tiburon along Mar West Street.

During the three-and-a-half-hour public hearing, in which the two plans were once again described at length, supporters of the harbor-lagoon alternative estimated their plan would cost $1.2 million to develop and would provide a return of $2 million in the rental or sale of abutting commercial and residential property.

Their cost estimates, as presented by Brian Chapman, did not include any long term returns in rental and increased property values.

Chapman also said the cost estimates did not include purchase of the land, estimated at an additional $2 million, but rather assumed that the project would be developed by private property owners rather than by the city which would then have to purchase the land.

Architect Edgar Bruce Ross who conceived the harbor-lagoon alternative, told the council that higher densities and buildings would have to be allowed around the perimeter of the lagoon in order to make the proposal feasible.

He said buildings probably would have to be four stories high and density would be much greater than that now allowed.

Miss Ellinwood, an enthusiastic supporter of the harbor-lagoon plan in past hearings, said that Tiburon residents "will not sit still" for such heights and densities.

She also expressed concern that the harbor development might "be so spectacular" that it would become a tourist mecca, "a place to be ogled."

Baar Condemns Storer's Stand On Dope Control

Louis H. Baar, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Fourth District, last night accused his opponent, incumbent Thomas T. Storer, of "completely unrealistic thinking when it comes to the narcotics problem in Marin."

Baar, speaking at a coffee for him at the San Rafael home of Wallace Marshall, said that Storer cast the only "no" in a 4-1 vote by the board of supervisors to increase the 1968-69 budget for the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau by $17,478.

To illustrate the need for increasing the bureau's budget, Baar said that 420 narcotics arrests were made in Marin during the first six months of 1968, compared with 151 for the entire 12 months of 1967.

"In my mind," said Baar, "there is virtually no more important work in the county than the effective control and eradication of narcotics and drugs, but obviously by opponent does not agree with me."

Baar also criticized Storer for voting against imposing a residency restriction on recipients of general relief.

House Burglarized

Paul B. Sippel of 48 Marion Avenue, Mill Valley, told police burglars took jewelry, $3 in change and several bottles of liquor from his home sometime between 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. yesterday. Police said the loss was estimated at $28.

Students Due Second Vote On Credits

A new election on a student-proposed measure giving course credit at College of Marin for holding student body offices will probably be scheduled for later this week, Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students, said today.

He said, however, that if approved by a two-thirds majority of the student voters, the proposal still would have to be submitted by a department head to the instructional council.

Diamond said this council, composed of 18 department heads and four student representatives, could reject it by a simple majority or pass it and refer it to the college cabinet.

The cabinet also could approve it by majority, then send it to the Marin Junior College District Board for approval or rejection, added Diamond.

He said sponsors of the proposal, the Students for Academic Freedom, could also have submitted the question to the instructional council by either petition or just a request through any department head, but chose the election route to first determine how many students favor it.

The issue lost at last Thursday and Friday election at the college, but an elections committee said instances of apparent ballot-stuffing were discovered and a new election would be held. A proposed new student constitution was defeated in the same election but the committee said although ballot-stuffing also appeared involved, the issue was so soundly defeated that the defeat will stand and no re-election will be held.

Woman Passenger Falls From Truck

Celeste A. Sarlatte, 27, of 17 Eaton Way, Mill Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple scrapes and bruises after she fell from a moving truck in San Rafael, police said today.

Mrs. Sarlatte, police said, was a passenger in a truck driven by Patricia Messerschmidt, 41, of 950 Idylberry Road, San Rafael. When the truck rounded a corner at Carlos Drive and Mitchell Boulevard at 11:30 a.m., the door opened and Mrs. Sarlatte fell to the pavement, police said.

Poll Gives Cranston 12 Pct. Lead In Race

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — Democrat Alan Cranston holds a 12 per cent lead over Republican Max Rafferty today in the latest Field poll.

The reported percentages of the poll taken Oct. 18-21 were 51 for Cranston, 39 for Rafferty, one for Peace and Freedom party nominee Paul Jacobs and nine undecided.

Rafferty said he was angry because Cranston had blamed him for an increase in drug use and crime among school children. And he expressed unhappiness with the story of Louis Van Herschler, a Tujunga resident who said he hired hippies to demonstrate against Rafferty while working in the Rafferty campaign. Rafferty denied knowledge of it.

And, he sought to link Cranston directly with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic presidential candidate who is trailing GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon in California polls.

Rafferty said Cranston and Humphrey "do everything together." They are like Damon and Pythias."

As for his own candidacy, he urged Californians to send him to Washington to supply Nixon with another vote in the Senate.

Rafferty expressed confidence that his final week of campaigning would put him well ahead of Cranston with 55 per cent of the vote on election day.

Cranston said yesterday the United States should never again send its troops to defend "undemocratc, unresponsive governments" like the one in South Vietnam.

"We made some foolish commitments in Viet Nam," the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate said. "We have other commitments that are unwise, we should seek to end those commitments as soon as possible."

"We have no business sending our men to kill people, and to get killed, solely to prop up governments in the name of anti - Communism, anti - fascism, or anti-any-other-isms," Cranston said in a speech to about 175 persons at the World Affairs Council of San Francisco.

Cranston said the U.S. should never again sent its troop to battle "solely in defense of economic and idealogical interests."

Murder Denied By Mother, Son

A Tiburon man and his 72-year-old mother pleaded innocent today to murder charges in San Francisco Municipal Court, where they were accused of killing a longtime family friend.

Elsie F. Nyhan, a widow in whose Nob Hill apartment the body of Mrs. Genevieve Dolan, 61-year-old legal secretary was found Friday, was sent to jail after the arraignment with bail set at $4,000.

Mrs. Nyhan had been free on her own recognizance but Asst. Dist. Attorney Stephen Bley asked Municipal Judge John A. O'Kane to revoke this arrangement.

Her son, Daniel Joseph Nyhan, 43, of Tiburon also is in jail with bail set at $2,500.

Bley had the case put over to tomorrow while he determines if it is to be taken before the San Francisco County Grand Jury.

FALSE ALARM ON RAINY DAY

RAISES

year would be used to futher increase salaries, agreement to seek voters' approval of a hike in the district's property tax limit of $3.43 per $100 assed valuation for general purposes, agreement to seek more money from the state Legislature, that no cuts will be made in the number of teachers, and that teachers' salaries will get first consideration in future budgets.

However, the prospect of getting more money for teachers this year is slim, Bunker told the Independent-Journal. He said he made the same point for the teachers.

"Our budget is so tight, and income estimates so tight, that I'm going to be amazed if it varies much from what the estimate it will be," he said. Final income figures will not be known until May, 1969, he said, "and we could just as well be a little bit short as a little bit long."

The cost of the pay hike will have to be met partly by squeezing $110,000 out of the budget. Cuts will be made in every account, said Bunker, but the heaviest hit will be capital outlays. Many improvements and purchases of new squipment will have to be delayed to later years, he said.

The Novato chapter of the American Federation of Teachers had said the district could find money for the pay hike by abolishing the school bus system and by not opening San Marin High, which would leave the high school in split sessions all year.

The agreement also pledges the district will try to be more competitive with other districts' salaries. The Novato Teachers Association has said Novato ranks 32nd in the 92 districts it surveyed.

The 6 per cent hike would raise the present salary scale of $6,000 to $12,750 to a new range of $6,360 to $13,515.

Bunker said the $350,000 cost of the pay hikes for teachers and non-teaching employees would use $115,000 from reserves, $125,000 from Public Law 874 funds (federal aid for districts serving military bases), and $110,000 through reducing other items in the budget.

The 6 per cent compromise was worked out by the negotiating council before the teachers met in the high school gymnasium at 3 p.m.

Asked what assurance the teachers had that they would get the added 2 per cent pay hike during the balance of the year, George De Tuncq, who represents the 25 members of the American Federation of Teachers, said the district always gets 2 per cent more income than estimated.

Innocent Plea To Fraud Accusation

Harold Lee Burr, 36, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges of defrauding a Tamalpais Valley woman of $23,910 by getting her to finance an allegedly fraudulent tree-trimming project.

His case was continued a week for setting a jury trial date.

Marin City Board Waits For Reports

Members of the Marin City Community Services District — still disturbed by a suggestion from the Marin Council for Civic Affairs that the district board expand to include representatives outside the community — is polling Marin City residents on the matter.

District Director Charles W. Story said today that, "We don't like people outside the community suggesting what we should do, but we want to find out how the residents of Marin City feel about it."

Story said the residents views constituted one of several reports the board was waiting for and the one reason the Oct. 17 meeting was canceled.

The board also needs a report from the sheriff's department on the cost of law enforcement in Marin City in order to study the feasibility of taking over local law enforcement, he said.

And the board is waiting for information from the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency on the status of a proposed road from Marin City to Tennessee Valley because "we want to have some say in what is going on and what role we are to play," Story said.

The Oct. 17 meeting was canceled because none of this information was available at that time, Story said. A meeting was then scheduled for last Thursday, but the reports still weren't in.

Board members were notified of the cancellation of the special session but the press and public weren't. Story said that public notification was his duty but he was out of town and unaware the second meeting had been called off.

He said the board expected to set a special meeting as soon as the needed information was in. The next regularly scheduled meeting is Nov. 21.

the "Rowan and Martin Laugh-In" show.

A spokesman for the National Broadcasting Co. said under federal law political advertisements may not be censored by the networks. He said NBC received about 200 calls objecting to the commercial.

The commercial interspersed pictures of bloodied rioters, dead soldiers and refugees with photographs of Humphrey.

The Democrat National Committee said it immediately filed a protest with NBC and the National Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

It suggested a responsible executive of each of the networks, including CBS and ABC, screen future political commercials before they go on the air.

Alvin Spivak, director of public affairs for the Humphrey campaign, said: "We understand that the networks have the right to accept or reject any advertising—political or otherwise."

He also said in a statement that "NBC's policy, as stated to us, is that where there is potential controversy in a political advertisement they must be assured that the candidate himself has personally approved it. We must therefore assume that Nixon approved this one."

Marin County Departments. Security measures should be taken on all stations."

Irving reported that one witness has reported the bombers in Marin City were two Negro males, aged 19-21 years old. Another reported seeing three persons fleeing from the bombing scene.

A Greyhound bus driver saw one of the fleeing men carrying a revolver. One shot was fired at pursuing deputies, Irving said in his bulletin.

Mayor Alioto said yesterday there was little doubt that the bombing attempt in Marin City, the dynamiting of a San Francisco police station, the bombings at the Highway Patrol office and juvenile hall in Oakland, were connected.

"The facts yield an inference that this was an organized effort," he said.

A bomb planted outside juvenile hall in Oakland dug a deep hole and shattered several windows, but injured no one.

Worst of the bombings occurred Sunday night when "six or seven sticks of dynamite" exploded outside the Richmond District police station in San Francisco.

The explosion ripped out windows in the station and caused about $10,000 damage to the station and surrounding buildings.

didate of "my party" for the Senate in 1970 he meant the Democratic-Farmer Labor Party of Minnesota.

Asked if he intended to leave the Democratic Party, he shot back: "I didn't say that."

Presumably he could run under another banner in 1970 or 1972, but he could not use the Farmer-Labor designation, under state law.

McCarthy, who said he had spoken with Humphrey "for a minute on the phone" Sunday, said he will make an appearance in behalf of the vice president's candidacy in the Los Angeles area tomorrow night.

McCarthy declined to speculate on Humphrey's chances of winning the election. But he said the prospects appear to have improved lately.

McCarthy was asked numerous questions about the possibility that he might become a candidate for re-election on some ticket other than the Democratic.

He noted that he had said in his formal statement that he would not ask his youthful supporters for the Democratic nomination to stay within the party in the future "unless those (nomination) processes have been clearly changed."

He said he thinks there may be some hope of changing these processes in a convention rules change commission being set up with Gov. Harold Hughes of Iowa as chairman.

Brothers Held In Prescription Filling Probe

Two brothers from Pacifica were jailed last night after a San Rafael pharmacist became suspicious of their attempt to have a prescription filled for pills containing a dangerous drug, San Rafael police said today.

Bryce James Mitchell, 26, and Dub Ferrell Mitchell, 21, were both held without bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Bryce Mitchell was booked for suspicion of forging a prescription, having an altered prescription, and conspiracy. Dub Mitchell was booked on suspicion of conspiracy, having no identification, and having no valid driver's license.

Police said the two tried to fill the prescription at Poehlmann's Pharmacy, 1430 Fourth Street, and the druggist called police.

Police said they also found a submachine gun and a .45-caliber pistol in the Mitchell car, but both were permanently plugged and inoperative.

Interns Threaten Strike; Criticize Care Of Patients

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Sixty interns at San Francisco General Hospital yesterday threatened a strike unless shortcoming in patient care at the public institution are cured.

At a news conference in the hospital courtyard, the interns complained of lack of an operating room in the obstetrics suite, long waits for emergency patients, and absence of laboratory and social workers during certain hours.

Two intern spokesmen, Drs. Peter Brill and Martin Albert, blamed the absence of an obstetrics operating room for recent deaths of a mother and two infants.

Bay Living Cost Hits Record High

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The cost of living in the San Francisco Bay Area has reached an all time high—4.2 per cent higher than a year ago, the U.S. Department of Labor said today.

The Consumer Price Index for the area is now 125.4, with 100 being the index of 1957-59. That means goods and services costing $10 in 1959 now cost $12.54.

In the past three months, the department said, there has been a 1.8 per cent increase in housing costs.

Grocery store prices on the average were slightly lower, but that was offset by the higher cost of restaurant meals and away-from-home snacks.

$3,952 From State For Rail Crossing

The City of Cotati will receive $3,952 from the California Public Utilities Commission to help defray costs of a new protection device at the East Cotati Avenue crossing of Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

Edward Lewitter, deputy city treasurer, said the new device would be two flashing light signals and automatic gates. The total cost of $15,810 will be shared with the railroad with the city's cost being $7,905.

Houseboat Control

The Sausalito city council will discuss planning in regard to houseboat control at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

Supervisors Give Park-Rec Seat To Mrs. Newman

The county supervisors appointed Mrs. William B. Newman of Tiburon to the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, succeeding Aline M. McClain, who resigned today for what she said were "personal reasons."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr nominated Mrs. Newman to complete the term which expires in February of 1971. She was on the original committee which recommended a parks and recreation commission be set up in 1959, served the first commission, and was for many years its chairman.

Supervisors also appointed Elisa R. Stinson to the Economic Opportunity Council to replace Mary Lindheim who resigned, and reappointed Ernest N. Kettenhofen to the Marin County Retirement Board for three more years.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen was absent today because of illness. John F. McInnis presided.

Prop. 1-A Wins Nod; Supervisors Against Prop. 9

Marin County supervisors voted 4 to 0 today to oppose Proposition 9 on the Nov. 5 ballot, and supported Proposition 1-A by the same vote.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen was absent because of influenza.

The vote against Proposition 9 came on a motion by Peter H. Behr and a second by William A. Gnoss. The other motion, to support 1-A, was made by Behr and seconded by Thomas T. Storer.

Proposition 9 would limit property taxes to 1 per cent of market value by 1973 and would force schools, welfare and other people-related services to seek financing from other than property taxes.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

RESTAURANT — Granted Hoytt Enterprises Inc. a use permit for a 20,000-square-foot restaurant on the east side of Seventh Street south of Lee Brothers market.

STREET — Named the frontage road on the east side of Highway 101 south of Bolling Drive going to the entrance of Marin Valley Mobile Country Club as Marin Valley Drive.

STUDIO — Granted a use permit to Bert Kanegson to start a music recording studio at 5498 Redwood Highway in the Sundown shopping center.

HOUSES — Granted Marin Development Co. permission to construct single family houses on 50 lots in San Marin Unit 2; gave Sono-Marin Inc. permission to construct single family houses within 15 feet, where 25 feet is required, on the front property line for four lots on Los Cedros Drive; and gave Councilman J. Wayne Womack permission to construct a carport within 10 feet of the side yard where 38 feet is required at 130 Grande Vista.

DIVISION — Approved the division of 32,600 square feet of land into three parcels for Milton E. Peterman on Center Road east of Wilmac Avenue.

HOUSING — On a referral from the Marin County Planning Commission, gave its approval for the Marin County Housing Authority to construct 40 units on 3.3 acres at the end of Fourth Street near Carmel Drive, with the condition that Carmel Drive and Fourth Street be connected.

CONTINUED — Continued until Nov. 25: a request by Elsie S. Anderson for three signs totaling 84 square feet for 1010 Grant Avenue; consideration of amending the sign ordinance increasing the signing for commercial businesses on an acre or more of land; and a request for a sign variance for T. R. Schuman Chevrolet Co. for two signs of 90 square feet on Highway 101 at Lamont Avenue. Continued until Dec. 9 consideration of an ordinance setting up standards for mobile home parks and another ordinance which would increase the parking requirements in all residential districts from one car to two car off-street parking places.

Classrooms Problem For Lagunitas

The Lagunitas School District, facing a demand for return of portable classrooms and two to three weeks wait for completion of its new school, last night discussed what to do with the students if the two items don't mesh.

Supt. Marshall J. McCuniff said the district leased four classrooms last year but did not renew the lease this year because it was expected the new school would be ready sooner.

All that remains in the new San Geronimo Valley Elementary School is installation of floor coverings and light fixtures, McCunniff said.

He said there are two solutions if the portables are taken away: double sessions or use of available space such as the multi-purpose room for classes.

He said he hopes the portables will be left until the new school is completed.

The Lagunitas School District Board also:

SALARIES — Discussed salary policies in general, touching on topics ranging from credit for extension course work to how to pay teachers for extra duties. No decisions were reached but a work session was set for Dec. 2 to study details with the staff.

SCHOOL NAMING — Officially declared the name of the new school to be San Geronimo Valley Elementary School and discussed naming the two buildings on the campus, possibly through a district wide contest.

CANDIDATE — Endorsed board member Audrey Miller as a candadate for the county school district reorganization committee.

SCHEDULES — Took under advisement a request that the afternoon kindergarten schedule be changed so children would be dismissed earlier so they could get home before dark during the winter.

INSURANCE — Set Dec. 9 as the date to open bids on insurance for next year.

EYE TESTS — Agreed to test all kindergarten children for visual perception problems.

Maddox May Order 'Dixie' Played Daily

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Lester Maddox, angered by charges the song "Dixie" is a symbol of "white supremacy," says he may order it and the Star Spangled Banner played daily from the Georgia capitol dome.

"We're not going to stop singing 'Dixie' in Georgia...not while I'm governor," said an angry Maddox yesterday, after a civil rights group charged the song was the national anthem of the Confederacy.

Vassar To Accept Male Students

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Vassar College has announced plans to admit males students beginning in September 1970 with the ultimate aim of having men make up 50 per cent of its enrollment.

Alan Simpson, president of the women's college, made the disclosure yesterday in a letter to some 21,000 alumnae. He said enrollment would be expanded from 1,500 to 2,400.

In the past Vassar has had men on campus under special programs, such as armed forces training during World War II. Vassar recently announced an exchange program with several Eastern men's colleges and that will be continued, the announcement said.

Pleads Innocent

Richard Lawrence Holstrom, 21, of Illinois, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to a charge that he burgled a Belvedere home Aug. 15, 1967. Jury trial on the charge was scheduled for Dec. 9.

Leo Stanley To Preside At Congress

Dr. Leo Stanley of Fairfax, author, farmer, historian and retired San Quentin Prison medical chief, was selected last night as general chairman of the Fairfax Congress for Community Progress Dec. 7.

Mrs. Gratia Landley, publicity chairman, said that the committee planning the congress had also chosen names of persons who will be asked to be panel members.

Panel discussions on six subjects are planned for the congress, including civic affairs, business, health, civic image, traffic and transportation and the humanities. The latter topic will include education, recreation and culture, Mrs. Landley said.

Five persons will be asked to participate on each of these panels. A sixth will discuss matters of interest to youth, and will be composed of five adults and four young people.

Airline Loses Suit Over Crash

MARTINEZ (AP) — A Fremont widow whose seven children were left fatherless in the May 7, 1964, crash of a Pacific Airlines plane near Danville has been awarded $280,000.

A Contra Costa County Superior Court jury awarded the damages to Mrs. George Baldwin, whose husband was among 44 persons killed when the plane crashed on a flight from San Francisco to Reno.

Crash investigators reported the plane went down after a crazed passenger, Frank Gonzalez of San Francisco, shot the pilot and copilot. His gun was found in the wreckage.

Library Merger Plan Studied In Petaluma

A proposed agreement for the merger of the Petaluma City Library with the Sonoma County library system was presented at a city council study session last night by the library board of trustees.

Trustee Chairman Kenneth M. Wightman said the loss of local autonomy would be outweighed by added services that would be available through the affiliation.

The agreement establishes a new library commission that would be made up of an appointed representative of each city participating, plus three from the county at large and two from Santa Rosa. "This would establish a balance of power and insure good representation," Wightman said.

Under the plan, each city would pay an initial tax levy of 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. Since Petaluma is a charter city, funds equivalent to the levy would be drawn from the general tax fund. A future tax ceiling of 30 cents is stipulated in the proposed agreement.

Wightman noted the city is now charging a fee of 19 cents for library services, so the affiliation represents a savings to the city. He said that, even if assessed valuation increased, the merger would probably never cost more than if the library were kept on the local level.

Miss Edna Bovett, head librarian, said the merger would mean better reference resources, increased book selection, better purchasing power with greater quantities and lowering of administrative costs with the prevention of duplicate services.

Noting bond issues for a new library have failed in the past few elections, Wightman said, "This paves the way for a new building and sets up a simpler means of acquiring it."

Councilman Phillip L. Joerger said he would like to see incorporated into the agreement stated intervals at which the tax might be raised. "It seems tax rates always seem to go up when we join a new system," he said. "The farther you get from local jurisdiction, the less responsibility is shown to the people."

The merger plan met with general council approval and will be presented at the Nov. 4 council meeting for further discussion and possible adoption. If approved by the Sonoma County Library Board, the agreement will be brought before the county board of supervisors for final action.

The Petaluma City Council also:

FIRE STATION — Heard a report from Fire Chief Roscoe A. Benton that an addition to the central fire station was badly needed. Benton said the addition of several pieces of equipment had caused crowded conditions and suggested a study of the addition of two bays. He also suggested enlargement of the dispatcher's office and kitchen area. Benton noted that architect Richard Lieb had agreed to study the situation and present a cost estimate. The council requested Benton and City Mgr. Robert H. Meyers to present the proposal at the Nov. 4 council meeting for discussion.

MOBILE HOMES — Heard a report from Planning Director William C. McGivern on the mobile home ordinance being considered by the county board of supervisors. Council indicated it wished to make no recommendation at this time.

Sentence Given On Prescription Forgery

Gregg Duncan Adams, 22, of Valley, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and placed on 18 months of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for forging drug prescriptions June 10 in Tamalpais Valley.

Judge Harold J. Haley declared the offense to be a misdemeanor and told Adams that he must submit periodically to tests to determine if he is using narcotics while on probation.

Four Teen-Agers Face Tiburon Marijuana Probe

Four teen-agers from Tiburon and Corte Madera were arrested yesterday by Tiburon police on suspicion of marijuana possession and for truancy.

Booked into Marin County Jail on investigation of possessing marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of minors was Russell F. Hoag, 18, of 44 Estrada Lane, Corte Madera. Bail was set at $625.

Three other youths, two 17-year-olds from Corte Madera and Tiburon and a 16-year-old from Tiburon, were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on charges of marijuana possession. In addition, the two Tiburon boys were charged with truancy and the Corte Madera youth with being beyond parental control.

Police said the youths, recognized as truants, were stopped at 2 p.m. as they were driving out of the Hilarita Housing Project on Tiburon Boulevard.

A search of the car in which they were riding uncovered seeds and a substance which appeared to be marijuana in a cigarette box, police said. A pipe, normally used for smoking marijuana, was also found in the car, according to police.

MARIN NIXON/AGNEW CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA

Dear Friends:

I am a student at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary. I have a total family of ten and limited income while in school, very limited. I feel a real obligation not only to Richard and Pat Nixon, as very esteemed friends, and to the GOP, but to our nation as well. We who work in the realm of spiritual matters are not blind to the physical and pressing political needs of social mankind, though we are often very limited in what we can do outside our given field of calling.

I offered to donate some time but lost contact with a very gracious person who contacted me much earlier to work in the area and am so pressed for time I haven't sought to reestablish the contact through the main headquarters, as I should have.

If you will be so kind as to accept a post-dated check, and be careful not to deposit it until after the first of the month, we will gladly work out a way to have even this small part and count it a privilege to be colaborators with you in seeking election for our GOP candidates - one and all. You may count upon our getting out and voting and of our attempts to persuade others to do the same - and for our TEAM.

Kindest personal regards,

MEADERS may have some of the fanciest equipment made (including an IBM-programmed cleaning machine), but they haven't thrown away the hand irons. In fact, all your cleaning is hand finished at Meaders. Meaders thinks that's the beauty of advanced equipment—it does its job better, and frees people for the careful hand work that no machine can do. Old-fashioned, maybe; but your clothes will show you what Meaders means.

New Team May Save University At Berkeley

University of California may have finally found a Berkeley chancellor who can save the institution.

And the chancellor is making use of a right-hand man who was there all the time, ready and willing to enforce the rules but lacking support when he tried to do so.

Chancellor Roger Heyns has at last drawn the line and said, "This is where revolt must stop!"

He has announced that those arrested in the Moses Hall sit-in, and perhaps some of those who tried to seize Sproul Hall and others who demonstrated outside the buildings, are up for expulsion from the university.

And the man who will carry the case for expulsion is Dean of Students Arleigh Williams, who has not lost the toughness that made him an alltime U. C. football great as the Golden Bears' captain and quarterback in 1934.

IT IS NOT at all surprising that Chancellor Heyns' tough line immediately brought protests and strike calls from students and condemnation from a segment of the faculty. That it would do so was a foregone conclusion. The spoiled child who has always won his way by screaming is bound to yell all the louder when dad ignores the screams and applies the hickory.

But Chancellor Heyns and Dean Williams look like a strong combination. And whatever the howls from minorities of student body and faculty, they may be sure of majority support both on and off the campus.

ROGER HEYNS is a newcomer to the scene; but many in Marin know Arleigh Williams. He was a longtime Fairfax resident and was dean of students at College of Marin before returning to his alma mater as director of student activities in 1957. He was made dean of men two years later, and dean of students in the upheaval that followed the Free Speech Movement riots and the Sproul Hall sit-in of 1964.

He showed his mettle promptly — and as promptly had the ground cut from under him by a wishy-washy administration. In March, 1965, he ordered three students who took part in the "filthy speech movement" that month to appear before a special disciplinary committee to face possible dismissal. But Chancellor Martin Myerson dissolved the committee. One student, however, eventually was expelled.

The same month, Myerson banned from campus sale an indecent paper called "Spider" and a pornographic play. But when Williams tried to enforce the ban, Myerson pulled its teeth with a set of provisos.

THIS TIME, Williams has behind him a different kind of chancellor. Heyns has declared that building seizures, property destruction and other disruption of the university "justifies the most severe disciplinary action."

That means expulsion.

It has taken a long time for the showdown at U. C. to come, but it looks like it may finally be here. It had to come soon or the once-proud state university would have ceased to function as a center of learning.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Partisan Politics Again Creeps Into Supervisorial Election

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

County supervisors in California are supposed to be nonpartisan, yet again a contest for Marin supervisor is elbow-deep in partisan politics.

The politics is Republican, of course, since there is no particular advantage to being a Democrat in Marin.

The candidate pushing the partisan line this time is Donald J. O'Leary of Tiburon, who is opposing Michael Wornum of Mill Valley for the Third District seat.

O'Leary, to his credit, is promoting his Republicanism openly, both before public meetings and in print. Voters should ballot for GOP candidates from president to supervisor, he told more than 400 Republicans last week at a party party.

JUST BEING frank about his partisanship, however, is not good enough — since the state's constitution states that all county elections shall be nonpartisan. Presumably, O'Leary otherwise would agree the constitution is not to be forgotten because it is expedient to do so.

O'Leary, and other local candidates who previously have tried to capitalize on the partisan politics, break no law when they cavort on their party's platform, but neither do they honor the California Constitution.

O'Leary claims the voters benefit when a candidate declares his partisanship. This way, he says, voters can compare candidates on the basis of their party's platforms, goals and policies.

His approach to the nonpartisan contest may work in 1968, of course — and success is what counts in politics — but would he have been so eager to identify with his party in 1964?

HENRY J. BRODERICK of Tiburon, O'Leary's campaign manager, has denied a published suggestion that his candidate did not report all of his campaign expenditures after the June primary. Broderick has the figures to prove his point, so that charge should appear to be worn out.

MAX RAFFERTY, by coincidence, manages to be on newsstands and in homes throughout California this week with a piece in Reader's Digest entitled, "Crack Down on the Smut Kings."

The issue also has a nice story about Spiro T. Agnew (GOP vice presidential nominee). Last month, it ran Nixon's acceptance speech accepting the nomination (in 1968).

THE ANGUISHED contortions of the GOP leadership to get Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel's endorsement of Rafferty grow more desperate each week.

Last week, the state Republican State Central Committee dug up some Kuchel statements made in October, 1967, to show that "both Senator Kuchel and Max Rafferty disagree with Alan Cranston's posture respecting peace in Southeast Asia."

The statements by Kuchel, however, do not mention either Cranston or Rafferty. That was back in Kuchel's happier days.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Maybe It's Time To Step Backward

It seems you are correct in your editorial recommendations for the coming election, for your viewpoint encompasses what surfacedly is best for all. Nevertheless, you must agree that the best for all may well be an agony for some. After 20 years of voting for the beneficial 'good' of all (and you are aware of the result) I personally regard this same election with a somewhat vengeful glee and an opportunity to undo whatever harm my votes have done.

For instance, too opportune is this chance to lash back against political executives without courage, governmental agencies now grown to dynasties, the demoralizing lack of human relations and dignity in our educational institutions, the militant racist black who ignorantly insists upon remaining the nigger, the local experiments in lower level teaching (where the educator calmly abandons any pretense of duty), the relentless tax crush upon our over-burdened home-owners, the cancerous inflation caused by we, the people, and our weak social structure with uncontrolled unions and corporations, etc., a senseless gun law emphatically stupid and a flagrant attempt to legalize local discrimination.

Think a bit on the other side, Mr. Goodforall. Do we not urgently need an outspoken strong fist of a type as Mr. Wallace? Is there any better way to restore control of dynasties, hierarchies, uselessness, waste, sanity and morality than by making the tax dollar scarce and difficult to get?

Mr. Editor, purges are unpopular but necessary for the system. Laugh with us. Vote your demand for one step backwards. Seems to me our nation has one revocable foot up along the wrong road.

University Regents' Addresses Sought

In keeping with your fine tradition of community and public service, will you please publish the full list of names of the regents of the University of California at Berkeley, and also at Santa Barbara, and their addresses. It would also be enlightening to know how these regents are appointed, or elected, and for how long.

Inasmuch as the president of UC seems disinclined to take any action re the Cleaver affair, it behooves all of us taxpaying citizens to write the regents and express our views. I am outraged that this convicted felon who has spent nine of his 33 years behind bars should be dignified with the title of lecturer at the university, spewing forth his hatred and obscenities and making a mockery of our government and government officials. . . .

Not Up To School To Do Road Work

After over two months of hard work by numerous citizens groups and individuals, and a petition signed by over 1,000 persons, it appears that there will be no improvement to the dangerous walkway along Sir Francis Drake Blvd. in Greenbrae.

The board of supervisors wants the homeowners of Greenbrae and the Kentfield School District to pay for 74 per cent of the cost to correct a design error the county made years ago. The Greenbrae taxpayers pay the schools to educate children and pay the county to do road work, so do it!

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A CANNY ILLINOIS merchant claims that this ad pulled four times as many inquiries as any he had previously tried: "LADIES! Earn a lot of money in your spare time. Rent one of my electric rug-shampooers for only $2 a day. Then tell your husband you spent $30 to have the rug cleaned."

PAT PAULSEN defended his tongue-in-cheek try for a presidential nomination by pointing out, "Considering some of the other 'candidates,' what possible harm could one more comedian do? On the whole they are a swell bunch of fellows — but, seriously, would you want your sister to vote for one of them?"

Paulsen declares unequivocally that he's for more garbage collections and fewer tax collections. Despite his melancholy mien, he insists, he's a cheerful, optimist soul. "I've had a happy life," he says, "with the possible exception of 1953, when, unfortunately, I passed away!"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Undecipherable Richard Nixon —Is He A Dual Personality?

CAMPAIGNING WITH NIXON — One of the afflictions of a presidential candidate is a horde of reporters who between stints of telling the news — too often thin and repetitious — spend their time psychoanalyzing the man at the center of the stage. Both in conversation and in print Richard Nixon has had more than his share of his time on the amateurs' couch.

He is a complex man. That is surely one reason so many thousands of words have been spilled in print and on the air over what his true nature is. Many of the analysts fall back on the old Nixon, the new Nixon, the old style, the new style, while others frankly confess their inability to find the real man. It is a synthetic product manufactured out of the new electronic and computer techniques, the harshest analysts conclude.

HERE IN ALL modesty is another two-bit analysis of the Republican candidate who seems so likely to be the next President of the United States. There are two essential Nixons and there have been from the beginning of his career. The difficulty in reconciling these two disparate Nixons accounts for much of the bafflement and the wordage on the mysterious complexities of a complex individual.

The private Nixon is the quiet Quaker, the introvert. This is the Nixon members of his staff talk about with admiration for his thoughtful, analytical mind. They speak of the need for solitude of an essentially shy man. They find it pleasant to work for him, since he rarely if ever loses his temper and is almost always open to suggestions and criticism. This is the Nixon few of us see.

THE OTHER Nixon is the tough gut fighter in this windup of a campaign that for him comes as the climax of years of work and concentration. In his earlier campaigns, for the Senate in 1948 and as the hatchet man for General Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956, the weapon was communism. He used it with subtlety and skill.

This time it is crime and law and order. He is attacking Hubert Humphrey with the ruthlessness of the street fighter of past years. He accuses Humphrey of encouraging crime and violence and supporting the courts that free confessed murderers and rapists. It sends the crowd, for the most part partisan and highly organized, turning out for him.

You can almost see him revving himself up to the pitch of the other Nixon. If it is alien to the private Nixon, the Nixon of thoughtful solitude, the Quaker who speaks movingly of his Quaker mother and how he sold the pies she made to earn his first money, that is a secret beyond the amateurs. The disciplined surface rarely breaks as it did after his defeat in the governorship race in California in 1962.

ONE OF THE words bandied about by the amateur psychologists following in the candidate's wake is insecurity. Nixon is plagued by insecurity. That is the verdict in the glib jargon of the analysts who dissect endlessly the public conduct of the candidate.

He shows his insecurity, so the analysis goes, when hecklers try to drown him out. He tenses up, his voice rises, his smile is replaced by a stern, determined look. This is, of course, the critical point in a career that has had more ups and down than a roller coaster, and it would be surprising if he didn't feel a certain insecurity and tension.

The relationship between Nixon and the working press — the gaggle of dissectors who in record numbers are following the seeming winner this time — has from his earliest campaigns been a source of controversy. Letters from Nixon partisans burn with indignation — you're unfair, you're prejudiced, you're a liberal, you're a Communist. Why can't you recognize a great man?

As one traveling reporter has sampled it, the same condition prevails today. The working press finds it easy to dislike Nixon. They see not the private Nixon but the tough fighter who turns it up higher and higher as E-Day draws near. Demagogue is one of the gentlest terms applied to the public Nixon in this climactic phase.

THIS WOULD be singularly unimportant, since most reporters try hard to keep their prejudices out of their work if it were not for one thing. To some degree the prejudice reflects opinion in the country. While the Nixon organization delivers with extraordinary efficiency, Nixon the man has a limited appeal. Does he, in John Gardner's phrase, have "communicable warmth"?

The answer may not be important for the outcome of the election. Many voters wanting a change will vote for Nixon because they believe he can find a way out of the present sea of troubles. Hope rather than faith or any strong personal attraction puts them in the Nixon corner.

But Nixon knows that communicable warmth can be vital to the enormous task he faces if he becomes President.

Nine Sheikhs Seek Ways To Preserve Independence

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In air-conditioned comfort, amid the luxuries that oil can bring, nine white-robed, bearded rulers of tiny sheikdoms along the coast of the Persian Gulf are meeting to seek ways of self-preservation.

Uppermost in their minds is the fear that when the British complete their withdrawal from east of Suez by the end of 1971, they might fall to the same type of Egyptian-inspired revolution that tumbled the South Arabian Federation after British withdrawal last November.

Wishing them well are American, British and other western oil companies which fear the machinations not only of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser but of the Russians as well.

BRITISH investment in the area is figured at some $280 million.

The American stake is even larger.

Composing the nine are Qatar (pronounced "gutter") and Bahrain plus the trucial states— Sharjan, Adman, Ras al Khaimah, Umm Al Quiwain, Fujairah, Abu Dhabi and Dubai. All lie along the shallow, tepid waters of the of the Persian Gulf across from Iran.

Altogether, their populations total about 400,000.

The seven trucial states obtained their group name through a treaty with Britain in 1853 abolishing piracy and the slave trade.

PROSPERITY of Bahrain, Qatar and Abu Dhabi, richest of the trucial states, rests upon oil. Abu Dhabi, with a population of 25,000, has an annual oil income of close to $100 million, giving it the highest per capita income of all the gulf states.

Dubai is the merchant state, center of trade among the trucial states as well as of gold-smuggling.

Ajman is the smallest and poorest with a population of about 5,000 and for its health dependent upon touring doctors.

These are the sandy sheikdoms which soon must fend for themselves.

AS THE 6,000-MAN British force is withdrawn, Bahrain will inherit barracks and air force installations plus small naval facilities. Protecting the trucial states has been the small British-officered Trucial Oman Scouts, a force which now must be taken over. Qatar has a small internal military force of between 3,000 and 4,000 men.

Saudi Arabia feuds with Abu Dhabi and Muscat and Oman over the Buramai oasis. Iran lays claim to Bahrain which it ruled from 1602 to 1783. Saudi Arabia proclaims its "Arab character."

Still to be settled are questions of defense, selection of a president and a headquarters, voting rights and other matters.

Narrow, Unsafe Novato Streets Draw Blame For Accidents

One day last week, a teenage girl was hit by the side of a car on Center Road in Novato. Police blamed the accident on the fact that the road has only 15 feet of pavement and narrow dirt shoulders.

Several times in the past year, there have been bicycle accidents caused by similar conditions.

The older portions of Novato have narrow and dangerous streets, and the city, since incorporation eight years ago, has not had enough money to do any major reconstruction of them.

Parents should remember the danger of the streets when they think how they will vote on the $3 million bond issue in next Tuesday's election.

SPEAKING OF elections, the Novato City Council scheduled a special meeting with Novatans for Racial Equality for Nov. 5. It was not until their meeting last week that they realized that was election night.

Maybe we can get a television set in the council chambers so we can watch the election results, suggested Mayor Harley McAskill.

Since that meeting, the council has had second thoughts and is trying to change the date. If it is not successful, it will be one of the few council meetings ever held the night of a general election.

NOVATO IS TRYING to pull itself out of the small town class, and is having a tough time doing it. Several national firms have been trying to start businesses in the city.

Denny's Restaurant is one of them. Plans for its building was approved and the building started. Then the company had trouble getting the sign it wanted. Sign plans were kicked between the plan review committee, the planning commission, the city council, and finally granted. Then citizens made an appeal against the signs via petitions. When no one showed up at the hearing, the council held a special meeting at 7 a.m. and heard about 25 people protest the signs. The council granted them anyway. The parking lot of the building was being paved while the council granted the sign permits.

Such delays discourage businesses from coming into the city.

NOVATO'S NEW dog control officer is working out better than most people expected. There are a few areas of the city where residents say that there are as many dogs roaming loose as before. But these are getting fewer as citations are given to dog owners.

It may be that the humane officer assigned to Novato will not have much to do one of these days.

Maybe the city should consider sub-letting him to other cities in which the residents are complaining of dog problems.

Time To Strengthen Wills Against New Threat Of Peace

WASHINGTON — Whenever we have a peace scare in the United States as we have been experiencing for the past few weeks, I search out my dear friend, Gen. Hurtus Dismay, formerly of the Air Force Bomber Command, who knows more about war than any living authority.

"Is peace inevitable?" I asked General Dismay, who had just returned from a three-day trip to Vietnam.

"Not necessarily. In the Atomic Age we must always live with the threat of peace, but I think it can be avoided."

"But how?"

"FIRST BY NOT making any overtures to the enemy that might provoke them into thinking that we want peace, and second by ignoring any peace feelers from the other side, no matter how promising they are. When peace threatens, you must use all the military know-how you have to prevent it from becoming a reality."

"But how can you do this, general?"

"Quite simple. If the enemy lets up on the fighting, you announce they are losing the war and it is the best time to go in the clean them out once and for all. If the enemy continues fighting, you announce that the enemy has no intention of seeking peace and they must be beaten with every weapon at your disposal. The worst thing to show during a peace scare is any sign of weakness."

"WHAT, IN YOUR opinion, is the best way to avoid all-out peace?"

"By stepping up the bombing. The more you bomb, the less chance you have of someone making a mistake that could lead to peace negotiations.

"One of the problems you have to deal with when you fight a war is that 'civilian-nonidustrial complex,' which seems intent on provoking peace for its own selfish gains. If we left it up to the complex, there would be some kind of peace every 10 years."

"Does the President of the United States realize this?"

"At the beginning the President had his guard up against the peace-mongers, but as time went on he was under so much pressure from special interest groups who have more to gain from peace than war that he started giving in, against the best advice of the military. During the first four years in Vietnam, there was never any talk of peace. We prevailed because we had persuaded the President that we could win the war without peace. But then the President got cold feet and initiated the Paris peace talks, which we feel could eventually lead to a peaceful confrontation between the two sides. If both sides refused to back down, and wanted to wage peace, then I wouldn't even want to the imagine the consequences."

"WHAT CAN the average citizen do to avoid a peaceful settlement in Vietnam?"

"He can demand the continuation of the bombing, the invasion of North Vietnam, the pursuit of the enemy into Laos and Cambodia and de-escalation of the war so we can win it once and for all."

"But will anybody listen?" I asked.

"Maybe not at first. If enough people raise their voices against the peace, they will have to do something about it."

"But every time I raise my voice against peace in Vietnam, I'm called a hawk," I cried.

"This is a question of conscience, and if you really believe in war as a way of settling things, you have to expect to be ridiculed and called names. History is on your side. In the age of sophisticated weaponry and nuclear hardware, peace can no longer be considered a feasible way of solving our problems."

"YOU'VE GIVEN ME great strength, general," I said.

He put his hand on my shoulder. "Don't despair. Even if peace seems inevitable, somehow we'll muddle through."

Two Ponies Taken From A Pasture

Two ponies were taken from a field on Viento Way, Point Reyes Station, sometime Friday night, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Elizabeth G. McKinney reported Friday morning that the ponies were taken from her pasture. She said they apparently were not ridden away because she found their bridles.

Inflation Distorts Sense Of Values

My wife and I walked a quarter of a mile to see the Marin Renaissance Faire but promptly turned around and retraced our steps, when we saw the price of admission.

Once more, evidence of inflation raises its ugly head!

It is reported in one of our national magazines that the standard of health in the United States is away down the list when compared with other countries, some of which are quite poor financially, compared with the U. S. Why should this be so, some people may ask? . . . Doctors's bills and medical expenses have increased to such a level that nowadays many people choose to wait an illness out rather than consult a physician. Three years ago, whilst we were on a holiday, a doctor took two minutes to remove a foreign object from my wife's eye with a cotton swab, charge? Seventeen dollars!

Another example of how people are being taken for a ride without any attempt to raise their voices in protest came to me the other week.

A dinner (no doubt a good one), drinks, and a floor show featuring a male vocalist (Tonny Bennett) — a total cost $60! Nowadays entertainers with little or no talent earn astronomical sums, many making more than the President of the United States! These long-haired creatures would be making what they are worth, if the public had a well-balaneed, sane sense of values.

What to do about it? Judge prices reasonably, as to what one really thinks the merchandise or a service is worth. If too much is asked, turn your back on it!

I studied the Independent-Joural's pictures and story on the Marin Renaissance Faire, but I must confess, I still cannot understand what fabulous show lay behind it's gates to be worth $2.75 per adult!

Case In Behalf Of Proposition 9

Proposition 9 is the middle-class revolt against property taxes that are crippling. It represents the efforts of thousands of citizens who gave of time, effort and small funds to place Proposition 9 on the ballot as a constitutional amendemtn. This is a last ditch effort and must be recognized as a struggle of the people to afford themselves relief from what presently amounts to and results in confiscation of property — 5,000 foreclosures per month in California.

The California constitution requires a .... majority vote (which in this case it traditionally is never able to muster) to tax corporations which presently are not being taxed their fair share. California has virtually never had an oil severance tax — a tax that pays 17 per cent of the yearly budget of the huge state of Texas. Unless enough pressure is brought to bear on our legislators by the small property owners to equalize the pressure on them from powerful lobbies like the California Taxpayers Association, there will be no equalization and present intolerable taxation will continue unabated.

Proposition I A is a one-year, hastily construed stop-gap measure and only Proposition 9 offers phased-out permanent assistance to the small property owner.

Bible, Not Cleaver, Needed By Young

We live in a world going mad with confusion. We elect leaders who can't lead, who select generals who are not allowed to win. It is fashionalbe for churches to magnify man, minimize God and deny the Bible. Students come to destroy the schools, but will stand in line to attend classes taught by revolutionaries and uneducated boors.

Now our pampered, empty-headed youth, heralded as the leaders of tomorrow, clamor for classes conducted by Eldridge Cleaver, whose own education appears to have been gleaned from the walls of public restrooms. What a contrast, that this purveyor of hate be allowed on campus to subvert America's youth while the ban of prayer and Bible reading in schools, the most blasphemous example of censorship, stands as the Law of the Land!

Cleaver supporters remark that "he has something to say." The message of the Bible is more pertinent to today's youth and the world in general than anything this false prophet of racial fear could offer. They say, "Cleaver has written a book." This quality would hardly commend fellow authors Adolf Hitler and Karl Marx to lead accredited courses at taxpayer-supported schools. Jesus Christ never wrote a book, but our Savior's teachings are what the world really needs in this dire hour.

Proposition 1-A Vs. Proposition 9

Regardless of the I-J taking a stand for Proposition 1-A, the informed taxpayer and long-suffering homeowner will vote for No. 9.

For once in our lives, we have a chance to get the tax off our homes, where it is being wrongfully for years.

Proposition No. 9 also will appropriately show where our money goes. As it now stands who knows where the money is being spent, and who cares?

Proposition 1-A was inserted into the ballot just to confuse the voter. This is already law and to put it on the ballot means absolutely nothing. . . .

Proposition 9 was signed into a measure by the taxpayers who signed 875,000-plus petitions, after your representatives failed to vote a tax deduction this year. Unlike Proposition 1-A, it is not "an afterthought." This measure has been in the planning stages for years and worked out by hard working taxpayers, like yourselves, who have your interests at heart.

J. D. SMITH
San Rafael

(Editor's note: Reader Smith errs in thinking the Independent-Journal endorsed Proposition 1-A. The I-J has called for "NO" votes on both 1-A and 9 (see editorials, Oct. 2, 4, and 10). He errs also in believing the tax rebate or other features of Proposition 1-A are already law. Bills were passed by the Legislature providing for these only IF Proposition 1-A is approved by the voters and receives a higher vote than Proposition 9.)

Olympic Athletes' Action Sickens

Tommy Smith and Carlo's exhibition on the winners' stand the other day sickened me and from what I have heard from everyone that I talked to it also made them disgusted. Why do these losers, and that is what they are, despite their track victories, think they can flount the U.S. flag? Too many of our sons and daughters have died for this flag to let it be dishonored by these two jerks.

It is a shame that Smith and Carlos can't keep their mouths shut long enought to read "Road to Revolution" by ex-Communist leader Phillip Abbot Luce, in which he spells out how the U.S. black is being exploited by the Communist party to promote national unrest in this country.

Minority people will never pull themselves up out of their so called "ghettos" by using force! (Ghettos? look around at where some of the so-called whities have to live.) To get out of their Ghettos, minorities have to stop burning schools and start attending them.

In reply to their statement, "that the white man sends the blacks over to do their fighting for them," I recall when I was over seas in combat there were no blacks in our outfit. Seems like the white man has done all the fighting for the blacks up until now. . .

If Free To Ignore, No Standard Violat

Your editorial entitled "In Name of Freedom, Colleges Banish Decency" (Oct. 18) read like a grandstand play to off-campus, self-styled vigilantes. How can you justify, on the basis of the controversy over a single essay, "The Student as Nigger" by Gerald Farber, an across-the-broad indictment of today's education? Your overstatements included: "The jargon of the gutter has become the language of higher education," "The student as Nigger is a product of our new education system," "Professor Hage defended the publication . . . in a fashion that has become typical of 'educators',' and "Decency has been abandoned on the campus"?

Your cross-country tracking of this controversy carried you to my alma mater, the University of Minnesota. I seem to remember that the Minnesota Daily, was free to be read and/or ignored by students, so that no one's standard of decency need by violated. When you condemn the Minnesota Daily's running of the essay as "defying authority" are you suggesting that journalists must clear their copy through the governor's office or English department? The relevant authority in this case is obviously Professor Hage who heads the editorial committee of the student publication control board. I must assume he was speaking for the majority of that board when he defended the student editor as being "motivated by an ethical commitment to report the news completely and accurately."

JOHN THOMPSON
San Rafael

(Editor's Note: "The Student As Nigger" was used as an example. It is by no means an isolated one. The Gater, student newspaper at San Francisco State College, offers many others. So do student (and some non-student) speakers on campuses, including College of Marin, the reports of whose speeches in the daily press must be severely expurgated for the sake of decency.)

Why Be Afraid To Register Guns?

I take extreme umbrage at the letter from Mrs. Ronald W. Tennler in last night's (Oct. 22) paper.

My lovely, handsome, life-loving, 19-year-old son lies dead in his grave just because any moron, sadist or paranoiac with visions of Communists hiding under every bed can buy a gun.

Sportsmen, target-shooters and honest citizens, indeed! These emotionally immature people want their lethal toys to play with, to build their own miserable egos. But guns kill people! The statistics show plainly, for even the most narrow-minded to see, the innocent are the victims of guns kept in the home.

But as I understood Dr. Leo Wagner's letter earlier, he was only advocating registration of guns. Why should these people be afraid to register their guns? Then, should they be stolen, they could be traced. If they are used in a crime it might be more easily solved.

We will keep whatever freedom we might still have through love and reason, not because nincompoops own guns.

Bridge Director Choice Protested

Months ago I wrote to the board of supervisors of Marin County and asked them to explain their situation, from our understanding that there was a "deal" with Mr. William Bagley that his law partner would be named on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board. To date I have never received an answer. No wonder we need to have officials with some manners.

We strongly object to a person not a commuter to this board. He does not know the problems today of the commuter. But it was all worked out again in the "smoke-filled" rooms, with Mr. Storer voting for him. Mr. Storer said on the TV Channel 7 that the Golden Gate Bridge is owned by the State of California. He is wrong.

Why can't we have a native son of California on that board and a commuter?

J. Galen Foster of San Rafael, manager of the north bay division for Pacific Gas and Electric Co., has been named chairman of the 1969 scholarship and loan fund drive for College of Marin, President Aaron E. Rucker has announced.

Working with Foster on the campaign will be Donald L. Johnson of Novato, superintendent of Marin operations for PG&E, and Edwin Johnson of San Rafael, manager of Marin County branch operations for Wells Fargo Bank.

Foundation board members on the fund drive staff are former chairman Donald Anderson of San Rafael, Kent O. Seymour and Theodore C. Wellman of Kentfield, and Jack Younger of Mill Valley.

Foundation funds go for scholarships, short term emergency loans and matching funds for National Defense student loans.

Compromise In Drath Campaigning

Attorneys for congressional candidate Phillip Drath of San Rafael and the Northgate Shopping Center have arranged a compromise in their dispute over the rights of Drath enthusiasts to campaign at the shopping center.

The compromise was arranged Friday in the chambers of Judge Hadden W. Roth, who is sitting temporarily in Superior Court.

Judge Roth last week signed a temporary restraining order, forbidding the center or its managers from interfering with the distribution of Drath campaign literature at the center. An Independent-Journal article incorrectly reported that the order had been issued by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Judge Roth reported yesterday that, under the compromise, Drath may have no more than two campaign people at the center at one time and that they may not distribute handbills in the center's parking lot.

Northgate officials agreed, in return, not to limit the candidate's representatives to a booth at the shopping center, Judge Roth said.

Women Looking For Furniture

An Oakland woman reported Friday that she had consigned $8,000 worth of furniture to a firm at Town and Country Shopping Center two years ago and the firm has since left, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Mary G. Owen told deputies she had consigned the furniture to Rhoda Selden Interior Decoration and that she believed the firm had left with it.

No reason was given for the delay in reporting the incident.

Thieves Loot Boat On Canal

Two boats on the San Rafael canal were looted during the weekend, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Between Thursday and Saturday thieves took a $200 movie camera and a $100 radio and direction-finder from the cruiser of William G. Edimiston of San Francisco, docked at 557 Francisco Boulevard.

Between Thursday and Sunday, a portable television set, radio, barometer, humidity meter, and compass-ashtray valued at a total of $218 were taken from the boat of Wayne C. Jackson of Daly City, docked at 27 Harbor Street.

Cost Estimate Review Ordered Of New School

A definitive review of cost estimates for the Reedland Woods School has been ordered by the Reed School District board, according to Supt. H. Joe Edgington.

The board, meeting Saturday morning, set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 14 at Bel Aire School to review the cost estimates with staff and architect Ronald D. Young of Santa Clara.

Edgington said the Saturday workshop session was called so the board could study cost problems of the school construction caused mainly by inflation and unexpected site excavation costs.

There was no public notice of the meeting because agendas announcing the special meeting, mailed from Tiburon Thursday, did not arrive at the Independent-Journal office until this morning.

The board also approved an additional expenditure of $1,300 for capping a spring and $7,000 for to correct drainage problems on the Reedlands Woods site, Edgington said.

Bagley Predicts Giant GOP Win

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The GOP national ticket will carry California by more than a half million votes Nov. 5, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, predicted yesterday.

Central Valley voters "will contribute heavily to that margin of victory," said Bagley, chairman of the Nixon-Agnew campaign's media relations committee in California.

Newspaper endorsements of the Nixon-Agnew ticket are running better than five to one over the Democratic national ticket, Bagley said in a statement to the press

Doctor's Office Is Looted In San Anselmo

Burglars struck twice in San Anselmo Sunday, police reported yesterday.

They said entry to the office of Dr. Bernard J. Conroy, 25 San Anselmo Avenue, was made about 12:30 p.m. by breaking out a window near the main entrance. Taken were 10 blank prescription forms, officers said.

Officers said at least one of the intruders was cut in climbing through the window, because traces of blood were found in the office.

Jack D. Carbin, 562 Scenic Avenue, reported someone entered the open front door of his home, making off with five silver dollars and a wedding ring worth $300. The break-in was discovered at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Siberia spans nine time zones, yet holds fewer residents than New York state and New England combined.

Director Named For Bay Program

Monico C. Amador, formerly of the Federal Manpower and Training Program in Santa Clara County, has been named staff director of the Bay Area Construction Opportunity Program for Marin, Alameda, Santa Clara, San Mateo and Contra Costa counties.

The program, under the joint sponsorship of Associated General Contractors and the Building Trades Councils of the five counties, is designed to attract minority youths into careers in the construction industry.

Interested youths may obtain further information through new local offices of the program, available through telephone information operators.

Republican Group Opposing Prop. 1

The conservative United Republicans of California has declared its opposition to state Proposition 1 on the Nov. 5 general election ballot, reported the Seventh Assembly District director, Frank M. Sloan of Fairfax.

The proposition, designed to streamline the state constitution, would "open the door to ever bigger and more powerful government," according to UROC. The organization particularly objected to the provision in the proposal to make the state superintendent of public instruction an appointive post instead of an elective one.

SPEAKER — Syndicated columnist Roscoe Drummond, whose column appears in the Independent-Journal, will lecture on "The State of the World" at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the fine arts building theater at College of Marin, Kentfield.

A Rafferty Retraction Is Demanded

I-J Special Report

SANTA CRUZ — Drummond Pike of Ross, a junior and chairman of the Inter-College Board at the University of California at Santa Cruz, has demanded that Max Rafferty either retract statements he recently made about the university or prove what he said.

Rafferty, after a disturbance at a meeting of the university regents Oct. 18 at the campus here, termed the campus "something between a hippie pad and a brothel."

Rafferty, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, also said the disturbance "was Communist inspired."

Pike, stating he was writing as an individual, said that if Rafferty failed to retract and apolozize for his statements, he should "bring criminal charges against those persons breaking the law as you alleged." Pike sent the letter Thursday, then sent copies to newspapers.

All of Rafferty's allegations "are absolutely and totally false," declared Pike, whose major is government. He demanded Rafferty make an immediate reply to the letter.

Driver Is Bruised As Car Hits Pole

Battista Borzini, 75, of 105 Bayview Street, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital Sunday for bruises on the hand and shoulder after his car hit a utility pole on D Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Police said the accident occurred at 1:30 a.m. in the 100 block of D Street. Borzini told police he turned to talk to his passenger, Shafik N. Kotite, 77, of 35 Manor Road, Kentfield, and the car drifted off the road.

Panel Formed For Improving Race Relations

A program to combat Lucas Valley Marinwood racism blamed on the homogeniety of the suburbs was proposed by a new Human Relations Council last night at a meeting of the Coordinating Council of Dixie School District parents clubs.

The new group is an outgrowth of a committee formed in the district in June out of concern over instances of racial name calling, harrassment and intimidation of minority families by parents, teachers and children, the council stated.

PROPOSED PLAN

It proposed recruiting of minorities for district employment, in-service programs for school employees on the urban crisis, classroom studies of minority groups contributions to the development of society, helping school personnel deal with discrimination, employing persons who will implement such practices and formation of human relations groups to work toward a fully integerated society.

One black mother said she had lived in the South and East and had never been subjected to racial name calling until she "lived here."

She said the program wasn't formulated just because of name calling but to broaden the scope of pupils' learning so they are "made aware of the times they're living in."

A teacher said children have to be "encouraged to accept differences." When she showed a film of poor people in Mexico City living in tin shacks, pupils laughed, she reported.

Council members noted that name calling was also directed at handicapped pupils.

ASK MEMBERSHIP

Members requested an appointment to the coordinating council and that group indicated it would act favorably, possibly at its Nov. 25 meeting.

The coordinating council elected Philip Bates, a representative of Bernard Hoffman School, as president for 1968-69.

He succeeds Mrs. Daniel C. Beittel who was elected vice president.

The council also opposed Proposition 9, the Watson Amendment on the ballot next Tuesday which would phase out property tax revenue for schools over a five-year period and limit overall bonding capacity.

Guilty Plea To Robbing Youth

Kenneth Wayne Bailey, 19, of Fairfax, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges that he robbed a 14-year-old Fairfax boy and committed a lewd and lascivious act with him July 20 in that city.

Judge Harold J. Haley suspended the criminal proceedings and ordered the youth examined by doctors to determine if he is a mentally disordered sex offender.

The judge, on the recommendation of the district attorney, dismissed an additional charge that Bailey committed an unnatural sex act in Fairfax the same day.

Rifles Stolen

Two bolt action, .22-caliber Remington rifles, valued at $45 apiece were stolen Friday night from Mac's Disco store, 555 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Businessmen Doubtful Of Mill Valley Plans

Development plans for Mill Valley's commercial areas last night won faint praise from local businessmen in a hearing on the plans before the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Criticism of the plans centered on its proposal to replace parking on the west side of Lytton Square with a pedestrian mall. Parking close to their businesses was termed their "lifeblood" by several speakers who said loss of any parking would drive customers to shopping centers.

Thomas Cooke, one of the planning consultants who prepared the plans, pointed out that street parking would be replaced by new parking lots behind stores. Several persons in the audience of about 40 persons, however, questioned whether the city could afford to buy the land necessary for new parking lots.

The $27,000 planning project is called the "701 program'' because it was partly financed by an $18,000 federal grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development under section 701 of the Housing Act of 1954. The remaining $9,000 was paid by the city.

The consultants last year put a $1.4 million price tag, in 1967 dollars, on carrying out the plans' proposals downtown, on Miller Avenue and in the Alto commercial area.

The feasibility of the plans, said commissioner Edward Boessenecker, must be the city's primary consideration "unless some fairy godmother leaves us a lot of money." Only if the city sets priorities on the plans' proposals will they ever be implemented, he said.

The first priority, added Boessenecker, should be on improvement of the Lytton Square commercial area.

A member of the audience, Manny Gomez, promptly disagreed. The first need is to improve Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio creek so that lower Miller Avenue homes and businesses will not be flooded in heavy rains, said Gomez.

The plan envisions a "linear park" along the creek, but the Army Corps of Engineers has said the proposal would not be financially feasible. An alternative suggested by Planning Director Harvey Bragdon is to tunnel under Miller Avenue so heavy rains can take a parallel route to the creek.

After more than two hours of discussion of the plans, the commissioners agreed to defer action to Nov. 25 because only four of the seven commissioners were present.

Landscaping Plan Favored On Miller, East Blithedale

Preliminary landscaping plans for Miller and East Blithedale avenues were approved unanimously last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

The landscaping will cost $20,800, according to Eldon Beck, a member of Roystan, Hanasmoto, Beck and Abey, the San Francisco firm of landscape architects which drew the plans.

The money will come from gas tax payments to the city by the state, and already is in the present fiscal year's budget, said Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos.

The plans also won prompt approval from the parks and recreation commission, which met jointly with the planners to hear Beck's presentation.

The landscapting on Miller, if the plans are approved by the city council, would be from Camino Alto to Almonte Boulevard, and on East Blithedale from Camino Alto to Almonte Boulevard, and on East Blithedale from Camino Alto to the Alto Wye.

Because gas tax funds cannot be used to landscape the shoulders of the roadways, the plans propose planting only in median dividers.

The only objection raised to the plans from the audience of some 40 persons was by Manny Gomez, who repeatedly interrupted with shouts that the commission was "railroading something fast here," and arguments that the landscaping was "something we can't afford."

Praising the plans, parks and recreation commission chairman Jean Barnard said they should go a long way toward improving the appearance of the new section of East Blithedale, which she said "looks just like a great big used car lot."

Planning Director Bragdon said the landscaping plans would go before the city council Monday.

The planning commission, asked by the council to define low cost housing proposed on Enchanted Knolls Ridge, agreed to use the income and rent figures set up by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Involvement Is Key For New Marinite

By BETTY FROST

She looks like somebody's grandmother —and she is. That she is also an adventurer who has traveled all over the world and a dedicated leader in educational, civic, cultural, religious and international activities is revealed in even a short conversation with this vital Marin woman.

Mrs. J. Howard Heginbotham came to Tiburon in January, 1967, when her husband was assigned to duties as supervising metallurgist of the new marine technology program for the U.S. Bureau of Mines with headquarters at the old Naval Net Depot, Tiburon. Although Lois Heginbotham has been in Marin only a short time, she immediately began following a lifelong pattern of involvement in community affairs.

Working with Mrs. Milton L. Stannard Jr. of Tiburon, president of Southern Marin Church Women United, she has taken on the chairmanship of that ecumenical organization's World Community Day scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. Friday at The First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. The Rev. Charles Calvin Griffin, minister of San Rafael Presbyterian Church, will be the keynote speaker, taking "New World a' Coming" as his theme.

This year World Community Day is designated as the international year for human rights, emphasizing responsible action for justice for people everywhere. The day's activities include a luncheon, projects for supplying children's clothes, and blankets needed in the Middle and Far East and support of programs emphasizing better nutrition in Mississippi, Haiti and Guatemala.

MRS. HEGINBOTHAM'S interest in the Church Women United is a longstanding one. She has served at the local level, been president of CWU for the state of Utah, and served on the national advisory committee for Christian world relations.

Christian Women United also sponsors a world day of prayer. For many years the prayers began when Queen Salotte of Tonga took her Christian subjects to the mountain top to worship. Since Tonga is on the international dateline, the day of prayer began there, then continued around the world. When the Heginbothams were returning from the South Pacific some years ago, they met Queen Salotte on their ship. She was en route to attend the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in England.

Lois White was born in Colorado. She attended the University of Colorado, the University of California and Colorado State Teachers College .She taught, usually at the junior high school level, in Colorado, Utah, Montana and Washington.

After her marriage to J. Howard Heginbotham, she went to Salt Lake City, where she lived for 24 years during the time her husband was associated with the General Engineering Company.

NEW ADVENTURES awaited the family when, in 1950, they left for New Caledonia in what the Tiburon woman calls "the worst storm in the Pacific." They spent almost two years on the South Pacific island, where Howard helped to develop chromium deposits. After the South Pacific adventure, the Heginbothams celebrated their 25th anniversary by traveling for a year, going around the world, hitting such spots as Australia, Ceylon, India, Suez and entering Europe at Marseilles. Their two sons went to school in France for a year, with their older son studying at the Political Science Institute in Paris, and their younger son enrolled in L' Ecole des Roches. The boys wrote an account of these adventures, entitled the "Six Year Saga of the 4 H's."

The Heginbothams' older son, Erland, is now in Washington, D. C. with the State Department, where he is chief of the Division of International Finance. He is married and has two children. Their younger son is Stanley J. Heginbotham, who is completing work on his Ph.D. degree at Massachusetts Institute of Techonology in Cambridge, Mass. He and his wife and young son spent three years in India, while Stanley was doing research on his doctoral dissertation, dealing with feeding the world's population.

BEFORE COMING to Tiburon, the Heginbothams spent 10 years with Washington D.C. as their headquarters. Mr. Heginbotham was with the International Activities Division of the U.S. Bureau of Mines. The couple's interest in foreign affairs became a two way street during this period. They traveled extensively in Africa, India, Turkey and the Far East. In the capital Lois was active in the Welcome to Washington International club, an organization which worked to bring women of other countries into American homes on a basis of mutual interest.

BEGINNING AS a volunteer, Mrs. Heginbotham assisted with orientation of American women for overseas duty. Later she went on the payroll as a consultant for the government and worked five years on the program. Among her suggestions for women representing this country abroad are "moderation in dress, an attitude of interest and appreciation of the country being visited and some language. It is so important to even try to speak a few words of their language," she said.

From 1954 to 1957 the Heginbothams were on assignment in the Middle East. They were evacuated from Israel with two hours notice, at the time of the Suez crisis. The metallurgist was working on developing minerals in the Dead Sea during this period.

In 1965 Lois was honored by being included in the first edition of the Gold Book of Washington's Distinguished Women.

A hobby of the Tiburon woman is giving play readings and slide lectures for friends and groups.

Her organizations include the Presbyterian Church, YWCA, Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae, Panhellenic, United Nations Speakers Bureau, English Speaking Union, Foreign Service Wives Club and PEO, a women's organization sponsoring educational opportunities for young women.

"NEW WORLD a'Coming" is the theme for World Commuunity Day which begins in Marin at 11 a.m. Friday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. Mrs. J. Howard Heginbotham of Tiburon, who has been a leader in Church Women United at the local, state and national levels, will be chairman of the day's activities for the Southern Marin program. THE FORMERLY conservative House of Worth in London has presented some eye-openers for men's fashions this year. Stuart Walker, left, models wool gabardine beige shirt suit, while Andy Johnson, second from left, shows a stretch evening jumpsuit in dacron jersey with ruffled shirt and gold belt during mens wear style show. Pat Basford, second from right, and Al Flemming wore white wool hopsack evening suits at the show. All are House of Worth entries for the Creative Menswear awards in New York.

Styles With Decollete For The New Man

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — Gone were neckties and cuffbuttons. In for the new man were decollete— meaning low cut at the neck— sleeveless jumpsuits, some in silky, drapy crepe—in green and pinky ginger yet.

So went the first-ever man's fashion show at the once staid, fashion house of Worth.

Sighsten Herrgard, 26, Worth's Scandinavian designer of resort and male fashion, did away with the neckties, cuff buttons and most lapels and took the bag out of trousers with a deep V cut in the back. His one-piece jumpsuits in crepe or stretch materials, were all worn with polo-necked sweaters or shirts.

MOST DARING number in his "Esquire" collection was a party jumpsuit in navy jersey, cut out in a low oval to the waist and worn with a white ruffled shirt and wide hip belt of gold chains. He also showed several all-white caftan evening suits, one with copper patent boots.

A spokesman said the ready-to-wear male attire will fall into "the medium price range." Two of Herrgard's creations, including the hip-belted number, have already been chosen as entries for the Creative Menswear Awards in New York.

The "Shirt Suit" was another Herrgard original. Its jacket is yoked and cut like a shirt, and a soft tie belt goes with it. Coats are maxilength, or nearly to the bottom of the calf. Most jackets are also very long. Trousers are tight fitting and slightly bell-bottomed.

ONE MALE MODEL wore a floppy Garbo hat in black velvet with a gray maxi raincoat. Another hat, in soft white felt with a bow on the band, would have looked just as good on a woman.

A three-piece evening suit was worn with a wide leather belt centered with a big jeweled buckle, and many models sported heavy gold necklace chains.

Suits without lapels were buttoned or zipped to the highbanded neckline. Besides black, white and blue, the designer favored the green and pinky ginger colors. Shirts also came in pink, gold and lilac. A caftan suit had a pullover jacket with a deep V front.

There was a belted leisure shirt made to be worn tail-out, and several high-necked Cossack shirts, usually worn with sleeveless jumpsuits. The latter, as the show announcer pointed out, are for slim men only, as they fit like a second skin.

MANY MATERIALS used have been seen previously only in women's clothes, notably the banlon jersey crepes and a bold black and white check. Ties are replaced by polo necks or printed scarves.

Herrgard, who was born in Helsinki, Finland, but brought up in Sweden, refers to himself as Swedish. He won his first fashion award at 15 and was elected "Best Dressed Man in Sweden" in 1963.

John Stewart Pritchard Exchanges Vows With Holly Elizabeth Sims

John Stewart Pritchard of San Rafael claimed Holly Elizabeth Sims of Berkeley as his bride at a 3 p.m. ceremony Saturday at St. Anselm's Episcopal Church in Lafayette.

Holly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Sims of Lafayette, chose as her maid of honor her sister, Jody Sims, a student at Fresno State College. Bridesmaids were the bride's cousin, Kathleen Ries of Saratoga, and Leslie and Sydney Pritchard, the bridegroom's sisters.

David Pritchard was best man for his brother, and ushers were Bill Di Grazia of San Rafael, Bob Landy of Terra Linda, the bride's brother, Robert Sims of Lafayette, and Scott Eliott of Orinda.

The couple went on a wedding trip to Carmel following a reception at Hiller Highland Country Club in Oakland.

The bride was graduated from Acalanes High School in Lafayette and attended the University of California at Davis and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley.

She is employed with the State Department of Public Health in Berkeley. Mrs. E. F. Ries of Walnut Creek is Holly's grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pritchard of San Rafael are the parents of the bridegroom. John was graduated from Terra Linda High School and the University of California. He is attending graduate school at the university and is employed with Fair Isaac and Company in San Rafael. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lindauer of Novato are the bridegroom's grandparents.

Is Joining A Spinsters' Club The Answer For Single Girls?

DEAR HELEN:

What have people got against girls who live in apartments? They think you are no good because you live alone. Fellows you meet expect you to invite them up for a party — for two! When you don't play that way, they drop you.

Married women are afraid of you — they think you're after their husbands just because you work with them at the office.

You don't have much social life because the single girls you meet end up getting married, and they drop you fast. You are now a "threat."

Should I become a swinger as I'm suppose to be, or marry the first dull guy who asks me, to escape. I like my job and am going up. I'm not especially anxious to get married, but I'd like some comparatively clean social life. Any suggestions? — CAREER GIRL

DEAR CAREER GIRL:

Your city has a "Spinsters' Club" for young unmarried women. Get the address at your library and apply for membership. (Seems to me they should change that title to "Career" or "Bachelor" Girls Club. Perhaps you skipped over it because you didn't like the connotation.)

Or maybe you might find an apartment in one of those complexes for young unmarrieds. They sometimes swing, but you can make your own rules.

Mainly, remember that many others feel as you do. Stop assuming "everybody" is either against you or out to take you, and you'll find them! — H

DEAR HELEN:

I wrote several letters to Veitnam Mail Call and never got one answer. If the fellows in the Service want mail so bad, why don't they answer? — WRITERS CRAMP

DEAR W.C.:

You can be sure your notes are read, and re-read — and saved — but Servicemen are like other men: Letter-writing comes hard for them.

When they're tired, discouraged, hurting, they'd rather read up-beat mail than describe how "beat" they are.

Your support and appreciation tell them someone cares, and this should be your main reason for writing. When you get an answer, it's an added dividend — and you will, if you keep sending interesting, humorous, newsy letters that make the reader think, "I'd like to know her better!" — H.

NOTE TO ALL OF YOU WHO ASK FOR SOLDIER PEN PALS: I relay your letters to Vietnam Mail Call, Box 3104-A, Columbus, Ga., where they're shipped overseas. Don't forget to send your Christmas cards to Servicemen there, and enclose a nickel with each card for postage. Schools, churches and clubs may collect and send boxes of cards, with postage money in a separate envelope. Be sure to put your name and address on each card. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I met a Yale man at a resort this summer. After the second date, he said, very casually, "Why don't you move in with me!" His theory is that it's more natural for the opposite sex to live together than for two girls, or two men, to share an apartment. He says everybody does it where he comes from, and girls in the middle west are "repressed." What do you say to a guy like that? —REPRESSED OR SMART?

DEAR R OR S:

Tell him "repression" has nothing to do with it. The name of the game is still "ladies' choice," and the lady doesn't choose!

Okay, let's hear it from New Haven. Does "everybody" cohabit back there, or is the Yale man more wishful thinker than reporter? — H

FATHER-LED FAMILIES in slums can be less stable than mother-headed ones—unless the father can hold a job. For white families this is easier than for black ones at the same economic level.

Welfare Check Is The Most Secure Income For Lower Class Families

By PATRICIA McBROOM

One recent winter, a black man from a St. Louis ghetto walked the streets looking — in 135 places — for a job. He didn't find one. A white sociologist, Dr. William L. Yancey, who went with him for purposes of research, describes the case as extreme, but says that it nevertheless illustrates how severe is the economic stress that lower-class black men must endure.

Typically, such stress causes black families to split, since only the mother has access to steady, if small, income, by way of welfare. And she, in most jurisdictions, cannot receive welfare if there is a man in the house. Even if he should eventually find employment, the returning husband must convince his wife that his job is as secure as her welfare check, which is usually not the case.

Constant or sporadic unemployment of ghetto men helps maintain a matriarchy in about one-fourth of the nation's Negro families.

Although this fact is not new, its importance has been obscured by descriptions of the black matriarchy as sick or deviant — a contributor to social disintegration, delinquency and male emasculation.

Almost all of these studies have viewed ghetto society through white, middle-class eyes. The results, many Negroes feel, are inevitably distorted, finding sickness in healthy reactions to a bad situation.

Thus, Danial Moynihan, in his 1965 report on the Negro family — which angered black professionals and social scientists — wrote: "The evidence . . . is that the Negro family in the urban ghetto is crumbling. A middle-class group has managed to save itself, but for vast numbers of the unskilled, poorly educated city working class, the fabric of conventional social relationships has all but disintegrated."

Moynihan measured ghetto life with a white middle-class yardstick; he failed to recognize that the fatherless, broken homes he saw might be an adaptation to poverty with intrinsic strength of their own. The family is often an extended one, including grandmothers and aunts as well as children; it may be viewed as a source of social cohesion, rather than disintegration.

"Many social scientists have misled the public by describing Negro families as pathological," says Dr. Joyce Ladner, a black sociologist at Washington University. "Too often they fail to find its strengths."

Adds Dr. Yancey: "The broken family in the ghetto is a very stable form, more viable than a complete family. Men end up in jobs that are highly unstable, so the father-headed family is in a perpetual financial crisis. Without economic stability, the male head is of relatively little use to the female in the family and may be lived without."

As graduate students at Washington University, Drs. Yancey and Ladner participated in a large-scale study of the urban poor, both black and white. Headed by Dr. Lee Rainwater, the project has, over a five-year period, included more than a dozen researchers. They have lived with families in the areas under study to find an inside perspective, then surveyed the populations on attitudes, values and life styles.

From that vantage point, Dr. Yancey, now at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, is able to compare the effects of economic security on both black and white families.

The white families were from the poorest white district in St. Louis, the Soulard area. Yet men there had little trouble finding jobs compared to the situation faced by Negroes. Not surprisingly, there were far fewer families headed by women in the Soulard district.

For both races, the relationship between the man's income and his place in the family was strong. No family in the Soulard area was headed by a man without a job or some income from disability.

For black families living in St. Louis' Pruitt-Igoe housing project, the situation was very much the same. Washington University researchers saw men losing their jobs, watched tension develop often to the point of marital separation, then back to check on the men who were still living with their families without a job. In every case, the man had received disability income and had a legitimate reason to be unemployed.

If poor whites fall into economic trouble, they can usually get out of it, which is one of the major differences between the races, says Dr. Yancey. The white man who gets mad at his foreman simply leaves and finds another job. If stress becomes too great, he can always leave the city and go home, which in the case of Soulard residents is usually the South.

Dr. Yancey and his colleagues discovered that poor whites identified strongly with their former home and were much less committed to staying in the city. But Negro residents did not accept that alternative.

Another major difference between the two reveals even more clearly the effects of racial discrimination. Residents of the Soulard area were both older and less educated than their black counterparts. Whereas 40 per cent of the white sample was over 50 years of age, half the blacks were under 40. In addition, the majority of blacks had at least an eighth grade education, while 70 per cent of the white men had less than eight years of school. Yet the median income for heads of families was $5,000 for whites; $3,350 for blacks living in the Pruitt-Igoe project.

Such black-white comparisons have generally not been available with the over-riding emphasis placed on studying the ghetto — a source of anger among black social scientists who feel the Negro family has been dissected long enough.

Dr. Ladner believes a refocusing of the problem can be accompanied by sending black sociologists in to study middle class white communities. Since their sexual mores and monogamous, patriarchal habits are usually used to judge ghetto life, it might be well to look at the stresses and strains of that system from a black viewpoint, she says.

Dr. Ladner proposes that much of the behavior in the black community is quite distinct from that of whites. Through the years black families have made certain adaptations because men have been denied stable employment, she says. Strong women emerged, along with social and sexual attitudes that will not necessarily change even with full employment.

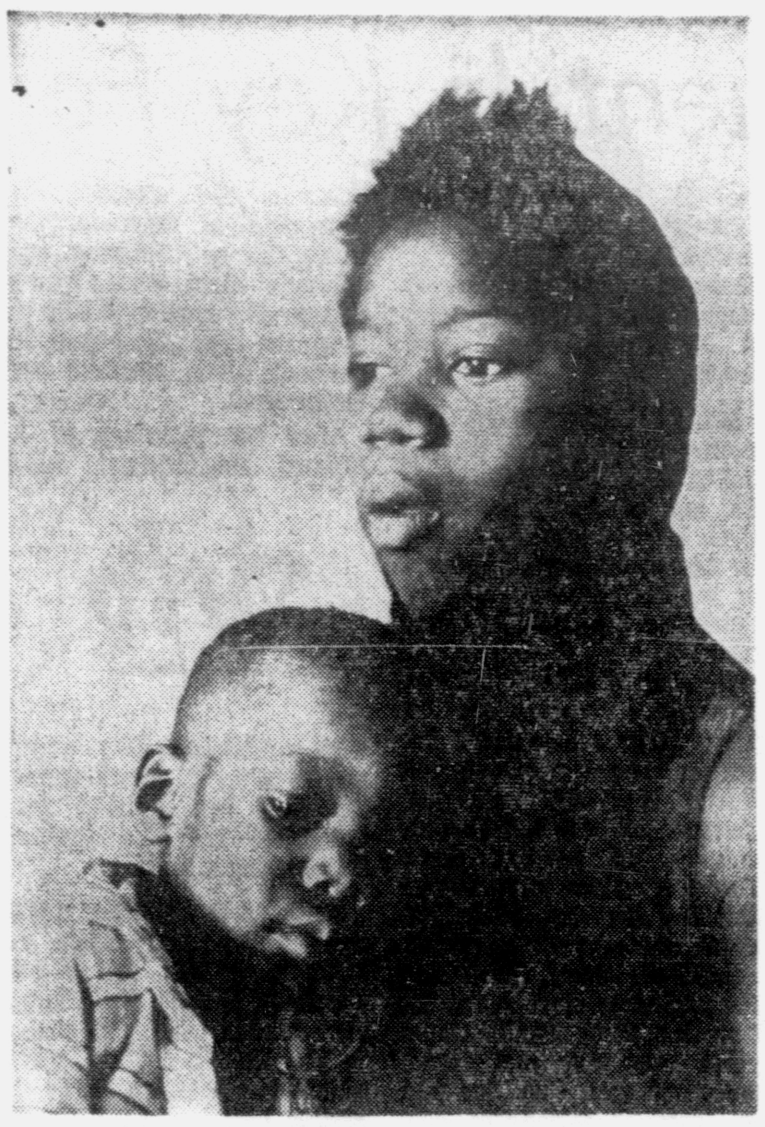
Compared to whites, for instance, people in the black ghetto "seem to have greater ability to adapt to relationships that do not follow strict patterns of monogamy," says Dr. Ladner. "Men can be supportive without going through matrimony, and girls are able to break off relationships without going through trauma."

She points out that unemployed men are not totally rejected. In many cases they remain close to their wives and there is a congenial relationship between father and children. Other researchers have noted as well some male figure is often around the matriarchal family, making the emasculation of youth argument a tenuous one.

Dr. Joseph Scott of the University of Toledo sees no reason why blacks should adopt patriarchal patterns and would prefer that they did not. The black woman is a strength, says Dr. Scott. "There is no reason to believe that Negroes would be better off if women had less influence."

But while black sociologists argue the presence of distinct cultural strains in the ghetto, the over-riding stress of poverty clouds the issue.

As the Soulard data indicate, black matriarchies exist primarily because of the grueling experience that men face in the marketplace. Dr. Yancey adds that in a series of attitude tests black and white came out very much alike. There was the same level of distrust for other people, the same work ethic ("The lower class thinks work is more important than does any other class," says Dr. Yancey.) and the same expectations of delinquency.



THE BLACK WOMAN is a strength in the slum home, according to sociologists who have studied her, and the matriarchy system, forced on families by lack of steady jobs, is not necessarily "sick" as some white writers have made it appear.

Miss Casci Is Married

Nuptials at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo united in marriage Peggy Lynn Casci of San Anselmo and David Socorro Gonzales of San Rafael.

At the Oct. 19 ceremony Katherine Barnacle of San Anselmo was maid of honor for Peggy, and her sisters, Judith and Vera Ellen Casci of San Anselmo, were her bridesmaids.

Manuel Veyna of San Francisco was best man for the bridegroom, and ushering guests to seats were the bride's brother, Timothy and Michael Casci.

A reception was given afterward at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Americo A. Casci of San Anselmo. After they return from a wedding trip to the Grand Canyon the newlyweds will live in San Rafael.

Peggy is a Sir Francis Drake High School graduate and is employed at the Presidio in San Francisco. She has another brother, Dean Christopher Casci, who is serving with the Air Force in Alaska.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eligio Pacheco of Carlsbad. He was graduated from Carlsbad High School and is employed with the Government Services Administration in San Francisco.

KINDERGARTEN IN the USSR is a far cry from kindergarten in America. The children are fed, cared for and taught for 12 hours each day. Soviet Kindergarten Keeps Child 12 Hours A Day Throughout Year

By GAY PAULEY

MOSCOW (UPI) — "Do you notice? Always so much attention to the children."

It was one of the group of U.S. women with whom I'm traveling in East Europe who made the comment during a visit to a kindergarten.

Kindergarten in the USSR is a far cry, though, from kindergarten in the USA, where the small set usually goes to school for half a day. The Soviet kindergartens take children from infancy on up to seven years, regular school enrollment age, and the children are fed, cared for and taught for 12 hours each day. Some stay overnight, seeing their working parents only on weekends, or when parents are on vacation. For Russia's kindergartens are run 12 months.

The kindergarten I visited one rainy morning was in a new edge of Moscow. It had 300 children, the youngest seven months, the eldest seven years.

They were divided into groups by age, so that two-year-olds were with two-year-olds, three-year-olds with three-year-olds, and so on. For each group there are two teachers and one nurse, the director of the school, Mrs. Maria Danilova, told me. And a doctor is part of the staff.

When a child is brought to school by his parents at seven each morning, the nurses check him for sniffles or any other ailment before he joins his group.

For this almost total care in a nation that boasts of a total employment few wives are stay-at-homes, the parents pay from five to 12 rubles a month, approximately $5 to $12 USA, and the state picks up the rest of the tab.

Members of the Sausalito Woman's Club have decided that no civic service project could be more important than dealing with the problems of crime, vagrancy, drug traffic, automobile traffic and litter in their city.

In order to understand their causes and discover solutions, they will make an all-out effort on a long range basis, with the first event scheduled Thursday at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse.

This is a program planned under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard F. Phillips on "The Wild World of Crime" featuring three speakers, with many special guests invited to attend.

Speakers will be Sausalito Police Captain James Wright, whose topic will be "Your Town — Your Home"; Detective Jack Hedrich, who will discuss and demonstrate how to protect yourself physically; and Inspector Earl William Burgess, training officer with drug abuse, who will talk on "Do You Know The Weed From A Weed?" illustrated with a display.

Capt. Wright has had a number of FBI and advanced training courses and is a specialist in administrative police work. Hedrich, who has been with the Hayward Police Department for 13 years, is an expert in judo and karate and is a training officer for defensive tactics for officers and reserves; and Burgess of the narcotics bureau attended the FBI Academy in drug abuse and San Diego State College in police science.

Special guests will include members of the Sausalito City Council, recreation and planning commissions, library board, school board including Superintendent of Schools Phillip W. Schneider and all city department heads. Also many distinguished county officials, such as Judges Goldstein, Roth, Smith, Keating, Wilson, Gardner and Haley will attend.

Also invited are supervisorial candidates Michael Wornum and Donald O'Leary, Sheriff Louis Mountanos, District Attorney Bruce Bales and presidents of all women's clubs in Marin County.

Other Sausalito groups invited to send representatives are the artists and merchants, the yacht and cruising clubs, Rotary and Lions clubs, Chamber of Commerce, Salvage Shop and the Sausalito Foundation.

Working with Mr. Phillips on the event Thursday are Sausalito Women Club president, Mrs. Perry L. Brock, and Mesdames John C. Alexander, John A. Sweeny, George W. Quinn Jr., Loren L. Jay, Frank Kelly, Norman C. Wohlschlaeger, Herbert Andron, Harold Thomas Rogers, John E. Koenig, Charles E. Masten, William V. Lynch, Edwin S. Long, Clyde Trudell, Richard E. Cruikshank, Martha E. Scott, Elmo Maggiora, Ronert L. Mayer, Jan Paul Dyk, Robert Scarborough, Sten Johnson, Earl G. Thompson and Weber, Brady and Patterson.

Before the program when members, their husbands and guests are invited to meet the honored guests, Mrs. Charles W. Elliott and Mrs. G. D. Percy will serve refrshments. Mrs. Churchill is planning decorations, and a courtesy table will be staffed by Mesdames Jackson S. Perry and Leonard E. Blakely.

West Marin Density Bonus Plan Outlined

A point system by which developers can get density bonuses in West Marin was outlined in rough form yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

Commissioner Walter F. Freitas described the system as "confusing and almost shockingly puzzling" but agreed to go along with other commissioners for a more detailed hearing at 10 a.m. on Nov. 18.

Chairman Hugh Dougherty said the Nov. 18 hearing will be followed by another public hearing on the night of Nov. 25, probably in West Marin School. The county planning commissioners will then hold a final public hearing on the morning of Dec. 2 so that the whole package — West Marin density with bonus formula — can go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Dec. 3.

The bonus formula, outlined by County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, would be applied in the West Marin Master Plan area, which is now covered by the West Marin Interim Ordinance, calling for an average density of 1.15 units per acre.

Zucker proposed that "development points" be issued per gross acre of land; for example, 100 points as the basic starting point. On top of these would be added bonus points for (1) planned development, (2) special plan features, and (3) good design presented by developers.

The total development points would then be converted to number of units per acre on the basis of the type of use (residential, motels, or commercial). The conversion table will be worked out in such a way that one-family homes would be allowed at the rate of 1.15 units per acre, as set up by the supervisors, and other uses such as motels, apartments and planned communities would be eligible for higher densities.

The conventional units-per-acre would apply only to residential development, said Zucker, but his development points have the advantage of equal application to all land uses, including single-family, mutltiple, and commercial.

Freitas was skeptical. "In the final analysis, market conditions will decide," said Freitas. "The fanciest formula won't change this. I just don't see the advantage of getting so complex, fancy and nebulous."

"What if we let density take care of itself without cutting up the land," suggested Michael Praszker. "If we could regulate the percentage of land disturbance, that would regulate density."

Praszker said that minimums should be set, such as no more than 12 stories, not more than 10 per cent cut, or no smaller lots than 7,500 square feet. "We should start from minimums we all agree on and work from there. The way we're going, we're chasing our own tails."

"This plan is something that has never been tried before anywhere," said Freitas. "It frightens me to crank something in like this and make it law."

"True, this is a departure," acknowledged Margaret Azevedo. "But it seems to me a carefully thought out plan."

"I think this is more concrete and more workable than other proposals agreed Chairman Dougherty.

Zucker declared that the development points with added bonus for better planning and design, provide incentives toward desirable goals.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, put it succinctly. Marin is already overburdened with taxes because it is a bedroom type community, he explained.

Pointing to a map showing the West Marin Master Plan, Solnit declared: "If you take a loser like that plan and continue to build homes, you'll soon need seven more schools . . . If you're going to increase density, don't do it by sticking in more bedrooms."

Solnit charged that those who advocate "44,000 more acres of suburbia" are merely asking for a sea of roofs like parts of the Peninsula and are "missing the point."

The point, said Solnit, is to stop urban sprawl and mix in other types of development like apartments, motels and commercial projects that bring in tax revenue instead of tax eaters.

"If anything provides flexibility, this is it," agreed Praszker.

"If we took the master plan and simply jacked up density, the same thing will happen that occurred on the San Mateo coast," added Dougherty.

"Would you be willing to try it for the whole county?" asked Freitas. "Why discriminate in West Marin?"

"Yes, it's workable for the whole county, given the staff time to develop it for the whole county," replied Zucker. He said it would work in open areas like Nicasio and parts of Novato, but in developed areas, a different formula may be needed to fit different goals.

On a motion by Freitas, the commissioners voted unanimously to have Zucker complete details of his bonus formula in time for the Nov. 18 public hearing.

Tam Valley Clubhouse Given Nod

Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club yesterday won the right to go ahead with its new two-story clubhouse at the intersection of Tennessee Valley Road and Marin Avenue.

The Marin County Planning Commission gave the go-ahead, but with several conditions attached to meet some of the complaints from neighboring homeowners.

The commissioners granted an encroachment permit for use of Marin Avenue as an access to the clubhouse for five years, or until Tennessee Valley Road is widened, whichever comes first. When Tennessee Valley Road is improved, the club must put in a permanent access from that road instead of via Marin Avenue.

Joe D. Allen, architect for the improvement club, agreed to excavate a drainage ditch along the side of the 1.5-acre site so that drainage from the clubhouse will not add to the floods on neighboring yards.

The clubhouse site itself will have 14 parking spaces, and another temporary parking area will be set aside for 36 cars on adjoining property owned by the Tamalpais Valley Community Services District. Fences and shrubs will be installed to screen the clubhouse area from neighboring homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Yobua Tanaka of 219 Marin Avenue complained that the clubhouse activities will result in wild parties, noise and rock-and-roll music. Architect Allen assured them no rock bands would be permitted.

The planning commissioners approved the clubhouse on a motion by Niels Schultz Jr.

Jazz Workshop Is Scheduled Tonight

Dave Van Khriet, who played tenor saxophone with Stan Kenton and Dave Brubeck, will be the guest artist at a session of the jazz workshop of Sonoma State College at 8 p.m. today in Ives Hall.

The workshop is under the direction of Walter Oster, associate professor of music and a former member of the Jimmy Dorsey band.

He is organist and choirmaster of the Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin in San Francisco.

Marinites Get Awards At Art Show

Winners were announced yesterday for the weekend's show of the North Bay Artists of Novato, which drew more than 500 entries by 46 artists from all over the Bay Area to the Novato Community House, according to publicity chairman Herta Rothschild.

"Stormy Mendocino Sea," by Pilar Claro of Mill Valley won first place in representational paintings. "Intersection," by Lyndon McCray of Corte Madera won first place in nonrepresentational painting.

"Despair" by C. J. Venuto of Corte Madera took first place in sculpture. "Blanket" by Susan Shelasky of Novato, took first in crafts. "Max" by Linda Peterson of Novato won first in drawings.

Planners Ask Scenic Area Review Power

Marin County Planning Commissioners voted 4 to 3 yesterday to extend its power of design review to single family homes in Visual Districts, described as areas "of particular esthetic and/or scenic value."

Margaret Azevedo, who moved to establish a Visual District, imposed limitations so that design review would apply only to preserve specific natural features and not to such items as the color of a home or the number of windows. Agricultural buildings and signs would not be subject to design review even if they are within a Visual District.

She was supported by Michael Praszker, Dr. William F. Upton and Chairman Hugh Dougherty. Niels Schultz Jr., Walter F. Freitas and Eugene R. Trombley opposed.

The three dissenters declared that a Visual District is too nebulous and subject to personal opinions and arbitrary decision.

An earlier motion by Schultz, to abandon the Visual District altogether, went down to defeat by the same 3 to 4 split.

Among opponents of the proposed Visual District were Richard P. Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Daniel F. Deedy, executive manager of the Marin Real Estate Board; and Carl Brown, representing the Associated Home Builders of Marin.

Nave called it "potentially capricious and an unwarranted invasion of private rights."

The recommendation to set up a Visual District will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for a decision.

The Marin County Planning Commissioners also:

CODE AMENDMENTS — Amended the Marin County Code so that authority to approve master plans and development plans in planned commercial and planned industrial districts would be transferred from the board of supervisors to the planning commission.

VET HOSPITAL — Approved a one-story veterinary hospital for Dr. Carrie A. Corvin of Novato at 15 Hamilton Drive, between Highway 101 and Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Ignacio. The hospital will be located in Hamilton Industrial Park just north of the Marin County Humane Society headquarters.

BORROW PIT — Extended for two years a use permit for a borrow pit on Neil McIsaac's ranch in Bowman Canyon off Novato Boulevard, one mile north of Novato-Hicks Valley Road.

WILTSHIRE SIGN — Approved a 30-square-foot sign on the side of the Wiltshire Towers Motel building to advertise the Master Charge card. County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill said the owner had agreed to take down all extraneous signs from the side of the building in exchange for the new sign.

TIBURON TRAILS — Set 9:30 a.m. Nov. 18 as the time to discuss the study of Tiburon trails and bicycle paths. County Planner Walter H. Horchler, who is working with Tiburon on the trails study, will make the presentation.

NOVATO'S BIG FIREFIGHTER

The tremendous water power of the Novato Fire Department's new $70,000 snorkel truck is shown in this time exposure by Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax taken as the snorkel shot 1,250 gallons of water per minute during a practice drill last night. Capable of extending to an 85-foot height, the aerial unit is run by two men who communicate with the truck driver on an inter-com system. As the firemen practiced last night in an empty field north of Novato, the time exposure turned the lights on the snorkel and on cars on Highway 101 into patterned ribbons of light.

Ross Postal Theft Solved; Girls Cited

The Ross Post Office mystery, involving thefts from boxes over a six-week period, has been solved, police reported today.

Two juvenile girls have been cited to the probation department, police reported.

One of the girls involved, a Ross resident, sought out an officer and told him she and another girl had been into the boxes, police said.

Checks taken in the series of thefts were recovered, police said.

The thefts were made public Oct. 17 after a Ross woman called the Independent-Journal to get information on "a robbery of the Ross Post Office."

Postmaster John Malarin then disclosed that thefts had been going on for six weeks.

Police Chief John Harris said boxes were not actually broken into. He explained the post office boxes are locked by turning two combination dials. When boxholders neglect to turn the dials, the boxes can be "popped open," he said.

Forrest Avenue Bonds Are Sold

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night awarded $148,000 in bonds for the Forrest Avenue assessment district sewer project to Stone and Youngberg Co. of San Francisco on its bid of 5.38 per cent, lowest of five bids.

Ralph C. Noah, district manager, said original amount in bonds was $159,000, but that $11,000 has already been paid by residents in the district.

The bonds include the $92,862 building project awarded to Baldwin Construction Co. of Marysville, and acquisition of reasements and engineering. Construction is about 60 per cent completed, Noah said, and should be finished in three weeks.

Sea Ranch Warns On Beach Access Ballot

By BONNIE BARD

The developers of Sea Ranch yesterday made official their rumored threat to withdraw their offer to the county of a 100-acre park site if Proposition B to establish access corridors to the coast passes on the Nov. 5 Sonoma County ballot.

Going beyond that, Joseph S. McClelland, project director, said that if within seven years the county uses eminent domain powers to establish access corridors, the land would revert back to Sea Ranch possession, regardless of the election outcome. The proposed agreement also sets a time limit of nine years for the county to make improvements to the site.

Proposition B on the Sonoma County ballot establishes public access corridors to the Sonoma coast at minimum intervals of one mile. Proponents of the measure demand the right to public access of beaches and public tideland through private developments such as Sea Ranch, which controls 10 miles of coastal property.

McClelland has said in the past, that if the proposition is approved, his company would probably withdraw its offer of the park at the mouth of the Gualala River. The site includes sandy beaches, picnic and fishing opportunities.

"We want to end the doubt on the sincerity of our offer and want these conditions to be open and on the table," McClelland said.

"I'm sorry you've done it this way," Southern Sonoma Supervisor Leigh S. Shoemaker said. "We can't possibly say today that we can have this park developed in a certain length of time."

Other supervisors agreed, but took Sea Ranch's new offer under study. This written offer complete with maps and the new conditions, replaces an unconditional verbal offer made to the supervisors before conservationists succeeded in overcoming supervisors' opposition and got the access route controversy on the ballot.

The supervisors asked the county counsel's office for an opinion on the legality of accepting the conditional offer.

Dr. William Kortum of Cotati, leader of Citizens Organized to Acquire Access to the Coast, said, "If the county waited seven or eight years to begin acquiring access routes, there certainly would be no agricultural land left. By that time, the fast buck boys would have moved in and we'd have shacks all along the coast."

His organization obtained more than 9,000 petition signatures to get the proposition on the ballot.

Sonoma County Board Of Supervisors Also:

PAYMENT — Approved progress payment on the contract for construction of Petaluma-Valley Ford Road at Tomales Road of $24,296 to the Argonaut Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

AUCTION — Received notice from the state Department of Highways stating land on the west side of Petaluma Boulevard north and south of Magnolia Avenue, Petaluma, will be sold at auction Dec. 17 at 2 p.m.

FOOD PERMITS — Received letter from Dr. Walter Clowers, county heaath officer, suggesting that a $10 across the board fee be charged for inspection of restaurants, food markets, vending machines and food processing plants. He said a survey of neighboring counties suggested the rates would be applicable. He noted Marin County charges $10 across the board, but $5 for vending machines. He said revenue would provide for additional inspections and increase the number of inspections per year. He said this would aid in the development of a grading system similar to that of San Diego County. The board took the information under advisement.

Storer Charges Baar Of Starting Nude Photo Rumor

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer today charged his challenger in next Tuesday's supervisorial election with starting a false rumor that Storer and his wife were responsible for giving the sheriff a copy of the magazine which showed Deputy Weldon C. Travis in a nude pose.

Storer told the Independent-Journal that he expected the rumor to stop when Travis was vindicated by the county personnel commission, but that it still persists.

Storer challenged his opponent, Louis H. Baar, to repeat the rumor "face to face" in a candidates' night 8 p.m. today in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos told the Independent-Journal that no supervisor was aware of the incident until it was reported in the Independent-Journal.

Cash Stolen

A canvas money bag containing $200 in cash and $20 in checks was stolen Friday morning from the kitchen at Sparkie's Coffee Shop, 357 Third Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Water Rate Hearing Is Continued

A public hearing being held by the California Public Utilities Commission on the request of the Inverness Water Co. for almost double present rates was interrupted today while the examining officer went to San Mateo County to hear another case.

PUC officials said that the hearing, which opened yesterday, will continue tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Inverness Yacht Club.

The firm, which is operated by a holding company, The Citizens Utilities Co. of Stamford, Conn., presented arguments yesterday asserting the increases are justified.

Cross-examination is scheduled tomorrow, according to PUC officials, who said that Examiner Carol T. Coffey will take the case under submission at its conclusion and later make a recommendation to the PUC.

The water company is asking a boost from $4.65 to $8.90 for the first 200 cubic feet, from 60 cents to $1.15 for each additional 100 cubic feet up to 600, and from 50 to 95 cents for each additional 100 cubic feet up to 1,000, all in the monthly rate schedule.

RETIRED TEACHER DEFENDS ACTION

Fourth Grade Sausalito Teacher Claims Student Intimidation Forced Resignation

The recent resignation of a teacher in the Sausalito School District, originally reported by District Supt. Phillip W. Schneider to have been on account of illness, was actually brought on in part by an assault upon her by a child, the teacher disclosed yesterday.

Teacher Peggy-Jo Shaw, who said she hasn't been sick at all this year, also told the Independent-Journal that she had been forced to retire as a result of intimidation by Schneider.

She said that in her fourth grade class at Central School "I had some incorrigible students. You have no idea the language these children use and the abuse they afflict on one another.

"Oct. 2 I told one 8-year-old girl she would have to obey, and she attacked me, clawing my arm. She broke the skin and I later had a tetanus shot.

"I told my principal, Robert E. Lee, what had happened and he said that because of the black movement I should not make an issue of it, that I should keep quiet. He even suggested I apologize to the child.

"I certainly didn't want to work under conditions like that, so that evening, I called Mr. Lee and told him I was resigning. A few days later he asked for the resignation in writing and I sent him a telegram."

Lee said today Miss Shaw never told him a child attacked her, that she just called Oct. 2 to tell him to get a substitute, that she would not be in the next day.

Oct. 6, he continued, Miss Shaw indicated she was resigning and he asked her to put it in writing. A telegram came Oct. 15.

"I asked her several times, but she never stated a reason for her resignation," he said. "I was quite satisfied with her work."

Schneider said Lee on Oct. 15 gave him Miss Shaw's telegram, which simply said she was resigning and a letter of explanation would follow.

He called a special meeting for 5 p.m. the next day to consider the resignation. He told the press at that time that Miss Shaw had been ill two months at the end of the spring semester and for 10 days this fall.

Bruce E. Woelfel, president of the Sausalito School board, said that at the special meeting, Lee remarked Miss Shaw had called in ill and Schneider commented that Miss Shaw had been sick the last two months of last semester.

Woelfel said the three board members present, with James E. Muldoon and David E. Freedheim were absent, accepted the resignation without comment.

But Miss Shaw said she had not been sick one day this year, that she had a personal leave of absence to take care of family business in the spring.

The superintendent said a spcial meeting was called to accept the resignation, though a regular board meeting was scheduled for only five days later, because "we wanted to accept the resignation as quickly as we could to get a new teacher.

"That class had not had a regular teacher for a couple of weeks and we had a fine young man on the string that we wanted to hire."

Miss Shaw said she would be sending her letter of explanation shortly. In it she said she states her qualifications as a kindergarten teacher and her objections to being transferred this fall to the fourth grade.

She does not mention the incident with the child in the letter. Neither had she previously mentioned it to Schneider, she said, because she thought it wouldn't do any good.

The incident, she said, was just a kind of final straw. But what really made her unhappy was the transfer.

She remarked she had acquired 60 units in early childhood education above her Bachelor of Science degree, had taught kindergarten for 22 years, nine of them in Sausalito, and never taught any other grade, and was arbitrarily assigned to teach fourth grade.

When asked why Miss Shaw was reassigned, Schneider said, "We did it just because we wanted to." And then added "People, including superintendents, can stay in one job too long."

Miss Shaw commented, "Schneider said at an open board meeting some time ago he was going to clear out many teachers. He has. If not through retirement, through intimidation."

NO REASONS LEARNED FOR AX ATTACK

Circumstances surrounding the assault on former Larkspur Councilman Henry Brocco, who said his wife struck him with a hatchet, remained a mystery today.

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said he was still unable to question Mrs. Lorraine Brocco, 40, who remained unconscious and in critical condition in Marin General Hospital from a pill overdose.

Clark said he planned to talk again with Brocco, who earlier could give no reason for the assault.

Mrs. Keating To Retire As Librarian

Mrs. Virginia V. Keating, who has been with the Marin County Library for 38 years, will retire at the end of this year, she announced today to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

She asked that her assistant, Bruce Bajema, be named to succeed her as county librarian. Bajema, former county librarian in Mendocino County, became assistant to Mrs. Keating last January.

The county supervisors asked the county administrator to prepare a resolution commending Mrs. Keating for her "excellent and imaginative service."

The supervisors said they will decide next Tuesday on the successor to Mrs. Keating.

Mrs. Keating joined the county library staff in January of 1931, became county librarian in 1935.

When she first joined the staff, the county library was located in the basement of the old courthouse in San Rafael, then moved to Coleman School. Since 1962, the county library has been located on the fourth floor of the Civic Center.

Guilty Plea Made To Market Burglary

Armed Bandits Take $1,550 In Greenbrae

Two gunmen, each with several days growth of beard, yesterday calmly held the assistant manager of a Greenbrae bowling alley at gunpoint while they scooped an estimated $1,550 in cash and checks from an open floor safe.

They then fled after forcing the victim to lie on the office floor.

Larkspur police said the robbers, each about 24 years old, entered the office of Greenbrae Lanes, 101 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, at 1:58 p.m.

BOTH ARMED

Each drew what appeared to be .38-caliber revolvers, officers said, and confronted the assistant manager, Robert C. Hipes, 35, who was alone in the office.

They ordered him into an adjacent room where the safe is located, Hipes told newsen, then began packing the loot in a small blue zippered bag they brought with them.

He said the pair, "both a lot calmer than I was," left only a single $1 bill and several rolls of pennies. The loot was estimated today by Manager Fred Riesenman at more than $1,000 in cash, and the remainder in checks.

The gunmen then ordered Hipes to lie on the office floor, with one according to Hipes, commenting, "We are leaving now and will pass by your window. If I see you I'll put a bullet through the glass. You better count to one hundred real slow."

WATCHED THEM FLEE

He said he waited only until he believed they were gone, arose and saw them running outside. He then phoned police.

Hipes said the lanes were full of College of Marin bowling class students but no one else apparently was involved in the heist. He estimated the robbery took only about 90 seconds, though "it seemed like an hour and a half."

He said the pair, each about 5 feet, 9 inches tall and wearing slacks and shirts, were dressed neither like hippies nor businessmen.

Barr Office Opens

Campaign headquarters in the Corte Madera-Larkspur area for Louis H. (Bud) Baar, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Fourth District, have opened at 201 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. Baar is seeking to unseat the incumbent supervisor, Thomas T. Storer.

Way To Avoid Nasty Squabble: Don't Attempt A Foolish Bid

If you want to start a nasty squabble at the bridge table, don't bother to make a foolish bid or play. Most players can take such mistakes in stride. The best way to lose friends and infuriate people is to make a doubtful claim.

TAKES ACE

Declarer took the ace of hearts and the top trumps and then led the jack of spades. East took the queen of trumps, and South spread his cards face up on the table. "You can take the ace of clubs if you're quick about it," he announced. "I'm throwing my losers on the diamonds."

After an uneasy pause East said, "Play the hand out." And he returned the ten of diamonds to dummy's queen. Now South looked thoughtfully at East, and a great light dawned on him. He tried to lead a heart from dummy, intending to ruff and lead a few high trumps to make sure that the trumps were all out.

EAST OBJECTS

"You can't lead that heart," East objected. "You said you were going to throw your losers on the diamonds, and that's exactly what you have to do."

"I will," South promised. "But, first, I'm going to draw trumps. I didn't say when I was going to play the diamonds, did I?"

They're still fighting about that hand. The laws of the game give the defenders the right to settle what South left unsaid — exactly when he would play the diamonds — but South says that he plays bridge with friends, not with lawyers.

NO ARGUMENT

If South had played a few tricks more, there could be no argument about whether he had miscounted the trumps. South's claim put the opponents in an impossible position: if they accepted the claim they would be giving up a hand that they probably would have beaten if South had merely played on; but if they objected to the claim, they would alert South to the fact that a trump was still out. It saves time and tempers to play most of a hand out before claiming the rest of the tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes:

You hold:
♠ Q 8 6 4
♥ K 7 6 3
♦ 10
♣ A 10 6 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: With two or three four-card suits, bid the cheapest of your suits in response to partner's opening bid. If partner had opened with one club, and your clubs and diamonds were exchanged, you would respond with one diamond. If partner fits your suit, he will raise; otherwise, he will bid another suit and you will have the chance to raise his new suit.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 29, the 303rd day of 1968 with 63 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1918 units of the German fleet at Kiel began a mutiny in demand for peace negotiations with the allies.

In 1923 Turkey became a republic.

In 1929 the stock market collapse continued, billions of dollars of open market values were lost and the stage was set for the great depression.

In 1940 Secretary of War Henry Stimson, drew a number from a fish bowl—and the first peace-time draft was started.

A Thought for the Day: Willa Cather said, "I like trees because they seem more resigned to the way they have to live than other things do."

TV FILM CENTER

Another Boom Hits Sausalito

By MARION DIETRICH

Better smile if you are in Sausalito these days. You may be on camera.

Two television networks in the last week filmed the Sausalito Police Department conducting one of its human relations study sessions and in action about town.

Two TV channels will film the police again this week. Last week a Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer crew was looking for a houseboat for a scene in a television feature.

Entitled "Houseboat," it concerns a returned foreign correspondent whose wife has died and who decides to live with his three children on a houseboat — with a housekeeper quartered in the wheelhouse.

It will be presented to the TV networks and, if one of them likes it, could become a series with parts of Sausalito on screen every week.

The pilot film will have shots of a houseboat, the exterior of a Sausalito TV store and a delicatessen. The city will appear in the background in some footage.

"The scriptwriters visited Sausalito in the summer and liked the area," said Wally Samson, unit production manager, explaining the location choice. "Beside there are more houseboats here; there are darn little down south."

Samson, who is responsible for lining up all the physical properties for the production, cased the Sausalito waterfront three weeks ago for a houseboat, he spotted a likely one and negotiated with the owner, J. Stuart McCorkindale for its use.

McCorkindale, who is a business agent for Reardon Construction Co., houseboat builders, was living on the boat which was berthed at Kappas Yacht Harbor.

He rented another boat to live on and has a contract with Paramount that if the pilot film develops into a series, they may continue to use his former home.

The houseboat, a 2 - year - old paddle wheeler named Cotton Blossom, was readied for its role at Jerry's Yacht Service in Marinship.

Shutters have been added, a railing, a staircase and a crow's nest. They are permanent construction.

McCorkindale likes the changes. He frequently checks on progress. "I haven't missed a day yet. I can't wait 'til its all finished. I happen to love the boat," he said with a proud smile.

Samson, whose strength is resourcefulness, had to round up two neighbor houseboats for Cotton Blossom and a fleet of six sailboats for background atmosphere.

And he had to build a dock and pier. They were constructed next to the Spinnaker restaurant and will be ripped out when filming ends.

"We have to shoot the scenes in a clear area," he said. It will appear a far cry from the "Little Hong Kong" the Marin supervisors have been complaining about elsewhere.

Samson started in the construction department at Paramount 32 years ago. In his present job he travels all over.

His last assignment he was in a tiny coal town in Pennsylvania. The one before that was with Bob Hope in Puerto Rico. He still finds every job difficult.

"Nothing's easy," he sighed. "We go into an area like this where they are not used to our operation and we have to improvise or have something built. Nothing is easy."

Samson is using mostly local labor. But for one job he called the studio — to send a painter who knew how to make fresh, raw lumber look old.

He also arranges for the housing and feeding of the stars and production crew, and even for a beauty salon where the company hairdresser can work.

This week he may be called on for anything. One actress once poked her head out of her dressing room at 11 p.m. and asked him to fill a medical prescription for her.

If things continue as they have been going, there may be several men like Samson around Sausalito. And the tiny town, already supersaturated with tourists, might become even more famous.

Ray Reported Ready To Stress Decoy Role

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Nashville Tennessean says James Earl Ray, accused of the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., will claim he was "promised '$12,000 to $15,000' to lead police away from the real killers and become the lure in the greatest manhunt in history."

Ray's biographer says the man accused of the sniper slaying of King in Memphis, Tenn., last April 4 was tempted out of a Canadian hideout months before the killing by a $12,000 offer to make a mystery mission to Birmingham, Ala.

The Tennessean, in yesterday's edition, said Ray will claim that he was only a "decoy" in a plot to kill King in answer to the state of Tennessee's contention that Ray acted as a lone assassin.

Ray, an escapee from the Missouri State Prison, goes on trial in Shelby County Criminal Court at Memphis Nov. 12 on a murder charge.

The Tennessean story, a copyright dispatch by reporter Jim Squires from Memphis,quoted "sources close to the case" as to the line of Ray's defense.

The newspaper said numerous sources have indicated "the defense will claim Ray played only a small part in a master plot so complex and far-reaching that even Ray does not know who masterminded it."

Apparently, no effort will be made by the defense to show who masterminded the alleged conspiracy, the paper said.

The Tennessean story said the defense theory is that Ray's movements in Memphis were designed to set him up as the killer to leave a false trail while someone else shot King.

Huie said Ray, who has been writing autobiographical notes in his jail cell in Memphis for use by Huie in a book, told him the money offer to leave Canada came from "a man whom Ray calls Raoul and describes to me as being a blond Latin about 35, and whom Ray took to be a seaman."

Bagley Gets Expo Probe Assignment

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A special legislative committee gate reports that top officials of the financially troubled California Exposition met secretly the night before the show was put under full state control.

Chairman Harvey Johnson, D - El Monte, of the Assembly Government Organization Committee, yesterday named Republican Assemblymen William Bagley, San Rafael, and Alan Pattee, Salinas, to the special subcommittee.

He said the legislators will try to determine if the state open meeting laws were violated when several members of the Cal Expo executive committee met Sept. 29 at the exclusive Del Paso Country Club for a "private party."

The next day, the executive committee, parent of the Expo nonprofit board of directors, abolished the board and assumed its functions to design, construct and operate the exposition. The action was taken with almost no debate and committee members worked from prepared documents.

A STAR IS BORN — Cotton Blossom was just another floating home in Kappas Yacht Harbor north of Sausalito until Hollywood discerned her star quality. Readying her for a television series, to be called "Houseboat," are Jerry Cuff (in crow's nest) and Norman Johnson of Jerry's Yacht Service with Armand Roncace (right). LAACP's Legal Talent Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — The legal staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has resigned in support of a staff member who was dismissed for writing an article critical of the Supreme Court's civil-rights decisions.

Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel, says he and his staff quit because the NAACP national board "insists that its lawyers conform to its kind of orthodoxy."

The staff resigned yesterday in a dispute over the board's dismissal of Lewis M. Steel, an associate counsel. Steel was ousted for having written "Nine Men in Black Who Think White," which appeared Oct. 13 in The New York Times magazine.

The article said the court had struck down only "symbols of racism" and had overlooked "ingrained practices" of white supremacy.

Tam High Trustees Elect New President

Gloria Melbostad, clerk and acting president of Tamalpais High School District since the resignation of Dr. John C. Siemens, last night was unanimously elected by the district board as president.

Bette Wallace was unanimously elected clerk. Both motions were made by William B. Lewis, trustee who said he felt the reorganization should be effected immediately.

Dr. Siemens resigned Sept. 8 following a heart attack.

The board heard a written report from Robert Corlett, chairman of the district's citizens architectural advisory committee, that outside corridors at the proposed San Geronimo High School might be too narrow.

Also questioned, Corlett said, was the feasibility of Greylight glass for school classrooms, a glass which permits seeing out but not in. The board agreed these matters should be taken up if the $10.9 million bond issue passes next Tuesday and the construction of the school becomes a reality.

The Tamalpais High School Board Also:

CLOSED CAMPUS — Received a letter from Alfred J. Malvino, Larkspur mayor, stating that he was withdrawing a proposed meeting between the council and the board to discuss the possibility of an open campus at Redwood High until later. The board has indicated the campus will remain closed this year, at least.

MEETING — Agreed that Trustees Bette Wallace and Berton C. Jacobson should meet with representatives of the County School District Organization to discuss an assessment and evaluation study of the district's program, including a review of resources, goals, programs and capabilities of the district and elementary districts within the high school district.

SENSITIVITY PROGRAM — Received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Finn Lea of 102 Inez Place, Mill Valley, expressing concern that the proposed building of a student center at Tamalpais High might revive an experiment in sensitivity training at the school. Mrs. Wallace said the proposed building has no connection with the training.

TEACHERS — Heard a request by William D. Wilkinson, dean of student activities and president of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association, that he be permitted to attend board interviews of candidates for the existing trustee vacancy. He also requested that the board accept certain association guidelines for selecting the candidate. Trustees took the matters under study.

CLAIM — Rejected a claim for $372 back pay by Edwin A. Reed, former custodian now residing in Riverside.

TRANSPORTATION — Tentatively scheduled Nov. 6 for a meeting of Lewis and Jacobson with representatives of the People Against Racism Committee to discuss ways of financing transportation of Marin City students to high school.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Carolyn Attkisson to teach English and social studies at Tamalpais High. Her salary is to be determined. Hired Lee DeWitt to teach piano at Tamalpais High's adult evening school at $6.50 an hour.

ARCHITECTURAL FEES — Approved payment of $4,255 to Crawford and Banning, architects, of San Rafael, for revision work on the design of the proposed Tiburon High School.

Four Seeking Dr. Siemens' Tam High Board Position

Four persons thus far have announced their candidacy for the Tamalpais High School District board post vacated by Dr. John C. Siemens, district officials announced last night.

Deadline for filing for the position is 5 p.m. Nov 7.

Candidates are George C. Stone, a clinical psychologist residing at Bolinas Road and Fresa Avenue, Fairfax; Brice Pace, a retired Army Colonel and present dean at San Rafael Military Academy, of 283 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax; David D. Ring, an attorney living at 1860 Mountain View Drive, Tiburon; and Frank L. Miller, management consultant, of 75 Corte Dorado, Greenbrae.

Dr. Siemens resigned Sept. 8 after suffering a heart attack. His term expires in April 1971 and must be filled by Dec. 7.

District officials said interviews of all candidates will be scheduled following the filing deadline.

Commuters Will Be Given Span Questionnaires

Questionnaires will be handed out at the Golden Gate Bridge plaza between 6 and 9 a.m. tomorrow to about 300 commuters to get information on commute destination.

The Marin County Transit District will distribute the questionnaires at random to 300 motorists and bus passengers.

Seymour Kaskin, district general manager, said the test will be the forerunner of a full-scale study Nov. 13, when questionnaires will be given to every vehicle going into San Francisco between 6 and 9 a.m. More than 30,000 questionnaires have been prepared.

"Our goal is to get a complete breakdown of where people go in San Francisco," said Kaskin. He said information will be used in designing a new commuter system.

Three Marijuana Counts Are Denied

Ronald T. Faircloth, 24, of Kentfield, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to two charges of selling marijuana and one of possessing marijuana in Kentfield May 15.

Jury trial on the charges was scheduled for March 31.

Music Teachers Oppose Prop. 9

The Marin County Music Educators Association has gone on record in opposition to Proposition 9—The Watson Amendment for tax revision.

"It is our strong belief and fear that if passed, Proposition 9 would not only cripple the schools and their students' education for years to come, but would also drastically limit the services and protection from other local government agencies," he said.

Sent To Napa

Joseph Arthur Jackson, 55, of 9 Fernwood Drive, San Rafael, was sent to Napa State Hospital Sunday night after being treated at Marin General Hospital for an overdose of pills, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Watson Tax Cut Opposed By Tiburon

The Tiburon City Council last night unanimously opposed Proposition 9, the controversial property tax reform measure on the Nov. 5 ballot and endorsed Propositions 1A and 7, two other tax related measures. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 1.)

Proposition 9, also known as the Watson amendment, would limit property taxes to 1 per cent of the market value after July 1, 1969.

The measure would also shift all education and welfare costs from property taxes to an unspecified source of financing over a five-year period and limit bond financing of any one taxing district to 5 per cent of its assessed valuation.

The proposition has been strongly opposed by most cities and other taxing agencies which depend upon property taxes for revenue.

Proposition 1A is the state Legislature's answer to Proposition 9. It provides homeowners with a one-time $70 rebate on their 1968-69 property taxes and gives an annual $750 exemption from property taxes.

The measure also doubles the standard income tax exemption for renters, eliminates personal property taxes and reduces by 15 per cent the tax paid by businessmen on their inventories.

Proposition 7, endorsed by the council as a companion measure to Proposition 1A, authorizes the use of state funds by local governments for strictly local purposes.

The Tiburon City Council also:

NUISANCE — Declared that a bee keeping operation at 10 St. Bernard Lane by Ted W. Steiger was not a nuisance since the number of bee hives on the property had been reduced to the maximum number allowed, eight.

ABATEMENT — Tabled a nuisance abatement hearing for drainage problems in Blacke's Pasture at Tiburon Boulevard and Reed Ranch Road, owned by Thomas and Gerald Connell, since the drainage has been corrected.

AGENDA — Continued the remaining items on its agenda to 8 p.m. Nov. 13 in city hall because of the late hour. The regular meeting was changed from Nov. 11 because of the Veteran's Day holiday.

Stag Film Put On Homes' Cables

The shocking movie early Sunday lasted 15 minutes, according to some estimates.

Chuck Jenkins, chief engineer of Coachella Valley Television, a cable service, said he had determined somebody tapped into its cable. He said the film apparently was shown in this way, by someone with very sophisticated electronics equipment.

Jenkins said his firm's equipment was not used. The cable service has about 10,000 subscribers.

110 Day Sentence On Check Charges

Donald Lee Johnson of Tiburon was sentenced to 110 days in jail and placed on two years of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for cashing bad checks from July 8 through 22 in Tiburon.

Judge Harold J. Haley told Johnson that, as a condition of probation, he may drink no alcoholic beverages.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Complications Add Danger To Simple Strep Infections

VAN DELLEN

Strep throat infections are painful, but it is the possible complications that make the disease so serious. but it is the possible complications Rheumatic fever and Bright's disease are the most notorious of these aftereffects. It is for this reason physicians recommend a throat culture whenever strep throat is suspected.

The beta-hemolytic streptococci are most likely to produce complications. These organisms can be identified within 24 hours and, if treatment is begun immediately, the risk of a kidney or heart disorder is minimized.

ANTIBIOTICS, such as penicillin, or the tetracyclines are the best remedies. However, the microbe will not be eradicated unless the drug is taken for 10 days.

Most individuals with sore throat or nasal involvement are like to blame a virus. In the absence of a flu epidemic, there is a better chance that bacteria are responsible. Streptococcal infections usually develop suddenly along with chills and fever. The temperature may reach 103 degrees Fahrenheit.

Muscles and joints ache and so does the head. Soreness makes swallowing difficult. The throat is red and may be studded with white or yellow flecks. Glands in the neck are swollen and tender to the touch.

BED REST is advisable when the person is feverish. An ice collar may relieve some of the soreness. But, for easing over-all discomfort, nothing works better than aspirin or APC powders. Drink plenty of fluids; iced fruit juices are preferred because the cold soothes and the beverage is nourishing. An antibiotic is prescribed when the throat culture yields the bacterial culprit. In addition, the drug must be taken for 10 days; when discontinued too soon, recurrence is possible.

Anyone with a history of rheumatic fever (RF) is fearful of sore throat. One attack of RF does not confer immunity and each strep infection is a potential cause for a recurrence.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

FLU VACCINE

S. R. writes. Is there any danger of a person developing a severe reaction to flu vaccine?

REPLY

This possibility exists, especially in persons who are hypersensitive to egg products. Eggs are used in the preparation of flu vaccines and the products contain traces of chick embryo. Mild reactions such as fever and aching may occur from other components in the vaccine but these symptoms are not serious and are easily controlled with aspirin.

HEARING AND DIET

A. B. writes: Someone told me about a woman who regained her hearing by going on a special diet. Growing deafness is jeopardizing my job, and I would like to know more about this diet.

REPLY

So would we.iImparied hearing is unrelated to diet, hence I am skeptical. The only exception is the rare person who is allergic to certain foods which create hives that block the eustachian tubes leading to the ears.

ELECTRIC TRANSFORMERS

B.R. writes: We have earnest money on a house that is located near an electric power relay station. Would there be any dangerous radiation emitted from the transformer?

REPLY

There is no radiation from these transformers. Consequently, you need not worry.

SKIN CRACKED

A reader writes: Can a person do something for cracked skin? My fingers are so irritated, they hurt.

REPLY

The first step is to avoid soap and water. Apply a suitable hand cream or lotion and protect the skin with a silicone product and gloves. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on skin cracks (fissures).

DROPSY AND HUMIDITY

A reader writes: If a person has dropsy, would moving to Arizona, which has a dry climate, keep water from collecting in the tissues?

REPLY

Stay put! Humidity has no influence on the causes of dropsy and the accumulation of water in the tissues. There are many excellent diuretic products that should help.

BLOOD IRRADIATION

L. P. writes: What is blood irradiation and what does it accomplish?

REPLY

Many years ago a special apparatus was used to expose blood to ultraviolent rays. The manufacturer asserted that this irradiation killed viruses in the blood and recommended the use of it to treat viral diseases such as polio or hepatitis. Results were inconclusive.

Dep. Atty. Gen. Clifton R. Jeffers filed suit in superior court charging that the firm, Angroshair, was "inducing the public into purchasing useless hair and scalp treatments, engaging in fraudulent and misleading advertising" and violating California business codes.

The suit asks a civil penalty of $2,500 for each act of false and misleading advertising.

The firm also was charged with practicing physical therapy without a license, engaging in cosmetology without a license and operating cosmetological establishments without a license.

TV REVIEW

This And That From A Columnist

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I guess the most mail I ever received about a column came after I dared to offer some slight criticism of the Dick Clark Show. Next to that, the most mail came after a column in which I dared to offer some slight criticism of "Ben Casey."

Columns reporting the simple facts of the energence of Negroes in television have brought anti-Negro letters, mostly from the North. Southern letter-writers seem much more sophisticated about what is happening. Columns about Barbra Streisand specials have brought anti-Semitic letters about that lady. Favorable columns about Frank Sinatra shows have brought letters aking whether I am on his payroll.

All such hate mail is immediately dispatched to the waste basket. I do my best to answer promptly the courteous mail, much of it. And recently, most of this letter-answering has had to do with a recent column in which I reviewed the two televised, nerve-shattinger "soul" versions of "The Star-Spangled Banner," by Aretha Franklin at the Democratic Convention and Jose Feliciano at the World Series.

You see, here in Los Angeles we are very conscious about anthems. San Francisco, for instance, has had great songs written about it. But nobody has yet come up with a whopper about Los Angeles, although people keep trying.

As for "The Star-Spangled Banner," everybody knows it isn't the easiest anthem to sing. So it's no surprise that people also keep trying to come up with inspiring patriotic songs. For example, one of our letters came from a lady named Mrs. Fred Harrison in Rockford, Ill.

Mrs. Harrison asks, "How about a new patriotic song set to the tune of 'The Battle Hymn of the Republic' which would be easily sung by everyone?"—and, instead of just wondering about it, she included the lyrics. Music, Mr. Sousa, please:

"America, America—the nation of the free!

From the mountains and the valleys to the deep and rolling sea.

We pledge her our allegiance that forever she may be—America—the free!

"America, the glorious—the country of the brave!

Her gallant sons victorious—our heritage to save—

The stars and stripes of freedom's land—so proudly may it wave! America—the brave!

"America, America—defender of the right!

"Oh, may our nation ever be united under God!

His truth is known eternally wherever men have trod,

Well, anyway, you can see that Miss Franklin and Mr. Feliciano have, if nothing else, started a lot of people thinking about the national anthem again, and that's not bad. As for myself, I've been working on a fight song for the United Nations.

BART Decries Lack Of Cash For Trains

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bay Area Rapid Transit District officials say they foresee a time when the system will have several stations completed —but no trains.

BART has been pleading for months for legislative help with a $144 million deficit in a $700 million budget approved by voters in a bond election several years ago. Rising prices now make the figure $146 million.

At the present time, with available funds, it will be possible to finish the Montgomery, Powell and Civic Center stations in San Francisco and to build the Berkeley subway, official said.

But there are no plans to continue the Market street subway work, East Bay segments, most of the track and the trains themselves, officials said.

Market street, San Francisco's main thoroughfare, has been plowed through the middle for more than a year in digging that has disrupted all traffic except streetcars and buses.

BART now has a list of 89 contracts needed to finish the system. None can be awarded, said cost engineer Quincy Brooks, unless BART gets an additional $146 million.

An 11-month-old San Rafael infant was treated Sunday at Kaiser Hospital after he accidentally poisoned himself by swallowing crystals from a toilet bowl deoderizer, according to police.

Todd Mizoni, of 8 Charlotte Drive, was spotted by his mother, Carol, with the cap to the deoderizer in his mouth, the hospital reported, and rushed to the hospital at 3:25 p.m.

Two U.C. Student Leaders Begin Fast

BERKELEY (UPI) — Two student leaders at the University of California began a fast yesterday, but that was about the only definite decision in the continuing turmoil on the Berkeley campus.

A call for a general strike brought mixed reactions — and plans for another mass meeting tonight in an effort to reach some decision on how to achieve action on a list of student demands.

The main issue on the 28,000-student campus is a controversial course on racism featuring Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver. Nearly 200 persons, demanding that credit be given for the course, were arrested in two separate demonstrations last week.

Student body president Charles Palmer, 22, and Konstantin Berlandt, 22, editor of the campus daily newspaper, announced yesterday they were beginning a fast to "re-establish communication" with university administrators.

The strike plan was supported by about 80 per cent of about 4,000 students at a noon rally yesterday. Some who opposed it organized 100 "talk sessions" on campus to discuss the continuing controversy with the board of regents.

Students Drop Antiteacher Plan; School Chief Angered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Polytechnic High School students voted overwhelmingly yesterday to withdraw a demand that 20 of the school's 103 teachers be fired.

The 20 had signed a letter charging "pimping, prostitution and drugs" among the students, who last Friday demonstrated 800 strong against the charges.

The students also voted yesterday to continue negotiations with the administration over other demands such as more black teachers and courses, cafeteria menus, and rehabilitation of the auditorium.

Meanwhile, city superintendent of schools Robert I. Jenkins said any eruptions of violence would result in expulsion.

He spoke yesterday in the wake of the Friday march.

Saying a "small group" was to blame, Jenkins said: "We cannot permit further disorders in San Francisco."

Students not attending classes will be judged truant and called for appropriate disciplinary action, he said.

Non-students who incite pupils and threaten teachers will be apprehended and turned over to police.

Officers, he added, will be called in whenever necessary to deal with marchers and demonstrators.

"One of the first reponsibilities of our schools is the development of good citizenship," Jenkins said. "This includes learning the difference between anarchy and responsible freedom.

"Without the development of self discipline which in itself requires appropriate disciplinary action when necessary, our freedoms will become a mockery."

Apartment Looted Of $130 In Cash

A sable boa valued at $130 and $130 in cash were stolen last week from the apartment of Irene Cowell, 155 Canal Street, Apt. 16, San Rafael police said yesterday.

The theft took place between Wednesday and Friday, police said.

Buses Looted

Nine dry chemical fire extinguishers valued at $200 were stolen Friday or Saturday from school buses parked at San Rafael High School garage, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Ike's Army Boss Brucker Dies At 74

DETROIT (AP) — Former Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker died yesterday after collapsing from an apparent heart attack while attending a Detroit Economic Club luncheon. He was 74.

It was Brucker who supervised National Guard intervention in Little Rock, Ark., in 1957 to help desegrate that city's schools, and it was he who affirmed U.S. intention to remain in Berlin in 1958 in the face of demands by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that U. S troops be withdrawn.

As general counsel to the Defense Department Brucker appeared at the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954 and often laughed when the late U.S. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., asked insinuating questions.

"I'm sorry," Brucker would say in mock apology to McCarthy, "but it seems funny to me."

A native of Saginaw, Mich., Brucker was the son of a lawyer who served as a Democratic congressman from 1897 to 1898.

When he graduated from the University of Michigan Law School in 1916, Brucker joined the Michigan National Guard and fought in an expedition in Mexico against Pancho Villa.

FEAR

You probably have been scared by the campaign against Proposition 9. Vested interests are for Proposition 1A, perpetuating their license to steal. Large land owners (such as the Kern Land Co.) are against Proposition 9. Did you know that come 1970 school districts can set their own tax rates?

I'm for progressive taxation—Proposition 9.

Extradition Hearing Set For Carl Black

OAKLAND (UPI) — Federal charges against former Oakland accountant Carl M. Black were dismissed by U.S. Commissioner Cameron Wolf yesterday so Black could be extradited by Nevada to face murder charges.

Black, 48, was arrested here Oct. 19 on a federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. The extradition hearing was scheduled for this afternoon before Berkeley Municipal Judge George Brunn.

Las Vegas authorities have charged Black and two other men with murder in the shotgun slaying of Ralph Alsup, 53, a former business agent for the Las Vegas local of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union. Alsup was killed Jan. 16, 1966, near his ranch home near Las Vegas.

Also charged with the killing are former Sacramento painting contractor Norman Call and Thomas Hanley, a Casino Dealers Union official from Las Vegas.

At a preliminary hearing for Hanley, who has been bound over for trial, a witness said he saw Hanley give Black $5,000 to "get rid of" Alsup.

Call and another Sacramento painting contractor, Max Ward, are currently serving life terms at San Quentin Prison for the shotgun slaying of Dow Wilson, a San Francisco Painters Union official. He was killed about three months after the Alsup shooting.

Black was acquitted on charges of conspiracy in the Wilson murder and subsequently found innocent by a federal court on charges of embezzling $63,474 from the Painters Union.

Shoulder Bruised In Auto Collision

Henry Rossi, 31, of 3451 Broderick Street, San Francisco, suffered a bruised shoulder when his car struck a parked car in front of 74 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, at 10:45 p.m. Saturday, Belvedere police reported.

Rossi's car struck a car owned by I. E. Levine of 74 San Rafael Avenue, police said. Rossi was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Grand Juror Gun Waving Punished

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A municipal court judge has fined a grand jury member $160 for illegally possessing a loaded automatic pistol.

Judge Joseph P. Kennedy also gave juror George H. Russell, 60, a suspended 90-day jail sentence. Russell pleaded guilty Friday and the decision became public yesterday.

On June 11 he was arrested outside a Post Street tavern after police said he threatened to shoot a bartender who had ousted him on grounds that he was drunk.

Russell was chairman of the grand jury committee investigating conditions in the offices of the district attorney, the city attorney, the public defender and the sheriff's department.

Teeners Booked As Dope Suspects

Five teen-agers were cited to Juvenile Hall for the possession of marijuana at 9:30 p.m. Friday, according to Novato police reports.

An anonymous caller told police he thought the teen-agers were smoking marijuana in a field near 699 Tamalpais Avenue. Police found two girls, both 15 years old, and three boys, one 13 and two 14 years old in the field.

They also found seven partially smoked cigarettes and a plastic bag all thought to be marijuana, according to police reports.

Olympics Over, So Track Feud Begins Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the passing of the Olympics has gone the short peace that prevailed in the track feud between the nation's colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union, and the war is on again.

The U.S. Track and Field Federation, an arm of the colleges, has plans to sponsor as many as seven major indoor meets this winter in defiance of the AAU.

Any college athlete running in an AAU meet is threatened with loss of the rest of his campus eligibility, starting this weekend.

"Our stand has become more solidified than it has ever been before," said USTFF President E. Wayne Cooley.

The colleges had declared a truce last April in their long war with the AAU so the feud would not interfere with the Olympic Games in Mexico City. The truce runs out Thursday.

The AAU has been the traditional governing body of open track meets in this country. But the colleges, which supply most of the athletes, argue that they have a responsibility to determine whether proper conditions are met for off-campus competition by their students.

A two-year U.S. Senate effort to work out a compromise was spurned by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the USTFF last spring because the proposed settlement would have left the AAU in control.

The NCAA has announced that, effective Friday, any school sending athletes to an outside meet not certified through the USTFF will be penalized. And the schools will be expected to strip the college eligibility from any athlete competing on his own in defiance of the NCAA ban.

At the same time, the AAU long has threatened to take the international amateur eligibility away from any athlete who enters an unapproved USTFF meet.

Cooley, of Des Moines, Iowa, shrugged, "They have been throwing threats about idly for years. They threaten, but don't do anything about it."

The USTFF is already heading into a wide-ranging, major indoor track season.

The college-backed organization has scheduled the Astrodome Relays in Houston Jan. 24-25, plans a National Invitational meet in Madison Square Garden in New York Feb. 7, will sanction the Herald-Examiner Track Classic in Los Angeles Feb. 15, and has slated its own National Indoor Championships for the Milwaukee Journal meet March 8.

Cooley expressed confidence that the top athletes past the college stage will have to ignore the AAU and come to the USTFF.

"You're only talking about a handful of athletes. They'll want to go where the action is," Cooley said.

A special Sports Arbitration Baord set up by the Senate in 1965 and appointed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey failed to solve the fight earlier this year.

Efforts by the Senate Commerce Committee to enforce a permanent peace dwindled away during the summer, but the issue could be revived when Congress returns in January.

Cerrudo's Rooters Can Cheer Him On

COUNTIN' GREENERY — This week's Lucky International Open Golf Tournamnet at San Francisco's Harding Park should attract a goodly number of Marin's pasture pool partisans because of the presence in the field of Ron Cerrudo, the 23-year-old rookie pro from San Rafael.

Ron hasn't won any major tournaments on the PGA tour to date, but he's coming along. Two weekends ago the handsome youngster with the mod haircut pocketed $5,150 for a third place finish in the Sahara Open. He added another 1,000 bananas to his financial crop the other day.

I haven't peeked at Ron's bankbook lately, but I believe he's doing quite well in the loot department, even better than expected.

When Ron turned pro he told me his goal in his first year on the tour was to place in the top 60 on the PGA money list. He estimated that to be about $20,000, which is not bad for playing a game all year.

He'll Exceed His Goal

Ron's third at Sahara and a $7,000-plus payoff at Cleveland during the summer have been his richest tournaments and he has consistently been in the payline all year. It looks like he'll far exceed his $20,000 goal.

It's a good thing, too. When Cerrudo turned pro he estimated his tour expenses would run about $300 per week. Well, since that time Ron got married, so the expenses have increased. Considerably, I would imagine.

Cerrudo's third place finish at Sahara was accomplished by shooting four consecutive sub-par rounds, the first time, I believe, that he's managed that consistency as a pro.

Thus, he appears ready to score a major victory and it would be just dandy if he could do it in San Francisco before home town fans.

His Fans Need A Name

And I think we Marinites should form a rooting section for the local boy. This is the latest fad in pro golf. Arnold Palmer started it with "Arnie's Army." Then came "Jack's Pack" for Nicklaus while the religious Billy Casper developed a following known as "Casper's Crusaders."

Tom Weiskopf's "Dumkopfs" and then along came Lee Trevino's dramatic triumph in the U.S. Open. Look, Ma, "Lee's Fleas."

Now, in anticipation of Cerrudo's first major triumph, we should think of a name to call his followers. I-J sportswriter Gary Tischler offers "Cerrudo's Barracudas" but I think that stinks as too fishy. Another suggestion is "Ron's Raiders."

If you have any ideas please forward them to me.

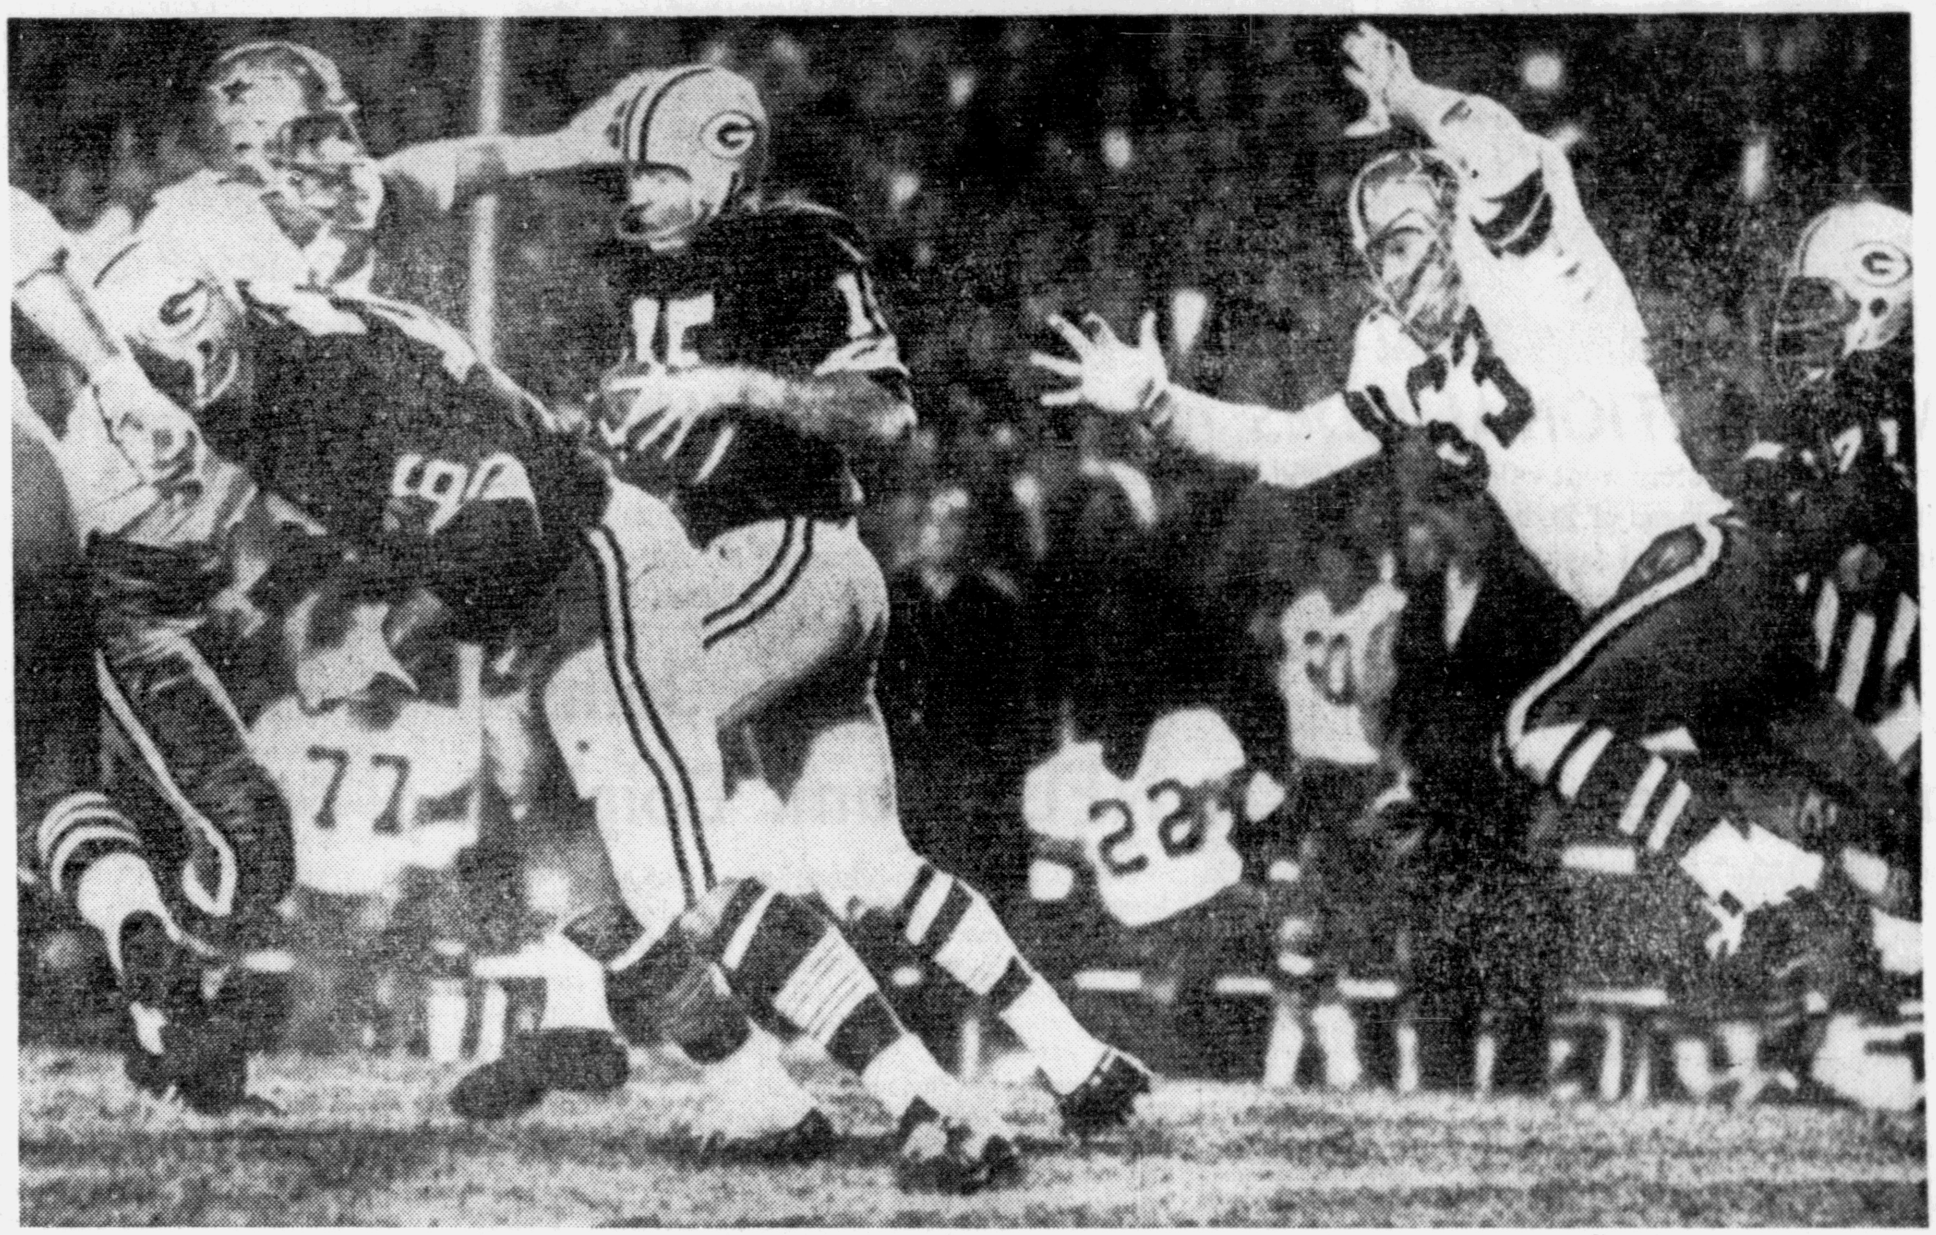
Packers Continue That Mastery



CATCHING STARR — Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr is caught behind the line of scrimmage by Dallas defenders. He stayed free of tacklers long enough last night to throw four touchdown passes to lead the Packers to victory over the Cowboys. Starr Bombs Away

DALLAS (AP) —Take it from the previously unbeaten Dallas Cowboys and former Green Bay coach, Vince Lombardi, there's absolutely nothing wrong with the world champion Packers.

With last night's 28-17 victory over Dallas before a national television audience, the Packers shot into a tie for the Central Division lead of the National Football League with Detroit—each with 3-3-1 records.

Lombardi said, "I never had any doubts" about Green Bay coming back from a series of early season reversals.

AGREES

Dallas Coach Tom Landry agreed.

"We wanted to win this one badly-maybe too bad," said Landry.

Dallas never has beaten Green Bay in a regular season game and has suffered last-second losses to the Packers the past two years in the NFL playoffs.

"They made the big plays," said Landry. "Bart Starr was just great."

Starr, who only last week was on the sidelines for most of the game against Los Angeles with a pulled bicep muscle, rifled four touchdown passes and completed 17 of 25 tosses for 260 yards.

TD ARM

He hit Marv Fleming on scoring tosses of three and 32 yards and tossed for touchdowns 26 yards to Carroll Dale and five yards to Boyd Dowler.

Dallas quarterback Don Meredith, who suffered a broken nose when he was tackled by Willie Davis, threw touchdown passes of 18 yards to Bob Hayes and 27 yards to Craig Baynham. He had three throws intercepted and completed but 13 of 30 for 219 yards.

"The injury was a freak thing," said Meredith. "I'm sure he (Davis) didn't mean to."

Davis was assessed a 15-yard penalty for grabbing the face mask on the play.

PRAISE

"I didn't think Meredith was as effective after he got hurt," said Landry. "But it was a must game for the Packers and I don't want to take anything away from them.

"That's why they are a good team. They win the big ones."

Packer Coach Phil Bengtson said, "It was definitely a must game for us if there ever was one. No question about this being our best game of the year."

Landry said Baynham's fum-

Young Olympians Get Big Welcome

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Trying to hold her jacket, a dozen roses, a plaque from her school and a key to the city, little Debbie Meyer managed to brush away a tear.

Nearby were Mike Burton and John Ferris, looking uncomfortable and almost embarrassed at all the fuss at the airport, with the band and all.

The four youngsters had just returned yesterday from the Olympic games in Mexico City where they collected seven gold medals, two silver medals and two bronze medals for swimming.

Vice Mayor Albert Talkin, who gave to them shiny, filigreed keys to the city, said they had "brought fame to Sacramento like nothing since the gold rush" of a century ago.

As the four—accompanied by swim Coach Sherman Chavoor, eight-oared crew members Cleve and Mike Livingston and canoe and kayak Coach Gert Grigoleit—stepped off the commercial jetliner, the Rio Americano High School band began to play, six pom pon girls and four cheerleaders began to dance and a cheer went up from the crowd.

James Phelan, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, praised the Sacramento athletes for "taking some of the play away from the astronauts" who orbited the earth last week.

After a motorcade wound its way through crowded downtown streets, Debbie told newsmen she doesn't plan to compete in the 1972 Olympics in Munich, Germany.

The 16-year-old high school junior said she wants "to try some other things in life" besides swimming.

Chavoor, however, encouraged Debbie to continue to swim in competition at least through high school. Chavoor said Debbie, who holds world records in the 200, 400 and 800-meter freestyle—the events in which she won gold medals—has not yet reached her peak.

Debbie brought back three gold medals, Sue won two gold and two silver medals, and Burton won two gold medals. Ferris brought home two bronze medals.

Bob Gibson Says He's 'Honored'

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Bob Gibson, notified yesterday that he had won the National League's Cy Young Award, went out to do what he does best —play baseball.

"I've got to play ball," Gibson said after learning that he was a unanimous choice of the 20-man selection committee as his league's pitcher of the year. The St. Louis Cardinals are on a tour of Japan.

The big right-hander compiled a 22-9 record in helping the Cards win their second straight pennant and set a major league earned run average low of 1.12.

"It's a great honor to receive the award," Gibson said. "It makes me feel great and deeply honored."

During the season, Gibson won 15 consecutive games, a club record, and had one stretch of 47 scoreless innings. He finished 28 of 34 starts, pitched 13 shutouts and struck out 268 batters in 305 innings.

Gibson was bothered late in the season by a painful pitching arm but said rest had cured it. Pitching coach Billy Muffett said Gibson might go on to bigger and better things next season.

"I figured he would get some kind of award and there's no telling what he'll do next year," said Muffett.

Gibson capped the 1968 season by winning two World Series games but he was the losing pitcher against Detroit in the seventh and final game.

USC Picked By 17, Cal By Just Five

The Trojans, ranked No. 1 in the country among college football teams, took last weekend off and return to action against Oregon this Saturday. The oddsmakers, well remembering the potent offense of the Trojans, have tabbed them as 17-point favorites to roll up their sixth consecutive victory.

The other high-ranking members of the top 10 also are favored by a touchdown or more to maintain their perfect records through another weekend. Second-ranked Ohio State is picked by seven points over Michigan State, third-ranked Kansas is 12 over Colorado and fourth-ranked Penn State is 11 over Army.

Tennessee, the No. 5 team, entertains UCLA in an attractive intersectional game and the Vols, with four victories and a tie, are picked by 10 points. Seventh-ranked Georgia, which owns the tie against Tennessee, is rated only two points better than 13th-ranked Houston.

Eighth-rated California is five over Washington, ninth-ranked Missouri is 12 over Oklahoma State and 10th-ranked Michigan is 12 over Northwestern.

No point spreads were given on the games between sixth-ranked Purdue and Illinois and 15th-ranked Notre Dame and Navy.

In an important Southwest Conference clash, 11th-ranked Texas is picked by seven points over Southern Methodist, the No. 14 team.

In other games by section:

East — Yale 13 over Dartmouth, Cornell 12 over Columbia, Princeton 12 over Brown, Harvard 7 over Pennsylvania, Syracuse 19 over Holy Cross.

THE TWO EMOTIONAL SIDES TO A TOUCHDOWN

Drake High School pom-pon girls and rooters went wild with elation Friday night as their Pirates went ahead of Redwood in the final minutes of their Marin County Athletic League football game at Kentfield. Meanwhile, over on the other side of the field, it was a sad ending as expressed by Redwood assistant coaches Phil Roark (left) and Al Endriss. Drake scored three times in the last 3 minutes, 24 seconds to win, 37-25.

'Super Oaks,' Friends To Open Home Slate

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Oaks, sporting a new coach a new star and a new image, open their home season tonight against the New Orleans Buccaneers, and seek their fourth straight American Basketball Association victory.

The Oaks, worst team in the ABA last year, have been whipped into a running, slick ballhandling group by Alex Hannum formerly of the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

Tonight's game, in the Oakland Arena, begins at 8 o'clock.

Rick Barry, a part owner who was restrained by court order from playing for the Oaks last year after jumping from the San Francisco Warriors of the NBA, is being billed as "Super Oak."

The 6-foot-7, 24-year-old Barry, who led the NBA with an average of 35.6 points a game in 1966-67, totaled 114 in the Oaks' three ABA victories, an average of 38 a game.

Barry's isn't the only new face among the Oaks. Doug Moe, 6-5 forward who was the ABA's second leading scorer last year and guard Larry Brown, the ABA assist leader, were obtained from New Orleans.

Moe, along with rookies Jim Eakins, a 6-11 center, and Warren Armstrong, a guard, could play in the NBA, says Barry.

Henry Logan and Russ Critchfield of California are two other rookie guards who, says Barry, help create "a more exciting brand of ball in the ABA.

Minnesota and New Orleans, along with his team, says Barry, could compete with the NBA expansion teams and "not have to worry about things."

The major difference between the leagues ,says Barry, is that in the ABA "you don't have seven - footers blocking shots."

"It's not any easier to score in the new league, he says. The ABA's red, blue and white ball is just like the NBA's. "If you shoot it right, it goes in," he says.

It's probably even harder for Barry in the ABA, says Hannum, "because every team is pointing for him. He's getting belted around a lot. It won't be easy. He'll have to work, but when he's not scoring, we have got other guys who can."

Falcons Place Six On Waivers

ATLANTA (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, new coach of the Atlanta Falcons has put six players on waivers, including five starters, Falcons General Manager Frank Wall confirmed last night.

The six released were:

—Defensive cornerback Lee Calland, a regular with the Falcons since he was drafted from Minnesota in 1966.

—Corner linebacker Marion Rushing, also a regular since chosen from the St. Louis Cardinals in the same 1966 National Football League draft.

—Fullback Brendan McCarthy, a rookie from Boston College who was picked up on waivers and has started every game this season for the Falcons.

—Defensive safety Phil Spiller, picked up this year on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals.

—Center Joe Cerne, picked up on waivers from San Francisco.

—Defensive tackle Jim Norton, the last remaining player from the trade for the No. 1 draft choice in 1967. Norton came from the San Francisco 49ers.

Asked if rumors of the shakeup were true, Wall replied that they were but declined further comment. He said some of the players involved had not yet been told.

Any of the six could be recalled within 48 hours if Van Brocklin so chooses. When a player is placed on waviers, another team has 24 hours in which to claim him and the waiving team has 24 hours after that in which to recall.

Jimmy Hines Joins NFL Miami Dolphins

Wearing his two Olympic gold medals—for a world record 9.9 clocking in the 100-meter run and for anchoring the record-setting 400-meter relay team—Hines went through a mock contract signing for photographers.

Actually, he came to terms with the Dolphins last Thursday at Las Vegas, Nev., where the club president, Joe Robbie, was attending a convention.

"It was the safest bet we ever made at Las Vegas," Robbie quipped.

But the question of when Hines will actually go into action for Miami will be settled only after he shows that he can catch passes and take his knocks, Coach George Wilson said.

"We would like to get him in there returning kicks as soon as possible," Wilson said. "Then if he shows us he can catch the ball, we'll use him as a wide receiver."

But next Sunday's game at San Diego will be definitely too early to use Hines in any capacity, Wilson added.

Hines, a high school football star at Oakland, passed up college football to take a track scholarship at Texas Southern University in Houston.

But he said football was "my first love" and he didn't think the transition to pro football would be too hard.

At McClymonds High School in Oakland, he twice made the All-State team. He scored 13 touchdowns as a senior, gaining 864 yards rushing and 500 on pass receptions.

As a high school trackman, Hines tied Jesse Oens' national record of 9.4 for the 100-yard dash. He received a score of offers for college football scholarships.

At Texas Southern, he tied the world 60-yard indoor record of 5.9 three times and the world record of 9.1 for the 100.

Robbie said he watched Hines run in the Olympics but was especially impressed "by the commendable manner in which he conducted himself" during a time when two members of the U.S. team were being suspended for giving black power gestures from the victory stand.

Cardinals Whip Japanese Nine On 3-Run Homer

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Joe Hague's three-run homer in the sixth inning enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to turn back the Yomiuri Giants 6-3 today in the fourth game of their Japanese baseball tour.

The Giants, the Japanese champions, took a 3-0 lead off Redbirds' starter Steve Carlton, who worked the first four innings. St. Louis erupted for five runs in the sixth, scoring twice before Hague, a rookie outfielder, connected.

The Cards, who collected nine hits off four Giants' pitchers, scored their other run in the ninth inning. Reliever Wayne Granger pitched five scoreless innings for the National League pennant-winners and was credited with the victory. He and Carlton scattered six hits.

Raiders Look For Revenge

OAKLAND ,AP) — The Oakland Raiders will be looking for revenge and a chance to get back into the American Football League title race next Sunday when the Western Division-leading Kansas City Chiefs hit town.

The Chiefs, 7-1, humiliated Oakland two weeks ago in Kansas City when they surprised the Raiders with an old-fashioned T-formation offense and crunched their way to a 24-10 victory.

It was the second straight loss for the Raiders, who rebounded Sunday with a 31-10 romp over the fledgling Cincinnati Bengals.

It pulled Oakland into a second-place tie with the San Diego Chargers, who lost 27-20 to the Chiefs.

Stanford's Ralston Hasn't Lost His Sense Of Humor

PALO ALTO (AP) — John Ralston's Stanford football team has lost two of its last three games and tied the other, but he hasn't lost his sense of humor.

"How do you feel?" Ralston was asked as he thought about his teams 20-17 loss to UCLA Saturday.

"Oh, great," said Ralston. "I just slit my throat."

He now tried to get his team ready for bruising Oregon State, which has won four of six games but lost two by a point apiece.

CONCERN

Of major concern, he told the Northecn California Football Writers yesterday, is the running of Bill Enyart, who is second only to O. J. Simpson of University of Southern California in rushing and scoring.

The Beavers also have the "most underrated quarterback on the coast" in option specialist Steve Preece, said Ralston.

Ralston said Mark Marquess performed so well at split end against UCLA that he was tempted to call Marquess at Tucson, Ariz., where he is training with a United States baseball team for a tournament in Mexico, and try to talk him into coming back for the Oregon State game.

FOURTH ONE

Bruce Cass will be the fourth different starter for Stanford at the end position this weekend.

California, 5-1, plays at Washington and Bear coach Ray Willsey said "The Huskies will be waiting in Seattle to knock us out of anything we had in mind."

Asked what he had in mind, Wilsey replied, "Simply to win another football game."

Willsey singled out his defensive unit and end Mike McCaffrey in particular, for play in the 43-0 victory over Syracuse.

McCaffrey, who was in on eight tackles and intercepted a pass, was voted by the writers as the Northern California lineman of the week.

SCHOOL MARK

Gene Washington, Sanford flanker who caught 13 passes against UCLA, setting a school mark and tying a Pacific-8 mark, was voted the outstanding back.

The same awards went to linebacker Jim Jordan of Sacramento State and Santa Clara halfback Dick Nelson in the college division.

Jordan made 17 tackles as his team beat Nevada, 17-14, and Nelson scored three touchdowns in Santa Clara's 27-21 victory over Long Beach State.

Soviet Press Pretty Quiet On Olympics

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet newspapers today expressed dissatisfaction with the poor showing of Russia at the Olympics compared to the United States.

"Unfortunately, our sportsmen were not as successful as we expected," said Pravda, newspaper of the Soviet Communist party. "We lagged behind the Americans in all three kinds of medals."

Sovyesky Sport, the country's only sports daily, said, "The results of the Olympics require long and detailed analysis."

It cited track and field, swimming, basketball, rowing and cycling as the sports in which Soviet athletes most need improvement.

And it called for better training and better "psychological preparation to foster feelings of responsibility for the honor of the banner of our national team."

But, despite these few examples, Soviet papers generally have shied away from criticizing the Olympic team or comparing its showing with that of the Americans. The government, which controls the press, apparently decided to avoid stirring up bad publicity.

Lists of the medals won by various countries have not been published here, in contrast to the Olympics in which Russian teams came out ahead.

The papers also have not carried any comments from athletes or coaches returning from Mexico City.

ble in the fourth period was the play that killed the Cowboys.

Dallas' record dropped to 6-1, which is good enough for a game lead over New York in the Capitol Division.

Landry said, "I'm happy to be 6-1 at this stage. I'll settle for that the second half of the season. I have no apologies for this club."

Chief Mechanic
VERN HARRINGTON

HERE IT COMES — Driver Monte Schaulis is behind the wheel of the Sausalito-based dune buggy which will be among the entrants in the Mexican 1,000 race. Those extra lights will be quite a help during night driving.

DUNE BUGGIES TO ROAR THROUGH MEXICO

Marinites Enter Gruelling 1,000-Mile Race

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's road racing without a road. There's no track to follow and the terrain is always rugged, full of potholes and rocks. It's desert driving at a fast clip, with no obstacle too high to climb.

It's called off-road racing and two Sausalitans are getting knee deep in it, getting ready for the Mexican 1,000, a grueling race from Ensenada to LaPaz.

Monte Schaulis, 33-year-old insurance agent, and John Hilton, 30, assistant manager of Penske-Hilton Racing Enterprises, have pooled forces to form a team known as Hilton Racing Enterprises, with their first big venture scheduled for Nov. 5, the second annual Mexican 1,000.

DUST EATING

The team has put $9,500 into the building of a dune buggy which is entered in the Mexican race. The blue vehicle bears the number 18, signifying its starting position. And to be the 18th from the starting line in a race that expects to have 300 entries saves a lot of dust eating.

There were only 120 entrants last year in the Mexican race, so you can see the interest growth after only a year of off-road racing.

The purse for the race is $65,000, and is drawing such drivers as A. J. Foyt, Parnelli Jones, and Bob and Al Unser, according to Hilton.

Schaulis will be sharing the driving with Vern Harrington, chief mechanic of their dune buggy. Hopes are to cover the course — between 900 and 1,000 miles — in 24 hours, but, Hilton added, "the drop-out rate is tremendous. Only 15 per cent of the starters finished last year.

The race is divided into eight classes, six for autos and two for motorcycles, under and over 250cc. So when No. 18 takes off, it will be among other buggies, jeeps, sedans and cycles, all trying to make it through the long, long drive.

The Sausalito buggy has been four months in preparation, built to withstand the highest of pressures.

FLYING HIGH

"It's designed to go 50 feet through the air and come down without breaking apart," smiled Hilton. It was assembled at Rockie's Auto Repair in Sausalito.

But the racer itself is only part of the picture.

A specially - built "follow" truck, loaded with spare parts, wheels, tires, torches and tools will be on hand during the Mexico race to come to the racer's aid in case of trouble.

An airplane and pilot will also be part of the team, following the racer over that course. In case of a breakdown, the plane will be used to fly parts from the "follow" truck to the dune buggy itself. Hilton will be aboard the plane, which will be piloted by Skip Scott, high-ranking race driver from Devon, Pa.

SPECIAL LIGHTS

It seems like quite a bit of preparation for one race. It is, but about 10 per cent of the competition will be doing just as much in hopes of winning, said Hilton.

Since a lot of the driving will be done at night, the Hilton-Schaulis dune buggy has been equipped with four headlamps, with two foglamps yet to be added. The lights for the car alone cost $150. The car is powered by a Volkswagen engine.

This first car will serve as a test vehicle for Hilton Racing Enterprises. If all goes well, more will be built by the Sausalito group and sold to others interested in off-road racing.

Schaulis and Hilton, who have known each other for 15 years, had talked about this new kind of racing for a few months before finally deciding to go ahead with their plans. It all should add to a pretty darned interesting day for them on Nov. 5.

Or as Hilton said, "What a way to spend an election day." He's got a point.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Letter Contains Story Of Super-Fishing Fight

STEVENS

I suggest — to the many anglers who will read this — that they read the following letter I received recently. It is short and to the point and stresses the sentiments expressed in a column last week. The writer is Stan Holden of 267 Flint Court No. 6, Hayward. It follows:

Ralph: Here's a short letter about a fishing trip Don Castle and I took this week (Oct. 24, 1968). We camped near Sierraville, and weather and countryside was everything that could be desired. Just grand! As for the fishing, it was the same. Davis Lake is giving up some fine fish — most of them in the pound-and-a-half class. We caught all of ours on trolled nightcrawlers.

NEXT WE HIT Packer Lake in the Gold Lake Basin area. The brookies were hungry and hit flies regularly. At day's end we had a nice string of fish. The big surprise came when we fished Independence Lake. The going was slow until I tagged into an 8¾-pound cutthroat that measured 26½ inches. I was using four-pound line, flashers, three-pound leader and an F7 Flatfish. It was 35 minutes of solid battle before I could get him to the net. Again the Brook trout were on the bite and Don was able to score on flies. The fish sure looked stunning in their fall colors. Independence Lake is just off Highway 89 between Truckee and Sierraville. It's about five miles up the Weber Lake Road. Thanks, Ralph, I hope to be able to drop a line or two again in the Future — Signed, Stan Holden."

TALK ABOUT THRILLS — an 8¾-pounds cutthroat on three-pound leader, and on a four-pound line — a 35 minute battle — What more could a guy hope for.

A very interesting note is before me as I write. "Another venison Bar-b-que is scheduled at the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital on Saturday afternoon, November 2.

Hosted by the good folks of Humboldt County, 20 amputees hunted for the second year on the Roy Fulton ranch. The hunt was organized by Irv Renner, the county's Veteran Service Officer.

EIGHTEEN DEER WERE bagged, so all 1800 of the Hospital's patients will be guests.

According to Johnny White of the "Horns of the Hunter," many major league celebrities, and entertainers will be on hand to make this day a memorable one.

I extend my congratulations to all participants.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Since 1964, 207 out of 274 horse races have been won by descendants of Eclipse, according to records of the American Thoroughbred Racing Association. Of the remainder, 31 races were won by descendants of Matchem and 36 won by descendants of Herod.

Drake Kids End Perfect Warner Grid Season

The Junior Pirates completed their league season with five victories and no losses, their final victory coming Saturday afternoon over Tamalpais, 33-14, at Tamalpais High School's field.

Quarterback Tom MacGausland connected with Don Asay for touchdown passes of 70 and 50 yards, and MacGausland scored another TD on a 65-yard run after a broken play. Rick Herbert scored from 30 yards out on an end sweep and Bill Reilly ran 20 yards for the team's final touchdown of the afternoon.

Ellis Wins 3d Straight Yacht Title

R. G. Ellis of Sausalito Cruising Club and his cruiser Mimbo finished only third in last Saturday's Northern California Predicted Log Racing Association race but he didn't have to bother anyway.

Ellis could have been on the dock shooting pool or something, because he had already clinched the season's over-all title a week earlier.

That's a season that covers six San Francisco Bay races over a 21-mile course, and the whole thing is no new experience to the Sausalito Cruising Club past commodore. He's won it for the past three years now, after finishing dead last in his first season five years ago. He's a past commander of the San Francisco Power Squadron and is an Advanced Pilot in Celestial Navigation.

Ellis finished with an average of 1.306 per cent error over the season. Second over-all was 18-year-old Rich Naylor of Loch Lomond Yacht Club with his boat the Jeannie C II. Naylor was also second in last Saturday's race, won by Dave Weimer of Oyster Point in Seascape.

Weimer was fifth over-all. Vern Rasmussen of Gallins Y.C. in Sunshine was third over-all, followed by John Odland of San Leandro, fourth. Chet Shumate of San Rafael was fifth.

The Philadelphia Athletics beat the Kanaweola A.C. 39-0 in the first night night football game Nov. 21, 1902.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Vendors Attractive On Long Term Basis

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—I have, in the past, made a good profit in stocks of vending companies. Where does this industry stand today—that is, are there still possibilities for growth?—F.B.

A—The group as a whole has moved up sharply to levels that discount earnings well into next year. However, Canteen Corp. and Macke Co. at 20 and 25 times 1968 fiscal year's estimated earnings appear to have long-term potential.

Several developments are taking place within the industry that could materially change its future. Topping the list are probable price increases.

While sales have risen from $2 billion to $4.5 billion in the last decade, profits have failed to keep pace because individual companies have been hesitant about raising their prices.

Increasing the cost of hot and cold beverages from the standard 10 cents to 15 cents would have a dramatic impact on revenues since these two items account for close to one-third of all vending sales.

Reluctance to make the change stems partly from the intense competition in the field and partly from the fact that much of the business is in locations where prices are subject to negotiated contracts.

However, one of the major companies has stated that it will make the move.

Providing other services to established customers — services such as laundry, janitor, security and gardening — is one of the major areas of chance being explored by the industry.

Manual feeding has been an integral part of operations for several of the vending concerns —volume from this source provides 17 per cent of Canteen's sales. More intensive saturation of this field is therefore a natural avenue of expansion.

Another possible area for growth is in hospital and nursing homes— Macke is well entrenched in this field. Collegees, in-plant cafeterias and mobile truck catering all offer opportunities to be exploited. Growth in any or all of the above-named directions plus an increasing population with its ever-greater spending capacity should continue to push vendors' sales and profits upward.

Marin Alerts Bay Area Law Agencies To Bomb Plot Risk

Alioto Joins In Warning

By STEPHEN COOK

A Marin sheriff's inspector has placed all county and Bay Area police agencies on notice that their stations may become the next targets for saboteurs armed with 60 sticks of dynamite.

Meanwhile, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto charged yesterday that the recent rash of bombings and attempted bombings directed against law enforcement officers in the Bay Area is the work of an organized band of saboteurs.

OFFICES GUARDED

In Marin, increased security precautions are being taken at the Marin City substation, target for seven sticks of dynamite Thursday night, according to Undersheriff Sidney Stinson.

Capt. Theodore Parnow of the California Highway Patrol also reported he has increased security around his Corte Madera station.

The Bay Area's most recent bombing occurred yesterday outside the Oakland office of the Highway Patrol. The explosive, placed beneath the privately owned car of Patrolman Robert Penkivich, destroyed the automobile and badly damaged two others, but there were no injuries.

DYNAMITE'S SOURCE

No other departments in Marin reported increased security outside their stations.

Inspector Kenneth Irving of the sheriff's office, assigned to investigate the Marin City bombing attempt, reported that the dynamite tossed under the substation has been tentatively identified as loot from a San Francisco armed robbery two days earlier.

In that robbery, two Negro men, each about 21 years old and armed with handguns, took 60 sticks of dynamite and 50 feet of fuse from their victim, Irving said.

Irving described the bombing attempt in Marin City in his bulletin, then said:

"Attention, all Bay Area departments . . . Attention, all

McCarthy Nod Brings Smiles To Humphrey

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey joyfully accepted the rosier side of a lukewarm endorsement by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy today and said it will have a "decided effect" on his presidential campaign.

The Democratic presidential contender learned of his former rival's announcement that he intends to vote for Humphrey as he took part in a local television program. (See other political stories, page 26.)

'HAPPY MAN'

"I'm a happy man this morning in terms of his support," Humphrey said of the man who had contested him for the Democratic presidential nomination, then withheld his support until one week before election day.

"I say thank you, Gene," Humphrey beamed, seeming to ignore McCarthy's statement that he continues to be dissatisfied with Humphrey's position on the Vietnam War and other matters.

Humphrey said he expects "lots of undecided votes to come our way" in the last days before the election. "There are a lot of Democrats coming back to the party. The McCarthy announcement will have a decided effect."

VOICES CONFIDENCE

The Vice President voiced confidence as he campaigned among working men in hopes of keeping their votes from third-party candidate George C. Wallace. He directed his attack toward Wallace in remarks prepared for a factory visit.

"Can he really run the government? Can he keep our economy strong? Can he keep the workers on overtime and off unemployment lines?

"He couldn't do it in Alabama —and I say he couldn't do it as president of the United States."

As Humphrey combs the populous eastern industrial states in the waning days of his campaign, he is devoting less and less time to serious discussion of national issues. His speeches are pep talks, virtually identical from one stop to another, given over heavily to attacks on his chief rival, Republican Richard M. Nixon.

FUTURE UNDECIDED

Supporters Asked To Vote For HHH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., endorsed Hubert H. Humphrey for president today but fired fresh criticism at Democratic party leaders and the Chicago convention where he lost the presidential nomination.

In a statement ending his sustained refusal to back Humphrey after the latter wrested the nomination from him last August, McCarthy called on his supporters to vote for the vice president as he said he plans to do.

And he did not foreclose the possibility that he would seek re-election to the Senate in 1970 or a presidential nomination two years later under some other political banner than the Democratic standard.

He did so by declaring: "I will not be a candidate of my party for re-election to the Senate from the state of Minnesota in 1970. Nor will I seek the presidential nomination of the Democratic Party in 1972."

In saying he would vote for Humphrey against GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon, he called on those who supported his effort to win the Democratic nomination to do likewise.

But he said he wanted to make it clear that "this endorsement is in no way intended to reinstate me in the good graces of the Democratic leaders nor in any way to suggest my having forgotten or condoned the things that happened both before Chicago and at Chicago."

In a walking news conference after he had read his statement for broadcast, McCarthy declined to clear up whether he might run for office in 1970 or 1972 on other than the Democratic ticket.

He said, however, that when he said he would not be the can-

Nixon Urges Home Stretch Votes Push

DETROIT (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, describing Democratic rival Hubert Humphrey as "a man of the old politics," urged Republicans today to bear down hard for victory in the final week of the presidential campaign.

The Republican candidate, addressing an enthusiastic party rally in suburban Livonia—several thousand were on hand—promised new leadership if he is elected president.

AROUND DETROIT

Nixon was spending most of the day stumping around the fringes of Detroit. He even dropped in on hundreds of high school students in Dearborn—but had no microphone to permit him to speak.

And he visited a privately-financed Negro job placement and counseling center on the edge of the inner city hit by riots more than a year ago.

Eager to avoid any last-minute letdown in Republican ranks, Nixon has been urging party workers to get him an extra half-vote a precinct—because "it could make the difference."

He carried that message to the GOP faithful in Albany, N.Y., and Pittsburgh yesterday before flying to Detroit.

EXTRA EFFORT

The Republican presidential candidate told a Pittsburgh party meeting that an extra half-vote in each precinct would have given him a victory in 1960 over the late John F. Kennedy. Urging an 11th-hour drive to get those votes next Tuesday, Nixon said, "It could make the difference this time."

Nixon said "this is the week that is." And he urged his listeners: "Don't panic in the face of personal attacks. Just crack them right on the issues."

The GOP candidate, appearing later before more than 14,000 in Pittsburgh's domed civic auditorium, noted this is Halloween week and predicted:

"This week you're going to see a lot of tricks pulled out of the bag—these by the panicky ones on the other side."

Teacher Pay Compromise For Novato

The impasse between Novato teachers and the Novato Unified School District board over salaries yesterday was solved when an overwhelming majority of the teachers voted to accept a compromise 6 per cent pay hike and hope for more.

The teachers had demanded an 8 per cent salary increase, which would have cost the district $456,665 this fiscal year. The 6 per cent hike, retroactive to Sept. 1, will cost the district approximately $300,000, reported Supt. James G. Bunker.

The compromise, and the request of non-teaching employees for a 5 per cent pay hike, which would cost another $50,000, will go before the district trustees at 8 p.m. today in the Marion School.

The points worked out by the negotiating council and school officials included the 6 per cent hike of all base salaries, agreement that any additional money which might come to the district during the rest of the fiscal

FEW PROBLEMS

Rain Is Expected Through Tonight

Most of Marin awoke to a watery world today and weathermen predicted it would stay that way through tonight.

Much of the county experienced a steady, sometimes wind-whipped downpour. San Rafael had accumulated an inch of rain at noon.

The California Highway Patrol reported a rash of accidents on rain-slick roads, especially on Highway 101, but other rain-related problems were minor.

"It's just like a sunny day," the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported. "We've had no problems at all."

Marin County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost also reported no problems and said the rain was not expected to create any.

Clogged drains were the major headache, but public works crews were anxious over the prediction of a 60 per cent chance of rain through tonight.

In southern Sonoma County, light rain began falling shortly before 4 a.m. and by 8 a.m. had developed into a steady pour.

Novato measured .29 inch of rain at 11 a.m. and Hamilton Air Force Base had .35 at 11.

Other 24-hour totals, as of 8 a.m., were Woodacre, .39 of an inch, Chevy Chase area of Larkspur, .26, San Anselmo, .4, Civic Center, .15, Terra Linda, .10, Sausalito, .02, Tamalpais Valley, .06, Bolinas, .10, Tiburon and Mill Valley, traces.

The weatherman predicted the threat of rain would decrease to 30 per cent tomorrow and winds were expected to diminish.

COMMERCIAL DROPPED

Demos Brand Nixon TV Spot A 'Smear'

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. said today that Richard M. Nixon's campaign forces have withdrawn a television commercial which Hubert H. Humphrey's forces called a "smear."

"It is not NBC's decision whether to run the commercial or not, but the Nixon-Agnew campaign committee has decided to withdraw that particular commercial from all future broadcasts," an NBC spokesman said.

John N. Mitchell, Nixon's campaign manager, said the ad was meant to portray Humphrey's "politics of joy in contrast to the serious politics of our times."

Mitchell said there had been a growing number of "distasteful distorted spots" by Humphrey's campaigners and added "it ill behooves" the Democratic National Committee to complain.

Mitchell said the Nixon forces would welcome creation of network review of political ads, a proposal made by the Democrats.

The Nixon commercial that started it all showed a smiling Humphrey with scenes of war, poverty and rioting.

"It is a smear in keeping with Nixon's below-the-belt reputation in politics and unworthy of a man running for the nation's highest office," said the Democratic National Committee.

Jury Still Out In Murder Case

SAN JOSE (UPI) — The jury in the murder trial of two Washington State farm youths moved into a fifth day of deliberations today still without a verdict.

The panel of seven men and five women had failed to reach agreement by late last night and was locked up for the night after eating a late dinner.

There was speculation the jurors were unable to agree on the role of Leonard E. Maine in the slaying of Timothy Luce, 17, and the kidnap, shooting and rape of Susan Bartolomei, now 18, paralyzed and unable to speak.

Maine contended during the 10-week trial that he was an unwilling companion forced at gunpoint to accompany his codefendant, Thomas E. Braun, on a three-state crime and murder spree in August 1967.

Russ Cosmonaut Continues Trip

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russian cosmonaut Col. Georgy Beregovoi looped the earth alone today, well on his way toward equalling the Soviet solo endurance mark. There was no indication when he would return to earth.

The Russians said he had completed 51 orbits at 2:37 p.m. Moscow time (1:47 a.m. PST). He had then been in space 76 hours and was orbiting once every 89 minutes. The Soviet solo mark was 119 hours and 6 minutes, set in 1963 by Valery Bykovsky.

Geregovoi told ground control today he felt fine and was in good spirits.

$10 Million Living Memorial For RFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., announced today the Kennedy family will create a $10 million Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation to act "as a catalyst in the solution of pressing public problems."

The memorial to the assassinated New York senator was decided on, Kennedy said, after a number of suggestions were advanced by friends and associates.

Tiburon Council Adopts Gatter Plan

After being termed "unexciting," "unimaginative" and "realistic," the proposed Gatter Plan for downtown Tiburon last night was reluctantly but unanimously endorsed by the Tiburon City Council. (Another Tiburon Council story, page 26).

In its action, the council adopted the plan's statement of policy but delayed adopting the accompanying map until an economic feasibility study of the square-footage allocations to commercial and residential development can be completed — possibly, the council said, within two to four months.

The plan, originally drafted by designer Charles Warren Callister and modified by the city's planning consultant George Gatter, won out over the harbor-lagoon alternative proposed by a group of Tiburon residents.

In so doing, the approved plan was condemned by a spokesman for Callister, Christopher C. Layton, who told the council that Callister and his staff were totally disassociating themselves from the plan as modified by Gatter.

The alternative which calls for the development of a harbor and lagoon on 20 of the 38 acres owned by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad in downtown Tiburon was repeatedly praised by councilmen as "exciting," "imaginative" but finally condemned as unfeasible and perhaps illegal at the present time.

The major difference between the Gatter Plan and the Harbor-lagoon alternative is the harbor itself on the railroad property. The Gatter Plan calls for mixed commercial and residential development on the 38-acre parcel.

The harbor-lagoon plan also envisioned development of a pedestrian mall in the area that is now the city's parking lot adjacent to city hall and a town square at the end of Tiburon Boulevard with Paradise Drive relocated.

Councilman Denis T. Rice, who described the harbor-lagoon alternative as an "honest and straightforward plan which has a great deal to commend it to the city," said

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pacifier To Be Turkey Envoy

SAIGON (AP) — Robert W. Komer, who is leaving Saigon to become U.S. ambassador to Turkey for three months, claims the number of Vietnamese under Viet Cong control has been cut in half since he took over America's part in the pacification program.

Komer

Komer, 46, arrived in 1967 with a mandate from President Johnson to revitalize the flagging pacification program. At the time the number of Vietnamese civilians classified as being under enemy control was more than double present official estimates.

Using computers to rate the more than 13,000 hamlets in South Vietnam, Komer reported recently only 16.8 per cent of the civilian population was under enemy control, 66.9 per cent lived in "relatively secure areas" and the remaining 16.3 per cent were in "contested areas."

Best Solution

NEW YORK (AP) — A top mediator urges binding arbitration to settle the teachers strike and get all 1.1-million public school pupils back in classes and provide polling places for next week's elections.

State Mediation board chairman Vincent D. McDonnell said yesterday that balloting next Tuesday was in jeopardy if the walkout continued and added:

"The plight of the democratic process should be so overwhelming as to cause the parties to submit the entire dispute to binding arbitration."

McDonnell served with former U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg as a mediator in labor disputes with city police, firemen and sanitation men.

There was no immediate comment on McDonnell's proposal by Albert Shanker, head of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, or John M. Doar, president of the board of education.

Transplant Fails

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI) — Nobuo Miyazaki, 18, Japan's only heart transplant patient, died today nearly three months after receiving the heart of a 20-year-old drowning victim.

Halt Saboteurs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli army units turned back a sabotage band trying to cross the usually quiet Lebanese border near the villages of Honeen and Malkeih in upper Galilee last night, an army spokesman reported.

No Israeli casualties were reported.

Terrorist Bomb

SAIGON (AP) — An explosive charge thrown by a Viet Cong terrorist exploded in a market place in the Mekong Delta town of Kien Long early today, killing six civilians and wounding 17, the U.S. mission reported.

The incident was the latest in a series of terrorist acts that have killed 18 persons and wounded 58 in the last four days, the mission said.

LBJ To Lecture

HOUSTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson, a school teacher before turning to politics, will conduct several seminars at Rice University after his term in office expires in January.

Johnson has accepted an invitation to speak at the Houston school sometime in the spring.

Dr. Joseph Cooper, head of Rice's political science department, said yesterday that Johnson probably will discuss American politics.

Steal Parts

BONN (UPI) — Soviet spies have stolen the guidance system of an American Sidewinder missile and other military gear and shipped them off to Moscow by air freight, a West German prosecutor said today.

Prosecutor Ludwig Martin told newsmen a "Herr X" has been arrested.

But he said besides the guidance system of the heat-seeking missile used by American jets in Vietnam, the Soviet agents got away with the navigational device of the U.S.-developed F104 Starfighter and another newly developed aircraft direction-finding system.

$625,000 Paid Out Of Court In Pool Lawsuit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A law student with all four limbs paralyzed from a swimming pool accident has won a $265,000 settlement out of court from his half brother and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

While diving in a backyard pool at Yuba City on Aug. 28, 1965, he caught his arm on an overhead wire, lost his balance and broke his neck.

Todd had filed a $1.5 million suit against Pacific Telephone and Thomas Nielson, at whose home the accident happened.

He asserted the closeness of the wire violated state Public Utilities Commission regulations.

Nielson and his wife paid $25,000 which was covered by their home owner's insurance policy and PT&T produced $600,000.

Todd's attorney said the settlement was made Friday.

Muskie Calls For Trust In Each Other

"Let's have some faith in our own medicine," the Democratic vice presidential nominee told 1,500 persons at a Santa Monica rally last night.

When a scuffle broke out between supporters of third-party candidate George C. Wallace and pro-Msukie listeners and after police ejected two men, Muskie gave a heckler time to speak from the floor, then said:

"As long as American men and women are thinking, Wallace doesn't have a chance."

Youthful protesters, demanding human values over economic security have much to give other Americans, he said. "What they want should be wanted by all Americans in this year 1968," he added.

"The answer is to reverse our field and to begin to trust each other once more," he said.

The rally ended a day of campaigning in California, where the Republicans are given the edge by a 50-34 margin, accordiog to the latest California Poll.

Muskie was to head today for Texas, campaigning in five cities with Amarillo the first stop.

Jobs, schools and houses cannot be provided overnight to the poor, Muskie said last night. "They have to be reassured that this is the purpose of the American people."

"We haven't yet lived out our life as a country and we're much stronger than when we began," the Maine senator said.

THE TIMES EDITORIAL

Agnew Denies Interest Conflicts

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate Spiro T. Agnew has denied all the charges in a New York Times editorial that accused him of "clear and repeated conflicts of interest" while serving as Maryland's governor. (See other political stories, page 1.)

In a four-page statement issued last night in Houston, Tex., Agnew said it was unfortunate that the Times "should find itself in the embarrassing position of having pulled the major blooper of the campaign."

'DISTORT FACTS'

"Everyone knows that the Times endorsed Vice President Humphrey and is actively supporting him," the statement continued. "The fact that the Times waited until a week before the election to distort the facts and make its inaccurate charges against me compounds the libel."

Meanwhile the Times reprinted the editorial in today's edition. The newspaper acted after Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, said he would demand a retraction of the editorial which first appeared Saturday.

Nixon, in a network television interview Sunday night, said the editorial was "the lowest kind of gutter politics that a great newspaper could possibly engage in. It is not news that's fit to print. . ."

In today's editorial the Times said: "Mr. Nixon asserted that the charges in the Times were 'stale.' Some, if not all, of these issues were indeed raised prior to the campaign; but that fact makes them not one whit the less valid, nor less pertinent to a judgment on Mr. Agnew's fitness to be vice president of the United States."

LAND PURCHASE

The editorial Saturday said that Agnew joined a group of businessmen in purchasing a tract of land on the probable approach of a new Chesapeake Bay bridge and sold it only after he had become governor and in response to public criticism.

In his statement Agnew said: "The Times charged or inferred that because of favorable treatment given friends of mine while I was in office that my financial worth has risen sharply. This is a completely false statement."

Agnew said that several weeks ago he declared his net worth at $110,084. He said that of that total $35,000 to $40,000 had been inherited from his parents.

He said that prior to his election as governor he voluntarily disclosed his ownership in the bay bridge land and deeded his interest to an irrevocable trust with instructions that it be sold and any profit turned over to a charitable organization.

He said the approach route to the new bay bridge "was approved and recommended by the state Roads Commission under a Democratic governor prior to my administration." He said the land was sold by the trustee for the same price he had paid for it.

In today's editorial the Times said that an attorney for Nixon and Agnew informed the newspaper Monday that the "sole factual point under challenge by Mr. Nixon was the sentence: "In response to public criticism Gov. Agnew later sold his share of the land.'

"The contention is made that at the time he decided to sell the land, Mr. Agnew was not governor, but was candidate for governor. Furthermore, instead of beneficially selling his share in the partnership, he had placed his interest in the hands of a bank, in trust, with instructions that it be sold. Mr. Agnew was to recoup his original purchase price, but any profits were to go to a children's home," the editorial said.

"As it turns out, Mr. Agnew's share was sold at auction by the trustees the following year—while he was governor—for the price Mr. Agnew had paid for it. The only (and successful) bidder was a lawyer representing Mr. Agnew's former partners in the investment.

"Mr. Agnew did not profit from this sale, nor did the editorial allege that he had so profited," the editorial said. "The other statements concerning Mr. Agnew's real estate activities and his directorship of the Chesapeake National Bank apparently are undisputed."

20 Die In Bus

ISTANBUL (AP) — Twenty persons were killed and 15 others were injured seriously when a packed bus and a truck loaded with wheat collided head-on near Izmir, reports reaching Istanbul today said.

The accident occurred last night. Both vehicles plunged into a 90-foot ravine.

LeMay Favors Equal Rights For Everyone

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—George C. Wallace's running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, says he favors desegregation and thinks "every real thinking person in the country" feels the same.

Campaigning in the Midwest for the American Independent Party ticket, the retired Air Force general said he's for equal rights and opportunities for everyone in the country.

"I believe everyone believes in that," LeMay said at a news conference here yesterday. LeMay added, however, that he was opposed to federal civil rights legislation and thought desegregation should be left to the states and the processes of education.

"Encouraging desegregation is one thing," he said, "but forcing it down someone's throat is another."

LeMay said his views on desegregation were the same as his running mate's. Told by a newsman that Wallace, campaigning in Alabama four years ago, declared that he was for "segregation today, Segregation tomorrow, segregation forever," LeMay said he was not familiar with everything Wallace had ever said on the subject.

A peculiar tail and head movement in a species of wild duck may show its relationship to a species more clearly than feather patterns.

Wallace Holds Neither Foe Will Help South

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — George C. Wallace, going into the final week of his fight for the presidency, asserted neither Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon nor Democratic nominee Hubert H. Humphrey would represent the South.

The former Alabama governor drew cheers from his audience in this port city on the Gulf of Mexico when he blamed the Democrats and Republicans at another point for what he said was neglect of the U.S. maritime fleet.

During an earlier speech in Hannibal, Mo., a sharp-edged rock the size of a fist sailed from the corwd of about 3,000 and fell about 12 feet in front of Wallace.

"I don't mind speaking here," Wallace said, "but when you start throwing rocks that size, well. . ."

Two eggs also were hurled at Wallace, along with an assortment of pennies, pebbles and small sticks. None hit him.

There was only a handful of dissenters in the crowd at Hannibal. Two of them, both Negroes, were hauled away by police after a shoving match with a Wallace supporter.

In Beaumont, three Negroes were yanked from the crowd, handcuffed and taken away in a police car, and during a brief airport speech at Quincy, Ill., police removed a protester dressed in hippie garb.

None of the Wallace supporters in any of the incidents was taken into custody.

In all three of his appearances yesterday Wallace continued his attack on the Gallup Poll, which claimed in its latest report that Wallace's popularity had slipped from 20 per cent of the electorate to 15 per cent.

Wallace insisted the size of his crowds during the past week indicated that the opposite was the case. He also accused newsmen of underestimating sizes.

God can heal you.

Saigon, Viet Cong Seek Peace Roles

PARIS (UPI)—The Saigon government and the Viet Cong injected themselves into the Paris talks today. Each one issued a statement demanding it be included in any formal peace negotiations aimed at ending the war.

Pham Van Ba, chief of the newly-opened office of the National Liberation Front (NLF), political arm of the Viet Cong, said the NLF was the only true representative of the people of South Vietnam. So did Pham Dang Lam, chief South Vietnamese observer at the Paris talks.

The Washington and Hanoi delegations meet tomorrow for the 28th time since the talks opened May 13. It will be the last meeting before the U.S. election.

The South Vietnamese are unofficial observers at the Paris talks.

"The United States must recognize the NLF," Ba said. He said his organization holds the power in South Vietnam.

"Therefore the United States must deal with us," he said.

Lam said the Saigon government's position "remains unchanged."

"Any question regarding the future of Vietnam must be discussed between Saigon and Hanoi," he said. "We will sit at any peace conference as the delegation of the Republic of (South) Vietnam and not as members of the American delegation."

"As regards the NLF we hace no objection to its inclusion in the North Vietnamese delegation but nothing else," Lam said.

Hanoi stepped up its propaganda attack today against the United States and North Vietnamese spokesmen indicated they were disappointed with the past few days' behind-the-scenes talks.

U.S. Launches Heavy Attack On Panhandle

SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes and warships, including B52 bombers and the battleship New Jersey, attacked North Vietnam's southern panhandle yesterday with the heaviest blows in nearly a month, U.S. military spokesmen reported

There were clearing skies across the panhandle, and Air Force, Navy and Marine jet fighterbombers flew 139 missions, the largest number since 143 were logged on Oct. 3.

"The attacking crews continued to concentrate on road and river traffic, interdicting the southward flow of supplies and material," a U.S. communique said.

Meanwhile 30 B52 bombers, carrying a bomb load roughly equivalent to that of 450 fighter-bombers, dropped 900 tons of bombs on enemy gun positions along the southern edge of North Vietnam.

Striking northwest of the allied combat bases at Con Thien and Gio Lioh, the B52s touched off 27 secondary explosions and sent columns of smoke 4,000 feet up, indicating the bombs scored direct hits on munitions and fuel stores. The Stratofortresses penetrated six miles inside North Vietnam.

The chief targets of the B52s were antiaircraft and artillery positions threatening the smaller fighter-bombers and the Con Thien and Gio Linh combat bases.

A tactical fighter-bomber on the average carries about two tons of bombs, a B52 30 tons. But the B52s failed to knock out all of the antiaircraft guns. Marine fighters attacking enemy troop concentrations and trucks in the northern half of the Demilitarized Zone came under heavy fire.

The New Jersey, the world's only active battleship, was called in and trained its huge 16-inch guns on the enemy positions.

No significant ground fighting was reported. Allied forces reported killing 50 enemy soldiers in a half a dozen small skirmishes from the jungled invasion routes northwest of Saigon to the populous coastal lowlands below Da Nang.

Wornum Against Saucelito Canal Spoils Proposal

Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, candidate for Marin County supervisor in Southern Marin's Third District, last night said the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission should reject a proposal to dump mud spoils from Saucelito Canal elsewhere in the bay.

Wornum, speaking at a reception for him at the Belvedere home of John A. Erickson, said the proposal "would set a disastrous precedent for further bay filling."

The proposal, which has yet to be presented to the BCDC, envisions dumping the mud on the east side of Strawberry Point to create a tidal "bird island."

Wornum is a commissioner on the BCDC.

A firm stand by the BCDC barring disposal of all spoils in the bay, said Wornum, would force development of a system of "large specialized barges" to take all spoils out to sea. Such a system would remove pressure to fill the bay and would allow waterfront development to proceed said Wornum

Mill Valley Teacher Pay Group Picked

The Mill Valley School District board last night agreed to recognize a seven-man committee appointed by the Mill Valley Teachers Association as the official negotiating council, Supt. James A. Collins reported.

The council, authorized under state law at the discretion of the board when only one teachers association exists in the district, will represent all certificated personnel in salary negotiations with the board.

Other employees are represented through the district chapter of the Calfiornia School Employees Association.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

DEED — Accepted the certification of acceptance for the deed to 18.5 acres of city property in Project 17 in exchange for 11 acres of school district property adjacent to Enchanged Knolls.

HOMESTEAD — Heard that installation of six portable classrooms is completed at Homestead School and that plans for demolition of the second floor of the old Homestead School building have been approved by the state. The main floor of the old building will be preserved for storage and lavatories.

FINANCE — Postponed discussion of a proposal by the California School Boards Association for a statewide property tax and statewide uniform teachers salary schedules until association representatives can meet with the board on Nov. 12 to explain the proposal.

DELEGATES — Refused to vote for delegates to the California School Boards Association's state convention in December because of inadequate information about the delegates.

CONFERENCES — Commended Superintendent Collins for brochures prepared for parents outlining the district's parent-teacher conference and report card system for this year.

APPLICANTS — Heard that 14 persons have applied for the post of director of business services, a vacancy created by the resignation of Leo B. Edson earlier this month. A screening committee, yet to be named, will meet with 12 of the applicants starting at 9 a.m. Saturday in the district offices.

MEETING — Changed the regular meeting from Nov. 11 to Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. at Park School because of the Veteran's Day holiday.

Board Answers Questionnaire

Tomales Bay School District trustees last night answered a questionnaire on possible legislation to benefit small school districts, according to board clerk Evelyn Souza.

The district had been selected as one of 100 in California to answer questions from the California School Boards Association to help determine its attitudes toward future legislation, according to Mrs. Souza.

The board also adopted the district's first student rules handbook, Mrs. Souza said.

Gatter Plan Wins Nod Of Tiburon's Council

his main concern was not the economics or feasibility but its legality in requiring a developer to devote so much of his property to a highly expensive open area use.

Mayor William R. Bremer said the Gatter plan was a "solid, basic plan" but also added: "Sure, it leaves a lot to be desired; there isn't anyone here who doesn't recognize that."

He praised the harbor-lagoon alternative as a "tremendous idea" and said, "I would like to see the dream come true." He then urged approval of the Gatter plan.

The council left some holes open for possible incorporation of elements of the harbor-lagoon plan into the Gatter plan when it modified a suggestion of Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood — that the city adopt the Callister, Gatter and harbor-lagoon maps — and commended the three maps to the planning commission for further study.

Miss Ellinwood said the three maps might be attached to the statement of policy "as examples of how this policy statement might be implemented . . . so as not to cast the Gatter map and plan in bronze.

The council directed the planning commission to give careful study to the harbor lagoon alternative and to consider incorporating height and density bonuses, tied directly to a harbor development, in the policy statement.

The council also asked the commission to consider incorporating a statement in the policy calling for the preservation of the architectural charm and character of old Tiburon along Mar West Street.

During the three-and-a-half-hour public hearing, in which the two plans were once again described at length, supporters of the harbor-lagoon alternative estimated their plan would cost $1.2 million to develop and would provide a return of $2 million in the rental or sale of abutting commercial and residential property.

Their cost estimates, as presented by Brian Chapman, did not include any long term returns in rental and increased property values.

Chapman also said the cost estimates did not include purchase of the land, estimated at an additional $2 million, but rather assumed that the project would be developed by private property owners rather than by the city which would then have to purchase the land.

Architect Edgar Bruce Ross who conceived the harbor-lagoon alternative, told the council that higher densities and buildings would have to be allowed around the perimeter of the lagoon in order to make the proposal feasible.

He said buildings probably would have to be four stories high and density would be much greater than that now allowed.

Miss Ellinwood, an enthusiastic supporter of the harbor-lagoon plan in past hearings, said that Tiburon residents "will not sit still" for such heights and densities.

She also expressed concern that the harbor development might "be so spectacular" that it would become a tourist mecca, "a place to be ogled."

Baar Condemns Storer's Stand On Dope Control

Louis H. Baar, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Fourth District, last night accused his opponent, incumbent Thomas T. Storer, of "completely unrealistic thinking when it comes to the narcotics problem in Marin."

Baar, speaking at a coffee for him at the San Rafael home of Wallace Marshall, said that Storer cast the only "no" in a 4-1 vote by the board of supervisors to increase the 1968-69 budget for the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau by $17,478.

To illustrate the need for increasing the bureau's budget, Baar said that 420 narcotics arrests were made in Marin during the first six months of 1968, compared with 151 for the entire 12 months of 1967.

"In my mind," said Baar, "there is virtually no more important work in the county than the effective control and eradication of narcotics and drugs, but obviously by opponent does not agree with me."

Baar also criticized Storer for voting against imposing a residency restriction on recipients of general relief.

House Burglarized

Paul B. Sippel of 48 Marion Avenue, Mill Valley, told police burglars took jewelry, $3 in change and several bottles of liquor from his home sometime between 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. yesterday. Police said the loss was estimated at $28.

Students Due Second Vote On Credits

A new election on a student-proposed measure giving course credit at College of Marin for holding student body offices will probably be scheduled for later this week, Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students, said today.

He said, however, that if approved by a two-thirds majority of the student voters, the proposal still would have to be submitted by a department head to the instructional council.

Diamond said this council, composed of 18 department heads and four student representatives, could reject it by a simple majority or pass it and refer it to the college cabinet.

The cabinet also could approve it by majority, then send it to the Marin Junior College District Board for approval or rejection, added Diamond.

He said sponsors of the proposal, the Students for Academic Freedom, could also have submitted the question to the instructional council by either petition or just a request through any department head, but chose the election route to first determine how many students favor it.

The issue lost at last Thursday and Friday election at the college, but an elections committee said instances of apparent ballot-stuffing were discovered and a new election would be held. A proposed new student constitution was defeated in the same election but the committee said although ballot-stuffing also appeared involved, the issue was so soundly defeated that the defeat will stand and no re-election will be held.

Woman Passenger Falls From Truck

Celeste A. Sarlatte, 27, of 17 Eaton Way, Mill Valley, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple scrapes and bruises after she fell from a moving truck in San Rafael, police said today.

Mrs. Sarlatte, police said, was a passenger in a truck driven by Patricia Messerschmidt, 41, of 950 Idylberry Road, San Rafael. When the truck rounded a corner at Carlos Drive and Mitchell Boulevard at 11:30 a.m., the door opened and Mrs. Sarlatte fell to the pavement, police said.

Poll Gives Cranston 12 Pct. Lead In Race

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAN FRANCISCO — Democrat Alan Cranston holds a 12 per cent lead over Republican Max Rafferty today in the latest Field poll.

The reported percentages of the poll taken Oct. 18-21 were 51 for Cranston, 39 for Rafferty, one for Peace and Freedom party nominee Paul Jacobs and nine undecided.

Rafferty said he was angry because Cranston had blamed him for an increase in drug use and crime among school children. And he expressed unhappiness with the story of Louis Van Herschler, a Tujunga resident who said he hired hippies to demonstrate against Rafferty while working in the Rafferty campaign. Rafferty denied knowledge of it.

And, he sought to link Cranston directly with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic presidential candidate who is trailing GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon in California polls.

Rafferty said Cranston and Humphrey "do everything together." They are like Damon and Pythias."

As for his own candidacy, he urged Californians to send him to Washington to supply Nixon with another vote in the Senate.

Rafferty expressed confidence that his final week of campaigning would put him well ahead of Cranston with 55 per cent of the vote on election day.

Cranston said yesterday the United States should never again send its troops to defend "undemocratc, unresponsive governments" like the one in South Vietnam.

"We made some foolish commitments in Viet Nam," the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate said. "We have other commitments that are unwise, we should seek to end those commitments as soon as possible."

"We have no business sending our men to kill people, and to get killed, solely to prop up governments in the name of anti - Communism, anti - fascism, or anti-any-other-isms," Cranston said in a speech to about 175 persons at the World Affairs Council of San Francisco.

Cranston said the U.S. should never again sent its troop to battle "solely in defense of economic and idealogical interests."

Murder Denied By Mother, Son

A Tiburon man and his 72-year-old mother pleaded innocent today to murder charges in San Francisco Municipal Court, where they were accused of killing a longtime family friend.

Elsie F. Nyhan, a widow in whose Nob Hill apartment the body of Mrs. Genevieve Dolan, 61-year-old legal secretary was found Friday, was sent to jail after the arraignment with bail set at $4,000.

Mrs. Nyhan had been free on her own recognizance but Asst. Dist. Attorney Stephen Bley asked Municipal Judge John A. O'Kane to revoke this arrangement.

Her son, Daniel Joseph Nyhan, 43, of Tiburon also is in jail with bail set at $2,500.

Bley had the case put over to tomorrow while he determines if it is to be taken before the San Francisco County Grand Jury.

FALSE ALARM ON RAINY DAY

year would be used to futher increase salaries, agreement to seek voters' approval of a hike in the district's property tax limit of $3.43 per $100 assed valuation for general purposes, agreement to seek more money from the state Legislature, that no cuts will be made in the number of teachers, and that teachers' salaries will get first consideration in future budgets.

However, the prospect of getting more money for teachers this year is slim, Bunker told the Independent-Journal. He said he made the same point for the teachers.

"Our budget is so tight, and income estimates so tight, that I'm going to be amazed if it varies much from what the estimate it will be," he said. Final income figures will not be known until May, 1969, he said, "and we could just as well be a little bit short as a little bit long."

The cost of the pay hike will have to be met partly by squeezing $110,000 out of the budget. Cuts will be made in every account, said Bunker, but the heaviest hit will be capital outlays. Many improvements and purchases of new squipment will have to be delayed to later years, he said.

The Novato chapter of the American Federation of Teachers had said the district could find money for the pay hike by abolishing the school bus system and by not opening San Marin High, which would leave the high school in split sessions all year.

The agreement also pledges the district will try to be more competitive with other districts' salaries. The Novato Teachers Association has said Novato ranks 32nd in the 92 districts it surveyed.

The 6 per cent hike would raise the present salary scale of $6,000 to $12,750 to a new range of $6,360 to $13,515.

Bunker said the $350,000 cost of the pay hikes for teachers and non-teaching employees would use $115,000 from reserves, $125,000 from Public Law 874 funds (federal aid for districts serving military bases), and $110,000 through reducing other items in the budget.

The 6 per cent compromise was worked out by the negotiating council before the teachers met in the high school gymnasium at 3 p.m.

Asked what assurance the teachers had that they would get the added 2 per cent pay hike during the balance of the year, George De Tuncq, who represents the 25 members of the American Federation of Teachers, said the district always gets 2 per cent more income than estimated.

Innocent Plea To Fraud Accusation

Harold Lee Burr, 36, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges of defrauding a Tamalpais Valley woman of $23,910 by getting her to finance an allegedly fraudulent tree-trimming project.

His case was continued a week for setting a jury trial date.

Marin City Board Waits For Reports

Members of the Marin City Community Services District — still disturbed by a suggestion from the Marin Council for Civic Affairs that the district board expand to include representatives outside the community — is polling Marin City residents on the matter.

District Director Charles W. Story said today that, "We don't like people outside the community suggesting what we should do, but we want to find out how the residents of Marin City feel about it."

Story said the residents views constituted one of several reports the board was waiting for and the one reason the Oct. 17 meeting was canceled.

The board also needs a report from the sheriff's department on the cost of law enforcement in Marin City in order to study the feasibility of taking over local law enforcement, he said.

And the board is waiting for information from the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency on the status of a proposed road from Marin City to Tennessee Valley because "we want to have some say in what is going on and what role we are to play," Story said.

The Oct. 17 meeting was canceled because none of this information was available at that time, Story said. A meeting was then scheduled for last Thursday, but the reports still weren't in.

Board members were notified of the cancellation of the special session but the press and public weren't. Story said that public notification was his duty but he was out of town and unaware the second meeting had been called off.

He said the board expected to set a special meeting as soon as the needed information was in. The next regularly scheduled meeting is Nov. 21.

the "Rowan and Martin Laugh-In" show.

A spokesman for the National Broadcasting Co. said under federal law political advertisements may not be censored by the networks. He said NBC received about 200 calls objecting to the commercial.

The Democrat National Committee said it immediately filed a protest with NBC and the National Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

It suggested a responsible executive of each of the networks, including CBS and ABC, screen future political commercials before they go on the air.

Alvin Spivak, director of public affairs for the Humphrey campaign, said: "We understand that the networks have the right to accept or reject any advertising—political or otherwise."

He also said in a statement that "NBC's policy, as stated to us, is that where there is potential controversy in a political advertisement they must be assured that the candidate himself has personally approved it. We must therefore assume that Nixon approved this one."

Marin County Departments. Security measures should be taken on all stations."

Irving reported that one witness has reported the bombers in Marin City were two Negro males, aged 19-21 years old. Another reported seeing three persons fleeing from the bombing scene.

Mayor Alioto said yesterday there was little doubt that the bombing attempt in Marin City, the dynamiting of a San Francisco police station, the bombings at the Highway Patrol office and juvenile hall in Oakland, were connected.

"The facts yield an inference that this was an organized effort," he said.

A bomb planted outside juvenile hall in Oakland dug a deep hole and shattered several windows, but injured no one.

Worst of the bombings occurred Sunday night when "six or seven sticks of dynamite" exploded outside the Richmond District police station in San Francisco.

The explosion ripped out windows in the station and caused about $10,000 damage to the station and surrounding buildings.

didate of "my party" for the Senate in 1970 he meant the Democratic-Farmer Labor Party of Minnesota.

Asked if he intended to leave the Democratic Party, he shot back: "I didn't say that."

Presumably he could run under another banner in 1970 or 1972, but he could not use the Farmer-Labor designation, under state law.

McCarthy, who said he had spoken with Humphrey "for a minute on the phone" Sunday, said he will make an appearance in behalf of the vice president's candidacy in the Los Angeles area tomorrow night.

McCarthy declined to speculate on Humphrey's chances of winning the election. But he said the prospects appear to have improved lately.

McCarthy was asked numerous questions about the possibility that he might become a candidate for re-election on some ticket other than the Democratic.

He noted that he had said in his formal statement that he would not ask his youthful supporters for the Democratic nomination to stay within the party in the future "unless those (nomination) processes have been clearly changed."

He said he thinks there may be some hope of changing these processes in a convention rules change commission being set up with Gov. Harold Hughes of Iowa as chairman.

Brothers Held In Prescription Filling Probe

Two brothers from Pacifica were jailed last night after a San Rafael pharmacist became suspicious of their attempt to have a prescription filled for pills containing a dangerous drug, San Rafael police said today.

Bryce James Mitchell, 26, and Dub Ferrell Mitchell, 21, were both held without bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Bryce Mitchell was booked for suspicion of forging a prescription, having an altered prescription, and conspiracy. Dub Mitchell was booked on suspicion of conspiracy, having no identification, and having no valid driver's license.

Police said the two tried to fill the prescription at Poehlmann's Pharmacy, 1430 Fourth Street, and the druggist called police.

Police said they also found a submachine gun and a .45-caliber pistol in the Mitchell car, but both were permanently plugged and inoperative.

Interns Threaten Strike; Criticize Care Of Patients

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Sixty interns at San Francisco General Hospital yesterday threatened a strike unless shortcoming in patient care at the public institution are cured.

At a news conference in the hospital courtyard, the interns complained of lack of an operating room in the obstetrics suite, long waits for emergency patients, and absence of laboratory and social workers during certain hours.

Two intern spokesmen, Drs. Peter Brill and Martin Albert, blamed the absence of an obstetrics operating room for recent deaths of a mother and two infants.

Bay Living Cost Hits Record High

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The cost of living in the San Francisco Bay Area has reached an all time high—4.2 per cent higher than a year ago, the U.S. Department of Labor said today.

The Consumer Price Index for the area is now 125.4, with 100 being the index of 1957-59. That means goods and services costing $10 in 1959 now cost $12.54.

In the past three months, the department said, there has been a 1.8 per cent increase in housing costs.

Grocery store prices on the average were slightly lower, but that was offset by the higher cost of restaurant meals and away-from-home snacks.

$3,952 From State For Rail Crossing

Supervisors Give Park-Rec Seat To Mrs. Newman

The county supervisors appointed Mrs. William B. Newman of Tiburon to the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, succeeding Aline M. McClain, who resigned today for what she said were "personal reasons."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr nominated Mrs. Newman to complete the term which expires in February of 1971. She was on the original committee which recommended a parks and recreation commission be set up in 1959, served the first commission, and was for many years its chairman.

Supervisors also appointed Elisa R. Stinson to the Economic Opportunity Council to replace Mary Lindheim who resigned, and reappointed Ernest N. Kettenhofen to the Marin County Retirement Board for three more years.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen was absent today because of illness. John F. McInnis presided.

Prop. 1-A Wins Nod; Supervisors Against Prop. 9

Marin County supervisors voted 4 to 0 today to oppose Proposition 9 on the Nov. 5 ballot, and supported Proposition 1-A by the same vote.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen was absent because of influenza.

The vote against Proposition 9 came on a motion by Peter H. Behr and a second by William A. Gnoss. The other motion, to support 1-A, was made by Behr and seconded by Thomas T. Storer.

Proposition 9 would limit property taxes to 1 per cent of market value by 1973 and would force schools, welfare and other people-related services to seek financing from other than property taxes.

Classrooms Problem For Lagunitas

The Lagunitas School District, facing a demand for return of portable classrooms and two to three weeks wait for completion of its new school, last night discussed what to do with the students if the two items don't mesh.

Supt. Marshall J. McCuniff said the district leased four classrooms last year but did not renew the lease this year because it was expected the new school would be ready sooner.

All that remains in the new San Geronimo Valley Elementary School is installation of floor coverings and light fixtures, McCunniff said.

He said there are two solutions if the portables are taken away: double sessions or use of available space such as the multi-purpose room for classes.

He said he hopes the portables will be left until the new school is completed.

The Lagunitas School District Board also:

SALARIES — Discussed salary policies in general, touching on topics ranging from credit for extension course work to how to pay teachers for extra duties. No decisions were reached but a work session was set for Dec. 2 to study details with the staff.

SCHOOL NAMING — Officially declared the name of the new school to be San Geronimo Valley Elementary School and discussed naming the two buildings on the campus, possibly through a district wide contest.

SCHEDULES — Took under advisement a request that the afternoon kindergarten schedule be changed so children would be dismissed earlier so they could get home before dark during the winter.

INSURANCE — Set Dec. 9 as the date to open bids on insurance for next year.

EYE TESTS — Agreed to test all kindergarten children for visual perception problems.

Maddox May Order 'Dixie' Played Daily

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Lester Maddox, angered by charges the song "Dixie" is a symbol of "white supremacy," says he may order it and the Star Spangled Banner played daily from the Georgia capitol dome.

Vassar To Accept Male Students

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Vassar College has announced plans to admit males students beginning in September 1970 with the ultimate aim of having men make up 50 per cent of its enrollment.

In the past Vassar has had men on campus under special programs, such as armed forces training during World War II. Vassar recently announced an exchange program with several Eastern men's colleges and that will be continued, the announcement said.

Airline Loses Suit Over Crash

MARTINEZ (AP) — A Fremont widow whose seven children were left fatherless in the May 7, 1964, crash of a Pacific Airlines plane near Danville has been awarded $280,000.

A Contra Costa County Superior Court jury awarded the damages to Mrs. George Baldwin, whose husband was among 44 persons killed when the plane crashed on a flight from San Francisco to Reno.

Crash investigators reported the plane went down after a crazed passenger, Frank Gonzalez of San Francisco, shot the pilot and copilot. His gun was found in the wreckage.

Library Merger Plan Studied In Petaluma

A proposed agreement for the merger of the Petaluma City Library with the Sonoma County library system was presented at a city council study session last night by the library board of trustees.

Trustee Chairman Kenneth M. Wightman said the loss of local autonomy would be outweighed by added services that would be available through the affiliation.

The agreement establishes a new library commission that would be made up of an appointed representative of each city participating, plus three from the county at large and two from Santa Rosa. "This would establish a balance of power and insure good representation," Wightman said.

Under the plan, each city would pay an initial tax levy of 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. Since Petaluma is a charter city, funds equivalent to the levy would be drawn from the general tax fund. A future tax ceiling of 30 cents is stipulated in the proposed agreement.

Wightman noted the city is now charging a fee of 19 cents for library services, so the affiliation represents a savings to the city. He said that, even if assessed valuation increased, the merger would probably never cost more than if the library were kept on the local level.

Miss Edna Bovett, head librarian, said the merger would mean better reference resources, increased book selection, better purchasing power with greater quantities and lowering of administrative costs with the prevention of duplicate services.

Noting bond issues for a new library have failed in the past few elections, Wightman said, "This paves the way for a new building and sets up a simpler means of acquiring it."

Councilman Phillip L. Joerger said he would like to see incorporated into the agreement stated intervals at which the tax might be raised. "It seems tax rates always seem to go up when we join a new system," he said. "The farther you get from local jurisdiction, the less responsibility is shown to the people."

The merger plan met with general council approval and will be presented at the Nov. 4 council meeting for further discussion and possible adoption. If approved by the Sonoma County Library Board, the agreement will be brought before the county board of supervisors for final action.

The Petaluma City Council also:

FIRE STATION — Heard a report from Fire Chief Roscoe A. Benton that an addition to the central fire station was badly needed. Benton said the addition of several pieces of equipment had caused crowded conditions and suggested a study of the addition of two bays. He also suggested enlargement of the dispatcher's office and kitchen area. Benton noted that architect Richard Lieb had agreed to study the situation and present a cost estimate. The council requested Benton and City Mgr. Robert H. Meyers to present the proposal at the Nov. 4 council meeting for discussion.

MOBILE HOMES — Heard a report from Planning Director William C. McGivern on the mobile home ordinance being considered by the county board of supervisors. Council indicated it wished to make no recommendation at this time.

Sentence Given On Prescription Forgery

Gregg Duncan Adams, 22, of Valley, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and placed on 18 months of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for forging drug prescriptions June 10 in Tamalpais Valley.

Judge Harold J. Haley declared the offense to be a misdemeanor and told Adams that he must submit periodically to tests to determine if he is using narcotics while on probation.

Four Teen-Agers Face Tiburon Marijuana Probe

Four teen-agers from Tiburon and Corte Madera were arrested yesterday by Tiburon police on suspicion of marijuana possession and for truancy.

Booked into Marin County Jail on investigation of possessing marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of minors was Russell F. Hoag, 18, of 44 Estrada Lane, Corte Madera. Bail was set at $625.

Three other youths, two 17-year-olds from Corte Madera and Tiburon and a 16-year-old from Tiburon, were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall on charges of marijuana possession. In addition, the two Tiburon boys were charged with truancy and the Corte Madera youth with being beyond parental control.

Police said the youths, recognized as truants, were stopped at 2 p.m. as they were driving out of the Hilarita Housing Project on Tiburon Boulevard.

A search of the car in which they were riding uncovered seeds and a substance which appeared to be marijuana in a cigarette box, police said. A pipe, normally used for smoking marijuana, was also found in the car, according to police.

MARIN NIXON/AGNEW CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

Dear Friends:

I am a student at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary. I have a total family of ten and limited income while in school, very limited. I feel a real obligation not only to Richard and Pat Nixon, as very esteemed friends, and to the GOP, but to our nation as well. We who work in the realm of spiritual matters are not blind to the physical and pressing political needs of social mankind, though we are often very limited in what we can do outside our given field of calling.

I offered to donate some time but lost contact with a very gracious person who contacted me much earlier to work in the area and am so pressed for time I haven't sought to reestablish the contact through the main headquarters, as I should have.

If you will be so kind as to accept a post-dated check, and be careful not to deposit it until after the first of the month, we will gladly work out a way to have even this small part and count it a privilege to be colaborators with you in seeking election for our GOP candidates - one and all. You may count upon our getting out and voting and of our attempts to persuade others to do the same - and for our TEAM.

Kindest personal regards,

MEADERS may have some of the fanciest equipment made (including an IBM-programmed cleaning machine), but they haven't thrown away the hand irons. In fact, all your cleaning is hand finished at Meaders. Meaders thinks that's the beauty of advanced equipment—it does its job better, and frees people for the careful hand work that no machine can do. Old-fashioned, maybe; but your clothes will show you what Meaders means.

New Team May Save University At Berkeley

University of California may have finally found a Berkeley chancellor who can save the institution.

And the chancellor is making use of a right-hand man who was there all the time, ready and willing to enforce the rules but lacking support when he tried to do so.

Chancellor Roger Heyns has at last drawn the line and said, "This is where revolt must stop!"

He has announced that those arrested in the Moses Hall sit-in, and perhaps some of those who tried to seize Sproul Hall and others who demonstrated outside the buildings, are up for expulsion from the university.

And the man who will carry the case for expulsion is Dean of Students Arleigh Williams, who has not lost the toughness that made him an alltime U. C. football great as the Golden Bears' captain and quarterback in 1934.

IT IS NOT at all surprising that Chancellor Heyns' tough line immediately brought protests and strike calls from students and condemnation from a segment of the faculty. That it would do so was a foregone conclusion. The spoiled child who has always won his way by screaming is bound to yell all the louder when dad ignores the screams and applies the hickory.

But Chancellor Heyns and Dean Williams look like a strong combination. And whatever the howls from minorities of student body and faculty, they may be sure of majority support both on and off the campus.

ROGER HEYNS is a newcomer to the scene; but many in Marin know Arleigh Williams. He was a longtime Fairfax resident and was dean of students at College of Marin before returning to his alma mater as director of student activities in 1957. He was made dean of men two years later, and dean of students in the upheaval that followed the Free Speech Movement riots and the Sproul Hall sit-in of 1964.

He showed his mettle promptly — and as promptly had the ground cut from under him by a wishy-washy administration. In March, 1965, he ordered three students who took part in the "filthy speech movement" that month to appear before a special disciplinary committee to face possible dismissal. But Chancellor Martin Myerson dissolved the committee. One student, however, eventually was expelled.

The same month, Myerson banned from campus sale an indecent paper called "Spider" and a pornographic play. But when Williams tried to enforce the ban, Myerson pulled its teeth with a set of provisos.

THIS TIME, Williams has behind him a different kind of chancellor. Heyns has declared that building seizures, property destruction and other disruption of the university "justifies the most severe disciplinary action."

That means expulsion.

It has taken a long time for the showdown at U. C. to come, but it looks like it may finally be here. It had to come soon or the once-proud state university would have ceased to function as a center of learning.

Campaign question: Is Spiro Agnew a bigger handicap to Richard Nixon than Lyndon Johnson is to Hubert Humphrey?

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

County supervisors in California are supposed to be nonpartisan, yet again a contest for Marin supervisor is elbow-deep in partisan politics.

The politics is Republican, of course, since there is no particular advantage to being a Democrat in Marin.

The candidate pushing the partisan line this time is Donald J. O'Leary of Tiburon, who is opposing Michael Wornum of Mill Valley for the Third District seat.

O'Leary, to his credit, is promoting his Republicanism openly, both before public meetings and in print. Voters should ballot for GOP candidates from president to supervisor, he told more than 400 Republicans last week at a party party.

JUST BEING frank about his partisanship, however, is not good enough — since the state's constitution states that all county elections shall be nonpartisan. Presumably, O'Leary otherwise would agree the constitution is not to be forgotten because it is expedient to do so.

O'Leary, and other local candidates who previously have tried to capitalize on the partisan politics, break no law when they cavort on their party's platform, but neither do they honor the California Constitution.

O'Leary claims the voters benefit when a candidate declares his partisanship. This way, he says, voters can compare candidates on the basis of their party's platforms, goals and policies.

His approach to the nonpartisan contest may work in 1968, of course — and success is what counts in politics — but would he have been so eager to identify with his party in 1964?

HENRY J. BRODERICK of Tiburon, O'Leary's campaign manager, has denied a published suggestion that his candidate did not report all of his campaign expenditures after the June primary. Broderick has the figures to prove his point, so that charge should appear to be worn out.

MAX RAFFERTY, by coincidence, manages to be on newsstands and in homes throughout California this week with a piece in Reader's Digest entitled, "Crack Down on the Smut Kings."

The issue also has a nice story about Spiro T. Agnew (GOP vice presidential nominee). Last month, it ran Nixon's acceptance speech accepting the nomination (in 1968).

THE ANGUISHED contortions of the GOP leadership to get Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel's endorsement of Rafferty grow more desperate each week.

Last week, the state Republican State Central Committee dug up some Kuchel statements made in October, 1967, to show that "both Senator Kuchel and Max Rafferty disagree with Alan Cranston's posture respecting peace in Southeast Asia."

The statements by Kuchel, however, do not mention either Cranston or Rafferty. That was back in Kuchel's happier days.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Maybe It's Time To Step Backward

It seems you are correct in your editorial recommendations for the coming election, for your viewpoint encompasses what surfacedly is best for all. Nevertheless, you must agree that the best for all may well be an agony for some. After 20 years of voting for the beneficial 'good' of all (and you are aware of the result) I personally regard this same election with a somewhat vengeful glee and an opportunity to undo whatever harm my votes have done.

For instance, too opportune is this chance to lash back against political executives without courage, governmental agencies now grown to dynasties, the demoralizing lack of human relations and dignity in our educational institutions, the militant racist black who ignorantly insists upon remaining the nigger, the local experiments in lower level teaching (where the educator calmly abandons any pretense of duty), the relentless tax crush upon our over-burdened home-owners, the cancerous inflation caused by we, the people, and our weak social structure with uncontrolled unions and corporations, etc., a senseless gun law emphatically stupid and a flagrant attempt to legalize local discrimination.

Think a bit on the other side, Mr. Goodforall. Do we not urgently need an outspoken strong fist of a type as Mr. Wallace? Is there any better way to restore control of dynasties, hierarchies, uselessness, waste, sanity and morality than by making the tax dollar scarce and difficult to get?

Mr. Editor, purges are unpopular but necessary for the system. Laugh with us. Vote your demand for one step backwards. Seems to me our nation has one revocable foot up along the wrong road.

University Regents' Addresses Sought

In keeping with your fine tradition of community and public service, will you please publish the full list of names of the regents of the University of California at Berkeley, and also at Santa Barbara, and their addresses. It would also be enlightening to know how these regents are appointed, or elected, and for how long.

Inasmuch as the president of UC seems disinclined to take any action re the Cleaver affair, it behooves all of us taxpaying citizens to write the regents and express our views. I am outraged that this convicted felon who has spent nine of his 33 years behind bars should be dignified with the title of lecturer at the university, spewing forth his hatred and obscenities and making a mockery of our government and government officials. . . .

Not Up To School To Do Road Work

After over two months of hard work by numerous citizens groups and individuals, and a petition signed by over 1,000 persons, it appears that there will be no improvement to the dangerous walkway along Sir Francis Drake Blvd. in Greenbrae.

The board of supervisors wants the homeowners of Greenbrae and the Kentfield School District to pay for 74 per cent of the cost to correct a design error the county made years ago. The Greenbrae taxpayers pay the schools to educate children and pay the county to do road work, so do it!

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A CANNY ILLINOIS merchant claims that this ad pulled four times as many inquiries as any he had previously tried: "LADIES! Earn a lot of money in your spare time. Rent one of my electric rug-shampooers for only $2 a day. Then tell your husband you spent $30 to have the rug cleaned."

PAT PAULSEN defended his tongue-in-cheek try for a presidential nomination by pointing out, "Considering some of the other 'candidates,' what possible harm could one more comedian do? On the whole they are a swell bunch of fellows — but, seriously, would you want your sister to vote for one of them?"

Paulsen declares unequivocally that he's for more garbage collections and fewer tax collections. Despite his melancholy mien, he insists, he's a cheerful, optimist soul. "I've had a happy life," he says, "with the possible exception of 1953, when, unfortunately, I passed away!"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Undecipherable Richard Nixon —Is He A Dual Personality?

CAMPAIGNING WITH NIXON — One of the afflictions of a presidential candidate is a horde of reporters who between stints of telling the news — too often thin and repetitious — spend their time psychoanalyzing the man at the center of the stage. Both in conversation and in print Richard Nixon has had more than his share of his time on the amateurs' couch.

He is a complex man. That is surely one reason so many thousands of words have been spilled in print and on the air over what his true nature is. Many of the analysts fall back on the old Nixon, the new Nixon, the old style, the new style, while others frankly confess their inability to find the real man. It is a synthetic product manufactured out of the new electronic and computer techniques, the harshest analysts conclude.

HERE IN ALL modesty is another two-bit analysis of the Republican candidate who seems so likely to be the next President of the United States. There are two essential Nixons and there have been from the beginning of his career. The difficulty in reconciling these two disparate Nixons accounts for much of the bafflement and the wordage on the mysterious complexities of a complex individual.

The private Nixon is the quiet Quaker, the introvert. This is the Nixon members of his staff talk about with admiration for his thoughtful, analytical mind. They speak of the need for solitude of an essentially shy man. They find it pleasant to work for him, since he rarely if ever loses his temper and is almost always open to suggestions and criticism. This is the Nixon few of us see.

THE OTHER Nixon is the tough gut fighter in this wind-up of a campaign that for him comes as the climax of years of work and concentration. In his earlier campaigns, for the Senate in 1948 and as the hatchet man for General Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956, the weapon was communism. He used it with subtlety and skill.

This time it is crime and law and order. He is attacking Hubert Humphrey with the ruthlessness of the street fighter of past years. He accuses Humphrey of encouraging crime and violence and supporting the courts that free confessed murderers and rapists. It sends the crowd, for the most part partisan and highly organized, turning out for him.

You can almost see him revving himself up to the pitch of the other Nixon. If it is alien to the private Nixon, the Nixon of thoughtful solitude, the Quaker who speaks movingly of his Quaker mother and how he sold the pies she made to earn his first money, that is a secret beyond the amateurs. The disciplined surface rarely breaks as it did after his defeat in the governorship race in California in 1962.

ONE OF THE words bandied about by the amateur psychologists following in the candidate's wake is insecurity. Nixon is plagued by insecurity. That is the verdict in the glib jargon of the analysts who dissect endlessly the public conduct of the candidate.

He shows his insecurity, so the analysis goes, when hecklers try to drown him out. He tenses up, his voice rises, his smile is replaced by a stern, determined look. This is, of course, the critical point in a career that has had more ups and down than a roller coaster, and it would be surprising if he didn't feel a certain insecurity and tension.

The relationship between Nixon and the working press — the gaggle of dissectors who in record numbers are following the seeming winner this time — has from his earliest campaigns been a source of controversy. Letters from Nixon partisans burn with indignation — you're unfair, you're prejudiced, you're a liberal, you're a Communist. Why can't you recognize a great man?

As one traveling reporter has sampled it, the same condition prevails today. The working press finds it easy to dislike Nixon. They see not the private Nixon but the tough fighter who turns it up higher and higher as E-Day draws near. Demagogue is one of the gentlest terms applied to the public Nixon in this climactic phase.

THIS WOULD be singularly unimportant, since most reporters try hard to keep their prejudices out of their work if it were not for one thing. To some degree the prejudice reflects opinion in the country. While the Nixon organization delivers with extraordinary efficiency, Nixon the man has a limited appeal. Does he, in John Gardner's phrase, have "communicable warmth"?

The answer may not be important for the outcome of the election. Many voters wanting a change will vote for Nixon because they believe he can find a way out of the present sea of troubles. Hope rather than faith or any strong personal attraction puts them in the Nixon corner.

But Nixon knows that communicable warmth can be vital to the enormous task he faces if he becomes President.

Nine Sheikhs Seek Ways To Preserve Independence

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In air-conditioned comfort, amid the luxuries that oil can bring, nine white-robed, bearded rulers of tiny sheikdoms along the coast of the Persian Gulf are meeting to seek ways of self-preservation.

Uppermost in their minds is the fear that when the British complete their withdrawal from east of Suez by the end of 1971, they might fall to the same type of Egyptian-inspired revolution that tumbled the South Arabian Federation after British withdrawal last November.

Wishing them well are American, British and other western oil companies which fear the machinations not only of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser but of the Russians as well.

BRITISH investment in the area is figured at some $280 million.

The American stake is even larger.

Composing the nine are Qatar (pronounced "gutter") and Bahrain plus the trucial states— Sharjan, Adman, Ras al Khaimah, Umm Al Quiwain, Fujairah, Abu Dhabi and Dubai. All lie along the shallow, tepid waters of the of the Persian Gulf across from Iran.

Altogether, their populations total about 400,000.

The seven trucial states obtained their group name through a treaty with Britain in 1853 abolishing piracy and the slave trade.

PROSPERITY of Bahrain, Qatar and Abu Dhabi, richest of the trucial states, rests upon oil. Abu Dhabi, with a population of 25,000, has an annual oil income of close to $100 million, giving it the highest per capita income of all the gulf states.

Dubai is the merchant state, center of trade among the trucial states as well as of gold-smuggling.

Ajman is the smallest and poorest with a population of about 5,000 and for its health dependent upon touring doctors.

These are the sandy sheikdoms which soon must fend for themselves.

AS THE 6,000-MAN British force is withdrawn, Bahrain will inherit barracks and air force installations plus small naval facilities. Protecting the trucial states has been the small British-officered Trucial Oman Scouts, a force which now must be taken over. Qatar has a small internal military force of between 3,000 and 4,000 men.

Saudi Arabia feuds with Abu Dhabi and Muscat and Oman over the Buramai oasis. Iran lays claim to Bahrain which it ruled from 1602 to 1783. Saudi Arabia proclaims its "Arab character."

Still to be settled are questions of defense, selection of a president and a headquarters, voting rights and other matters.

Narrow, Unsafe Novato Streets Draw Blame For Accidents

One day last week, a teenage girl was hit by the side of a car on Center Road in Novato. Police blamed the accident on the fact that the road has only 15 feet of pavement and narrow dirt shoulders.

Several times in the past year, there have been bicycle accidents caused by similar conditions.

The older portions of Novato have narrow and dangerous streets, and the city, since incorporation eight years ago, has not had enough money to do any major reconstruction of them.

Parents should remember the danger of the streets when they think how they will vote on the $3 million bond issue in next Tuesday's election.

SPEAKING OF elections, the Novato City Council scheduled a special meeting with Novatans for Racial Equality for Nov. 5. It was not until their meeting last week that they realized that was election night.

Maybe we can get a television set in the council chambers so we can watch the election results, suggested Mayor Harley McAskill.

Since that meeting, the council has had second thoughts and is trying to change the date. If it is not successful, it will be one of the few council meetings ever held the night of a general election.

NOVATO IS TRYING to pull itself out of the small town class, and is having a tough time doing it. Several national firms have been trying to start businesses in the city.

Denny's Restaurant is one of them. Plans for its building was approved and the building started. Then the company had trouble getting the sign it wanted. Sign plans were kicked between the plan review committee, the planning commission, the city council, and finally granted. Then citizens made an appeal against the signs via petitions. When no one showed up at the hearing, the council held a special meeting at 7 a.m. and heard about 25 people protest the signs. The council granted them anyway. The parking lot of the building was being paved while the council granted the sign permits.

Such delays discourage businesses from coming into the city.

NOVATO'S NEW dog control officer is working out better than most people expected. There are a few areas of the city where residents say that there are as many dogs roaming loose as before. But these are getting fewer as citations are given to dog owners.

It may be that the humane officer assigned to Novato will not have much to do one of these days.

Maybe the city should consider sub-letting him to other cities in which the residents are complaining of dog problems.

Time To Strengthen Wills Against New Threat Of Peace

WASHINGTON — Whenever we have a peace scare in the United States as we have been experiencing for the past few weeks, I search out my dear friend, Gen. Hurtus Dismay, formerly of the Air Force Bomber Command, who knows more about war than any living authority.

"Is peace inevitable?" I asked General Dismay, who had just returned from a three-day trip to Vietnam.

"Not necessarily. In the Atomic Age we must always live with the threat of peace, but I think it can be avoided."

"But how?"

"FIRST BY NOT making any overtures to the enemy that might provoke them into thinking that we want peace, and second by ignoring any peace feelers from the other side, no matter how promising they are. When peace threatens, you must use all the military know-how you have to prevent it from becoming a reality."

"But how can you do this, general?"

"Quite simple. If the enemy lets up on the fighting, you announce they are losing the war and it is the best time to go in the clean them out once and for all. If the enemy continues fighting, you announce that the enemy has no intention of seeking peace and they must be beaten with every weapon at your disposal. The worst thing to show during a peace scare is any sign of weakness."

"WHAT, IN YOUR opinion, is the best way to avoid all-out peace?"

"By stepping up the bombing. The more you bomb, the less chance you have of someone making a mistake that could lead to peace negotiations.

"One of the problems you have to deal with when you fight a war is that 'civilian-nonidustrial complex,' which seems intent on provoking peace for its own selfish gains. If we left it up to the complex, there would be some kind of peace every 10 years."

"Does the President of the United States realize this?"

"At the beginning the President had his guard up against the peace-mongers, but as time went on he was under so much pressure from special interest groups who have more to gain from peace than war that he started giving in, against the best advice of the military. During the first four years in Vietnam, there was never any talk of peace. We prevailed because we had persuaded the President that we could win the war without peace. But then the President got cold feet and initiated the Paris peace talks, which we feel could eventually lead to a peaceful confrontation between the two sides. If both sides refused to back down, and wanted to wage peace, then I wouldn't even want to the imagine the consequences."

"WHAT CAN the average citizen do to avoid a peaceful settlement in Vietnam?"

"He can demand the continuation of the bombing, the invasion of North Vietnam, the pursuit of the enemy into Laos and Cambodia and de-escalation of the war so we can win it once and for all."

"But will anybody listen?" I asked.

"Maybe not at first. If enough people raise their voices against the peace, they will have to do something about it."

"But every time I raise my voice against peace in Vietnam, I'm called a hawk," I cried.

"This is a question of conscience, and if you really believe in war as a way of settling things, you have to expect to be ridiculed and called names. History is on your side. In the age of sophisticated weaponry and nuclear hardware, peace can no longer be considered a feasible way of solving our problems."

"YOU'VE GIVEN ME great strength, general," I said.

He put his hand on my shoulder. "Don't despair. Even if peace seems inevitable, somehow we'll muddle through."

Two Ponies Taken From A Pasture

Two ponies were taken from a field on Viento Way, Point Reyes Station, sometime Friday night, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Elizabeth G. McKinney reported Friday morning that the ponies were taken from her pasture. She said they apparently were not ridden away because she found their bridles.

Inflation Distorts Sense Of Values

My wife and I walked a quarter of a mile to see the Marin Renaissance Faire but promptly turned around and retraced our steps, when we saw the price of admission.

Once more, evidence of inflation raises its ugly head!

It is reported in one of our national magazines that the standard of health in the United States is away down the list when compared with other countries, some of which are quite poor financially, compared with the U. S. Why should this be so, some people may ask? . . . Doctors's bills and medical expenses have increased to such a level that nowadays many people choose to wait an illness out rather than consult a physician. Three years ago, whilst we were on a holiday, a doctor took two minutes to remove a foreign object from my wife's eye with a cotton swab, charge? Seventeen dollars!

Another example of how people are being taken for a ride without any attempt to raise their voices in protest came to me the other week.

A dinner (no doubt a good one), drinks, and a floor show featuring a male vocalist (Tonny Bennett) — a total cost $60! Nowadays entertainers with little or no talent earn astronomical sums, many making more than the President of the United States! These long-haired creatures would be making what they are worth, if the public had a well-balanced, sane sense of values.

What to do about it? Judge prices reasonably, as to what one really thinks the merchandise or a service is worth. If too much is asked, turn your back on it!

I studied the Independent-Journal's pictures and story on the Marin Renaissance Faire, but I must confess, I still cannot understand what fabulous show lay behind it's gates to be worth $2.75 per adult!

Case In Behalf Of Proposition 9

Proposition 9 is the middle-class revolt against property taxes that are crippling. It represents the efforts of thousands of citizens who gave of time, effort and small funds to place Proposition 9 on the ballot as a constitutional amendemtn. This is a last ditch effort and must be recognized as a struggle of the people to afford themselves relief from what presently amounts to and results in confiscation of property — 5,000 foreclosures per month in California.

The California constitution requires a .... majority vote (which in this case it traditionally is never able to muster) to tax corporations which presently are not being taxed their fair share. California has virtually never had an oil severance tax — a tax that pays 17 per cent of the yearly budget of the huge state of Texas. Unless enough pressure is brought to bear on our legislators by the small property owners to equalize the pressure on them from powerful lobbies like the California Taxpayers Association, there will be no equalization and present intolerable taxation will continue unabated.

Proposition I A is a one-year, hastily construed stop-gap measure and only Proposition 9 offers phased-out permanent assistance to the small property owner.

Bible, Not Cleaver, Needed By Young

We live in a world going mad with confusion. We elect leaders who can't lead, who select generals who are not allowed to win. It is fashionalbe for churches to magnify man, minimize God and deny the Bible. Students come to destroy the schools, but will stand in line to attend classes taught by revolutionaries and uneducated boors.

Now our pampered, empty-headed youth, heralded as the leaders of tomorrow, clamor for classes conducted by Eldridge Cleaver, whose own education appears to have been gleaned from the walls of public restrooms. What a contrast, that this purveyor of hate be allowed on campus to subvert America's youth while the ban of prayer and Bible reading in schools, the most blasphemous example of censorship, stands as the Law of the Land!

Cleaver supporters remark that "he has something to say." The message of the Bible is more pertinent to today's youth and the world in general than anything this false prophet of racial fear could offer. They say, "Cleaver has written a book." This quality would hardly commend fellow authors Adolf Hitler and Karl Marx to lead accredited courses at taxpayer-supported schools. Jesus Christ never wrote a book, but our Savior's teachings are what the world really needs in this dire hour.

Proposition 1-A Vs. Proposition 9

Regardless of the I-J taking a stand for Proposition 1-A, the informed taxpayer and long-suffering homeowner will vote for No. 9.

For once in our lives, we have a chance to get the tax off our homes, where it is being wrongfully for years.

Proposition No. 9 also will appropriately show where our money goes. As it now stands who knows where the money is being spent, and who cares?

Proposition 1-A was inserted into the ballot just to confuse the voter. This is already law and to put it on the ballot means absolutely nothing. . . .

Proposition 9 was signed into a measure by the taxpayers who signed 875,000-plus petitions, after your representatives failed to vote a tax deduction this year. Unlike Proposition 1-A, it is not "an afterthought." This measure has been in the planning stages for years and worked out by hard working taxpayers, like yourselves, who have your interests at heart.

J. D. SMITH
San Rafael

(Editor's note: Reader Smith errs in thinking the Independent-Journal endorsed Proposition 1-A. The I-J has called for "NO" votes on both 1-A and 9 (see editorials, Oct. 2, 4, and 10). He errs also in believing the tax rebate or other features of Proposition 1-A are already law. Bills were passed by the Legislature providing for these only IF Proposition 1-A is approved by the voters and receives a higher vote than Proposition 9.)

Olympic Athletes' Action Sickens

Tommy Smith and Carlo's exhibition on the winners' stand the other day sickened me and from what I have heard from everyone that I talked to it also made them disgusted. Why do these losers, and that is what they are, despite their track victories, think they can flount the U.S. flag? Too many of our sons and daughters have died for this flag to let it be dishonored by these two jerks.

It is a shame that Smith and Carlos can't keep their mouths shut long enought to read "Road to Revolution" by ex-Communist leader Phillip Abbot Luce, in which he spells out how the U.S. black is being exploited by the Communist party to promote national unrest in this country.

Minority people will never pull themselves up out of their so called "gheitos" by using force! (Ghettos? look around at where some of the so-called whities have to live.) To get out of their Ghettos, minorities have to stop burning schools and start attending them.

In reply to their statement, "that the white man sends the blacks over to do their fighting for them." I recall when I was over seas in combat there were no blacks in our outfit. Seems like the white man has done all the fighting for the blacks up until now. . .

If Free To Ignore, No Standard Violat

Your editorial entitled "In Name of Freedom, Colleges Banish Decency" (Oct. 18) read like a grandstand play to off-campus, self-styled vigilantes. How can you justify, on the basis of the controversy over a single essay, "The Student as Nigger" by Gerald Farber, an across-the-broad indictment of today's education? Your overstatements included: "The jargon of the gutter has become the language of higher education," "The student as Nigger is a product of our new education system," "Professor Hage defended the publication . . . in a fashion that has become typical of 'educators'.' and "Decency has been abandoned on the campus"?

Your cross-country tracking of this controversy carried you to my alma mater, the University of Minnesota. I seem to remember that the Minnesota Daily, was free to be read and/or ignored by students, so that no one's standard of decency need by violated. When you condemn the Minnesota Daily's running of the essay as "defying authority" are you suggesting that journalists must clear their copy through the governor's office or English department? The relevant authority in this case is obviously Professor Hage who heads the editorial committee of the student publication control board. I must assume he was speaking for the majority of that board when he defended the student editor as being "motivated by an ethical commitment to report the news completely and accurateiy."

JOHN THOMPSON
San Rafael

(Editor's Note: "The Student As Nigger" was used as an example. It is by no means an isolated one. The Gater, student newspaper at San Francisco State College, offers many others. So do student (and some non-student) speakers on campuses, including College of Marin, the reports of whose speeches in the daily press must be severely expurgated for the sake of decency.)

Why Be Afraid To Register Guns?

I take extreme umbrage at the letter from Mrs. Ronald W. Tennler in last night's (Oct. 22) paper.

My lovely, handsome, life-loving, 19-year-old son lies dead in his grave just because any moron, sadist or paranoiac with visions of Communists hiding under every bed can buy a gun.

Sportsmen, target-shooters and honest citizens, indeed! These emotionally immature people want their lethal toys to play with, to build their own miserable egos. But guns kill people! The statistics show plainly, for even the most narrow-minded to see, the innocent are the victims of guns kept in the home.

But as I understood Dr. Leo Wagner's letter earlier, he was only advocating registration of guns. Why should these people be afraid to register their guns? Then, should they be stolen, they could be traced. If they are used in a crime it might be more easily solved.

We will keep whatever freedom we might still have through love and reason, not because nincompoops own guns.

Bridge Director Choice Protested

Months ago I wrote to the board of supervisors of Marin County and asked them to explain their situation, from our understanding that there was a "deal" with Mr. William Bagley that his law partner would be named on the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board. To date I have never received an answer. No wonder we need to have officials with some manners.

We strongly object to a person not a commuter to this board. He does not know the problems today of the commuter. But it was all worked out again in the "smoke-filled" rooms, with Mr. Storer voting for him. Mr. Storer said on the TV Channel 7 that the Golden Gate Bridge is owned by the State of California. He is wrong.

Why can't we have a native son of California on that board and a commuter?

Compromise In Drath Campaigning

Attorneys for congressional candidate Phillip Drath of San Rafael and the Northgate Shopping Center have arranged a compromise in their dispute over the rights of Drath enthusiasts to campaign at the shopping center.

The compromise was arranged Friday in the chambers of Judge Hadden W. Roth, who is sitting temporarily in Superior Court.

Judge Roth last week signed a temporary restraining order, forbidding the center or its managers from interfering with the distribution of Drath campaign literature at the center. An Independent-Journal article incorrectly reported that the order had been issued by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Judge Roth reported yesterday that, under the compromise, Drath may have no more than two campaign people at the center at one time and that they may not distribute handbills in the center's parking lot.

Northgate officials agreed, in return, not to limit the candidate's representatives to a booth at the shopping center, Judge Roth said.

Women Looking For Furniture

An Oakland woman reported Friday that she had consigned $8,000 worth of furniture to a firm at Town and Country Shopping Center two years ago and the firm has since left, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Mary G. Owen told deputies she had consigned the furniture to Rhoda Selden Interior Decoration and that she believed the firm had left with it.

No reason was given for the delay in reporting the incident.

Thieves Loot Boat On Canal

Two boats on the San Rafael canal were looted during the weekend, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Between Thursday and Saturday thieves took a $200 movie camera and a $100 radio and direction-finder from the cruiser of William G. Edimiston of San Francisco, docked at 557 Francisco Boulevard.

Between Thursday and Sunday, a portable television set, radio, barometer, humidity meter, and compass-ashtray valued at a total of $218 were taken from the boat of Wayne C. Jackson of Daly City, docked at 27 Harbor Street.

Cost Estimate Review Ordered Of New School

A definitive review of cost estimates for the Reedland Woods School has been ordered by the Reed School District board, according to Supt. H. Joe Edgington.

The board, meeting Saturday morning, set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 14 at Bel Aire School to review the cost estimates with staff and architect Ronald D. Young of Santa Clara.

Edgington said the Saturday workshop session was called so the board could study cost problems of the school construction caused mainly by inflation and unexpected site excavation costs.

There was no public notice of the meeting because agendas announcing the special meeting, mailed from Tiburon Thursday, did not arrive at the Independent-Journal office until this morning.

The board also approved an additional expenditure of $1,300 for capping a spring and $7,000 for to correct drainage problems on the Reedlands Woods site, Edgington said.

Bagley Predicts Giant GOP Win

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The GOP national ticket will carry California by more than a half million votes Nov. 5, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, predicted yesterday.

Central Valley voters "will contribute heavily to that margin of victory," said Bagley, chairman of the Nixon-Agnew campaign's media relations committee in California.

Newspaper endorsements of the Nixon-Agnew ticket are running better than five to one over the Democratic national ticket, Bagley said in a statement to the press

Doctor's Office Is Looted In San Anselmo

Burglars struck twice in San Anselmo Sunday, police reported yesterday.

They said entry to the office of Dr. Bernard J. Conroy, 25 San Anselmo Avenue, was made about 12:30 p.m. by breaking out a window near the main entrance. Taken were 10 blank prescription forms, officers said.

Jack D. Carbin, 562 Scenic Avenue, reported someone entered the open front door of his home, making off with five silver dollars and a wedding ring worth $300. The break-in was discovered at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Interested youths may obtain further information through new local offices of the program, available through telephone information operators.

Republican Group Opposing Prop. 1

The conservative United Republicans of California has declared its opposition to state Proposition 1 on the Nov. 5 general election ballot, reported the Seventh Assembly District director, Frank M. Sloan of Fairfax.

The proposition, designed to streamline the state constitution, would "open the door to ever bigger and more powerful government," according to UROC. The organization particularly objected to the provision in the proposal to make the state superintendent of public instruction an appointive post instead of an elective one.

SPEAKER — Syndicated columnist Roscoe Drummond, whose column appears in the Independent-Journal, will lecture on "The State of the World" at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the fine arts building theater at College of Marin, Kentfield.

A Rafferty Retraction Is Demanded

I-J Special Report

SANTA CRUZ — Drummond Pike of Ross, a junior and chairman of the Inter-College Board at the University of California at Santa Cruz, has demanded that Max Rafferty either retract statements he recently made about the university or prove what he said.

Rafferty, after a disturbance at a meeting of the university regents Oct. 18 at the campus here, termed the campus "something between a hippie pad and a brothel."

Rafferty, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, also said the disturbance "was Communist inspired."

Pike, stating he was writing as an individual, said that if Rafferty failed to retract and apolozize for his statements, he should "bring criminal charges against those persons breaking the law as you alleged." Pike sent the letter Thursday, then sent copies to newspapers.

All of Rafferty's allegations "are absolutely and totally false," declared Pike, whose major is government. He demanded Rafferty make an immediate reply to the letter.

Panel Formed For Improving Race Relations

A program to combat Lucas Valley Marinwood racism blamed on the homogeniety of the suburbs was proposed by a new Human Relations Council last night at a meeting of the Coordinating Council of Dixie School District parents clubs.

The new group is an outgrowth of a committee formed in the district in June out of concern over instances of racial name calling, harrassment and intimidation of minority families by parents, teachers and children, the council stated.

PROPOSED PLAN

It proposed recruiting of minorities for district employment, in-service programs for school employees on the urban crisis, classroom studies of minority groups contributions to the development of society, helping school personnel deal with discrimination, employing persons who will implement such practices and formation of human relations groups to work toward a fully integerated society.

One black mother said she had lived in the South and East and had never been subjected to racial name calling until she "lived here."

She said the program wasn't formulated just because of name calling but to broaden the scope of pupils' learning so they are "made aware of the times they're living in."

A teacher said children have to be "encouraged to accept differences." When she showed a film of poor people in Mexico City living in tin shacks, pupils laughed, she reported.

Council members noted that name calling was also directed at handicapped pupils.

ASK MEMBERSHIP

Members requested an appointment to the coordinating council and that group indicated it would act favorably, possibly at its Nov. 25 meeting.

The coordinating council elected Philip Bates, a representative of Bernard Hoffman School, as president for 1968-69.

He succeeds Mrs. Daniel C. Beittel who was elected vice president.

The council also opposed Proposition 9, the Watson Amendment on the ballot next Tuesday which would phase out property tax revenue for schools over a five-year period and limit overall bonding capacity.

Guilty Plea To Robbing Youth

Kenneth Wayne Bailey, 19, of Fairfax, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to charges that he robbed a 14-year-old Fairfax boy and committed a lewd and lascivious act with him July 20 in that city.

Judge Harold J. Haley suspended the criminal proceedings and ordered the youth examined by doctors to determine if he is a mentally disordered sex offender.

The judge, on the recommendation of the district attorney, dismissed an additional charge that Bailey committed an unnatural sex act in Fairfax the same day.

Rifles Stolen

Two bolt action, .22-caliber Remington rifles, valued at $45 apiece were stolen Friday night from Mac's Disco store, 555 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Businessmen Doubtful Of Mill Valley Plans

Development plans for Mill Valley's commercial areas last night won faint praise from local businessmen in a hearing on the plans before the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Criticism of the plans centered on its proposal to replace parking on the west side of Lytton Square with a pedestrian mall. Parking close to their businesses was termed their "lifeblood" by several speakers who said loss of any parking would drive customers to shopping centers.

Thomas Cooke, one of the planning consultants who prepared the plans, pointed out that street parking would be replaced by new parking lots behind stores. Several persons in the audience of about 40 persons, however, questioned whether the city could afford to buy the land necessary for new parking lots.

The $27,000 planning project is called the "701 program" because it was partly financed by an $18,000 federal grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development under section 701 of the Housing Act of 1954. The remaining $9,000 was paid by the city.

The consultants last year put a $1.4 million price tag, in 1967 dollars, on carrying out the plans' proposals downtown, on Miller Avenue and in the Alto commercial area.

The feasibility of the plans, said commissioner Edward Boessenecker, must be the city's primary consideration "unless some fairy godmother leaves us a lot of money." Only if the city sets priorities on the plans' proposals will they ever be implemented, he said.

The first priority, added Boessenecker, should be on improvement of the Lytton Square commercial area.

A member of the audience, Manny Gomez, promptly disagreed. The first need is to improve Arroyo Corte Madera del Presidio creek so that lower Miller Avenue homes and businesses will not be flooded in heavy rains, said Gomez.

The plan envisions a "linear park" along the creek, but the Army Corps of Engineers has said the proposal would not be financially feasible. An alternative suggested by Planning Director Harvey Bragdon is to tunnel under Miller Avenue so heavy rains can take a parallel route to the creek.

After more than two hours of discussion of the plans, the commissioners agreed to defer action to Nov. 25 because only four of the seven commissioners were present.

Landscaping Plan Favored On Miller, East Blithedale

Preliminary landscaping plans for Miller and East Blithedale avenues were approved unanimously last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

The landscaping will cost $20,800, according to Eldon Beck, a member of Roystan, Hanasmoto, Beck and Abey, the San Francisco firm of landscape architects which drew the plans.

The money will come from gas tax payments to the city by the state, and already is in the present fiscal year's budget, said Parks and Recreation Director Don Dimitratos.

The plans also won prompt approval from the parks and recreation commission, which met jointly with the planners to hear Beck's presentation.

The landscapting on Miller, if the plans are approved by the city council, would be from Camino Alto to Almonte Boulevard, and on East Blithedale from Camino Alto to Almonte Boulevard, and on East Blithedale from Camino Alto to the Alto Wye.

Because gas tax funds cannot be used to landscape the shoulders of the roadways, the plans propose planting only in median dividers.

The only objection raised to the plans from the audience of some 40 persons was by Manny Gomez, who repeatedly interrupted with shouts that the commission was "railroading something fast here," and arguments that the landscaping was "something we can't afford."

Praising the plans, parks and recreation commission chairman Jean Barnard said they should go a long way toward improving the appearance of the new section of East Blithedale, which she said "looks just like a great big used car lot."

Planning Director Bragdon said the landscaping plans would go before the city council Monday.

The planning commission, asked by the council to define low cost housing proposed on Enchanted Knolls Ridge, agreed to use the income and rent figures set up by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Involvement Is Key For New Marinite

By BETTY FROST

She looks like somebody's grandmother —and she is. That she is also an adventurer who has traveled all over the world and a dedicated leader in educational, civic, cultural, religious and international activities is revealed in even a short conversation with this vital Marin woman.

Mrs. J. Howard Heginbotham came to Tiburon in January, 1967, when her husband was assigned to duties as supervising metallurgist of the new marine technology program for the U.S. Bureau of Mines with headquarters at the old Naval Net Depot, Tiburon. Although Lois Heginbotham has been in Marin only a short time, she immediately began following a lifelong pattern of involvement in community affairs.

Working with Mrs. Milton L. Stannard Jr. of Tiburon, president of Southern Marin Church Women United, she has taken on the chairmanship of that ecumenical organization's World Community Day scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. Friday at The First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. The Rev. Charles Calvin Griffin, minister of San Rafael Presbyterian Church, will be the keynote speaker, taking "New World a' Coming" as his theme.

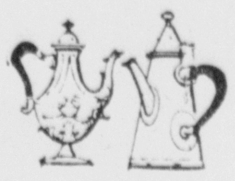
This year World Community Day is designated as the international year for human rights, emphasizing responsible action for justice for people everywhere. The day's activities include a luncheon, projects for supplying children's clothes, and blankets needed in the Middle and Far East and support of programs emphasizing better nutrition in Mississippi, Haiti and Guatemala.

MRS. HEGINBOTHAM'S interest in the Church Women United is a longstanding one. She has served at the local level, been president of CWU for the state of Utah, and served on the national advisory committee for Christian world relations.

Christian Women United also sponsors a world day of prayer. For many years the prayers began when Queen Salotte of Tonga took her Christian subjects to the mountain top to worship. Since Tonga is on the international dateline, the day of prayer began there, then continued around the world. When the Heginbothams were returning from the South Pacific some years ago, they met Queen Salotte on their ship. She was en route to attend the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in England.

Lois White was born in Colorado. She attended the University of Colorado, the University of California and Colorado State Teachers College .She taught, usually at the junior high school level, in Colorado, Utah, Montana and Washington.

After her marriage to J. Howard Heginbotham, she went to Salt Lake City, where she lived for 24 years during the time her husband was associated with the General Engineering Company.



NEW ADVENTURES awaited the family when, in 1950, they left for New Caledonia in what the Tiburon woman calls "the worst storm in the Pacific." They spent almost two years on the South Pacific island, where Howard helped to develop chromium deposits. After the South Pacific adventure, the Heginbothams celebrated their 25th anniversary by traveling for a year, going around the world, hitting such spots as Australia, Ceylon, India, Suez and entering Europe at Marseilles. Their two sons went to school in France for a year, with their older son studying at the Political Science Institute in Paris, and their younger son enrolled in L' Ecole des Roches. The boys wrote an account of these adventures, entitled the "Six Year Saga of the 4 H's."

The Heginbothams' older son, Erland, is now in Washington, D. C. with the State Department, where he is chief of the Division of International Finance. He is married and has two children. Their younger son is Stanley J. Heginbotham, who is completing work on his Ph.D. degree at Massachusetts Institute of Techonology in Cambridge, Mass. He and his wife and young son spent three years in India, while Stanley was doing research on his doctoral dissertation, dealing with feeding the world's population.

BEFORE COMING to Tiburon, the Heginbothams spent 10 years with Washington D.C. as their headquarters. Mr. Heginbotham was with the International Activities Division of the U.S. Bureau of Mines. The couple's interest in foreign affairs became a two way street during this period. They traveled extensively in Africa, India, Turkey and the Far East. In the capital Lois was active in the Welcome to Washington International club, an organization which worked to bring women of other countries into American homes on a basis of mutual interest.

BEGINNING AS a volunteer, Mrs. Heginbotham assisted with orientation of American women for overseas duty. Later she went on the payroll as a consultant for the government and worked five years on the program. Among her suggestions for women representing this country abroad are "moderation in dress, an attitude of interest and appreciation of the country being visited and some language. It is so important to even try to speak a few words of their language," she said.

From 1954 to 1957 the Heginbothams were on assignment in the Middle East. They were evacuated from Israel with two hours notice, at the time of the Suez crisis. The metallurgist was working on developing minerals in the Dead Sea during this period.

In 1965 Lois was honored by being included in the first edition of the Gold Book of Washington's Distinguished Women.

A hobby of the Tiburon woman is giving play readings and slide lectures for friends and groups.

Her organizations include the Presbyterian Church, YWCA, Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae, Panhellenic, United Nations Speakers Bureau, English Speaking Union, Foreign Service Wives Club and PEO, a women's organization sponsoring educational opportunities for young women.

"NEW WORLD a'Coming" is the theme for World Commuunity Day which begins in Marin at 11 a.m. Friday at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. Mrs. J. Howard Heginbotham of Tiburon, who has been a leader in Church Women United at the local, state and national levels, will be chairman of the day's activities for the Southern Marin program. THE FORMERLY conservative House of Worth in London has presented some eye-openers for men's fashions this year. Stuart Walker, left, models wool gabardine beige shirt suit, while Andy Johnson, second from left, shows a stretch evening jumpsuit in dacron jersey with ruffled shirt and gold belt during mens wear style show. Pat Basford, second from right, and Al Flemming wore white wool hopsack evening suits at the show. All are House of Worth entries for the Creative Menswear awards in New York. Styles With Decollete For The New Man

By NADEANE WALKER

LONDON (AP) — Gone were neckties and cuffbuttons. In for the new man were decollete— meaning low cut at the neck— sleeveless jumpsuits, some in silky, drapy crepe—in green and pinky ginger yet.

So went the first-ever man's fashion show at the once staid, fashion house of Worth.

Sighsten Herrgard, 26, Worth's Scandinavian designer of resort and male fashion, did away with the neckties, cuff buttons and most lapels and took the bag out of trousers with a deep V cut in the back. His one-piece jumpsuits in crepe or stretch materials, were all worn with polo-necked sweaters or shirts.

MOST DARING number in his "Esquire" collection was a party jumpsuit in navy jersey, cut out in a low oval to the waist and worn with a white ruffled shirt and wide hip belt of gold chains. He also showed several all-white caftan evening suits, one with copper patent boots.

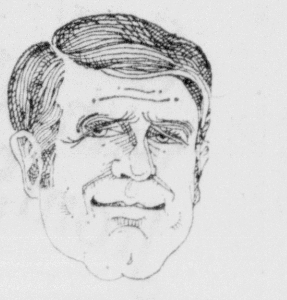
A spokesman said the ready-to-wear male attire will fall into "the medium price range." Two of Herrgard's creations, including the hip-belted number, have already been chosen as entries for the Creative Menswear Awards in New York.

The "Shirt Suit" was another Herrgard original. Its jacket is yoked and cut like a shirt, and a soft tie belt goes with it. Coats are maxilength, or nearly to the bottom of the calf. Most jackets are also very long. Trousers are tight fitting and slightly bell-bottomed.

ONE MALE MODEL wore a floppy Garbo hat in black velvet with a gray maxi raincoat. Another hat, in soft white felt with a bow on the band, would have looked just as good on a woman.

A three-piece evening suit was worn with a wide leather belt centered with a big jeweled buckle, and many models sported heavy gold necklace chains.

Suits without lapels were buttoned or zipped to the highbanded neckline. Besides black, white and blue, the designer favored the green and pinky ginger colors. Shirts also came in pink, gold and lilac. A caftan suit had a pullover jacket with a deep V front.



There was a belted leisure shirt made to be worn tail-out, and several high-necked Cossack shirts, usually worn with sleeveless jumpsuits. The latter, as the show announcer pointed out, are for slim men only, as they fit like a second skin.

MANY MATERIALS used have been seen previously only in women's clothes, notably the banlon jersey crepes and a bold black and white check. Ties are replaced by polo necks or printed scarves.

Herrgard, who was born in Helsinki, Finland, but brought up in Sweden, refers to himself as Swedish. He won his first fashion award at 15 and was elected "Best Dressed Man in Sweden" in 1963.

Is Joining A Spinsters' Club The Answer For Single Girls?

DEAR HELEN:

What have people got against girls who live in apartments? They think you are no good because you live alone. Fellows you meet expect you to invite them up for a party — for two! When you don't play that way, they drop you.

Married women are afraid of you — they think you're after their husbands just because you work with them at the office.

You don't have much social life because the single girls you meet end up getting married, and they drop you fast. You are now a "threat."

Should I become a swinger as I'm supposd to be, or marry the first dull guy who asks me, to escape. I like my job and am going up. I'm not especially anxious to get married, but I'd like some comparatively clean social life. Any suggestions? — CAREER GIRL

DEAR CAREER GIRL:

Your city has a "Spinsters' Club" for young unmarried women. Get the address at your library and apply for membership. (Seems to me they should change that title to "Career" or "Bachelor" Girls Club. Perhaps you skipped over it because you didn't like the connotation.)

Or maybe you might find an apartment in one of those complexes for young unmarrieds. They sometimes swing, but you can make your own rules.

Mainly, remember that many others feel as you do. Stop assuming "everybody" is either against you or out to take you, and you'll find them! — H

DEAR HELEN:

I wrote several letters to Veitnam Mail Call and never got one answer. If the fellows in the Service want mail so bad, why don't they answer? — WRITERS CRAMP

DEAR W.C.:

You can be sure your notes are read, and re-read — and saved — but Servicemen are like other men: Letter-writing comes hard for them.

When they're tired, discouraged, hurting, they'd rather read up-beat mail than describe how "beat" they are.

Your support and appreciation tell them someone cares, and this should be your main reason for writing. When you get an answer, it's an added dividend — and you will, if you keep sending interesting, humorous, newsy letters that make the reader think, "I'd like to know her better!" — H.

NOTE TO ALL OF YOU WHO ASK FOR SOLDIER PEN PALS: I relay your letters to Vietnam Mail Call, Box 3104-A, Columbus, Ga., where they're shipped overseas. Don't forget to send your Christmas cards to Servicemen there, and enclose a nickel with each card for postage. Schools, churches and clubs may collect and send boxes of cards, with postage money in a separate envelope. Be sure to put your name and address on each card. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I met a Yale man at a resort this summer. After the second date, he said, very casually, "Why don't you move in with me!" His theory is that it's more natural for the opposite sex to live together than for two girls, or two men, to share an apartment. He says everybody does it where he comes from, and girls in the middle west are "repressed." What do you say to a guy like that? —REPRESSED OR SMART?

DEAR R OR S:

Tell him "repression" has nothing to do with it. The name of the game is still "ladies' choice," and the lady doesn't choose!

Okay, let's hear it from New Haven. Does "everybody" cohabit back there, or is the Yale man more wishful thinker than reporter? — H

FATHER-LED FAMILIES in slums can be less stable than mother-headed ones—unless the father can hold a job. For white families this is easier than for black ones at the same economic level.

Welfare Check Is The Most Secure Income For Lower Class Families

By PATRICIA McBROOM

One recent winter, a black man from a St. Louis ghetto walked the streets looking — in 135 places — for a job. He didn't find one. A white sociologist, Dr. William L. Yancey, who went with him for purposes of research, describes the case as extreme, but says that it nevertheless illustrates how severe is the economic stress that lower-class black men must endure.

Typically, such stress causes black families to split, since only the mother has access to steady, if small, income, by way of welfare. And she, in most jurisdictions, cannot receive welfare if there is a man in the house. Even if he should eventually find employment, the returning husband must convince his wife that his job is as secure as her welfare check, which is usually not the case.

Constant or sporadic unemployment of ghetto men helps maintain a matriarchy in about one-fourth of the nation's Negro families.

Although this fact is not new, its importance has been obscured by descriptions of the black matriarchy as sick or deviant — a contributor to social disintegration, delinquency and male emasculation.

Almost all of these studies have viewed ghetto society through white, middle-class eyes. The results, many Negroes feel, are inevitably distorted, finding sickness in healthy reactions to a bad situation.

Thus, Danial Moynihan, in his 1965 report on the Negro family — which angered black professionals and social scientists — wrote: "The evidence . . . is that the Negro family in the urban ghetto is crumbling. A middle-class group has managed to save itself, but for vast numbers of the unskilled, poorly educated city working class, the fabric of conventional social relationships has all but disintegrated."

Moynihan measured ghetto life with a white middle-class yardstick; he failed to recognize that the fatherless, broken homes he saw might be an adaptation to poverty with intrinsic strength of their own. The family is often an extended one, including grandmothers and aunts as well as children; it may be viewed as a source of social cohesion, rather than disintegration.

"Many social scientists have misled the public by describing Negro families as pathological," says Dr. Joyce Ladner, a black sociologist at Washington University. "Too often they fail to find its strengths."

Adds Dr. Yancey: "The broken family in the ghetto is a very stable form, more viable than a complete family. Men end up in jobs that are highly unstable, so the father-headed family is in a perpetual financial crisis. Without economic stability, the male head is of relatively little use to the female in the family and may be lived without."

As graduate students at Washington University, Drs. Yancey and Ladner participated in a large-scale study of the urban poor, both black and white. Headed by Dr. Lee Rainwater, the project has, over a five-year period, included more than a dozen researchers. They have lived with families in the areas under study to find an inside perspective, then surveyed the populations on attitudes, values and life styles.

From that vantage point, Dr. Yancey, now at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, is able to compare the effects of economic security on both black and white families.

The white families were from the poorest white district in St. Louis, the Soulard area. Yet men there had little trouble finding jobs compared to the situation faced by Negroes. Not surprisingly, there were far fewer families headed by women in the Soulard district.

For both races, the relationship between the man's income and his place in the family was strong. No family in the Soulard area was headed by a man without a job or some income from disability.

For black families living in St. Louis' Pruitt-Igoe housing project, the situation was very much the same. Washington University researchers saw men losing their jobs, watched tension develop often to the point of marital separation, then back to check on the men who were still living with their families without a job. In every case, the man had received disability income and had a legitimate reason to be unemployed.

If poor whites fall into economic trouble, they can usually get out of it, which is one of the major differences between the races, says Dr. Yancey. The white man who gets mad at his foreman simply leaves and finds another job. If stress becomes too great, he can always leave the city and go home, which in the case of Soulard residents is usually the South.

Dr. Yancey and his colleagues discovered that poor whites identified strongly with their former home and were much less committed to staying in the city. But Negro residents did not accept that alternative.

Another major difference between the two reveals even more clearly the effects of racial discrimination. Residents of the Soulard area were both older and less educated than their black counterparts. Whereas 40 per cent of the white sample was over 50 years of age, half the blacks were under 40. In addition, the majority of blacks had at least an eighth grade education, while 70 per cent of the white men had less than eight years of school. Yet the median income for heads of families was $5,000 for whites; $3,350 for blacks living in the Pruitt-Igoe project.

Such black-white comparisons have generally not been available with the over-riding emphasis placed on studying the ghetto — a source of anger among black social scientists who feel the Negro family has been dissected long enough.

Dr. Ladner believes a refocusing of the problem can be accompanied by sending black sociologists in to study middle class white communities. Since their sexual mores and monogamous, patriarchal habits are usually used to judge ghetto life, it might be well to look at the stresses and strains of that system from a black viewpoint, she says.

Dr. Ladner proposes that much of the behavior in the black community is quite distinct from that of whites. Through the years black families have made certain adaptations because men have been denied stable employment, she says. Strong women emerged, along with social and sexual attitudes that will not necessarily change even with full employment.

THE BLACK WOMAN is a strength in the slum home, according to sociologists who have studied her, and the matriarchy system, forced on families by lack of steady jobs, is not necessarily "sick" as some white writers have made it appear.

Compared to whites, for instance, people in the black ghetto "seem to have greater ability to adapt to relationships that do not follow strict patterns of monogamy," says Dr. Ladner. "Men can be supportive without going through matrimony, and girls are able to break off relationships without going through trauma."

She points out that unemployed men are not totally rejected. In many cases they remain close to their wives and there is a congenial relationship between father and children. Other researchers have noted as well some male figure is often around the matriarchal family, making the emasculation of youth argument a tenuous one.

Dr. Joseph Scott of the University of Toledo sees no reason why blacks should adopt patriarchal patterns and would prefer that they did not. The black woman is a strength, says Dr. Scott. "There is no reason to believe that Negroes would be better off if women had less influence."

But while black sociologists argue the presence of distinct cultural strains in the ghetto, the over-riding stress of poverty clouds the issue.

As the Soulard data indicate, black matriarchies exist primarily because of the grueling experience that men face in the marketplace. Dr. Yancey adds that in a series of attitude tests black and white came out very much alike. There was the same level of distrust for other people, the same work ethic ("The lower class thinks work is more important than does any other class," says Dr. Yancey.) and the same expectations of delinquency.

Miss Casci Is Married

Nuptials at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo united in marriage Peggy Lynn Casci of San Anselmo and David Socorro Gonzales of San Rafael.

At the Oct. 19 ceremony Katherine Barnacle of San Anselmo was maid of honor for Peggy, and her sisters, Judith and Vera Ellen Casci of San Anselmo, were her bridesmaids.

Manuel Veyna of San Francisco was best man for the bridegroom, and ushering guests to seats were the bride's brother, Timothy and Michael Casci.

A reception was given afterward at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Americo A. Casci of San Anselmo. After they return from a wedding trip to the Grand Canyon the newlyweds will live in San Rafael.

Peggy is a Sir Francis Drake High School graduate and is employed at the Presidio in San Francisco. She has another brother, Dean Christopher Casci, who is serving with the Air Force in Alaska.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eligio Pacheco of Carlsbad. He was graduated from Carlsbad High School and is employed with the Government Services Administration in San Francisco.

KINDERGARTEN IN the USSR is a far cry from kindergarten in America. The children are fed, cared for and taught for 12 hours each day. Soviet Kindergarten Keeps Child 12 Hours A Day Throughout Year

By GAY PAULEY

It was one of the group of U.S. women with whom I'm traveling in East Europe who made the comment during a visit to a kindergarten.

Kindergarten in the USSR is a far cry, though, from kindergarten in the USA, where the small set usually goes to school for half a day. The Soviet kindergartens take children from infancy on up to seven years, regular school enrollment age, and the children are fed, cared for and taught for 12 hours each day. Some stay overnight, seeing their working parents only on weekends, or when parents are on vacation. For Russia's kindergartens are run 12 months.

The kindergarten I visited one rainy morning was in a new edge of Moscow. It had 300 children, the youngest seven months, the eldest seven years.

They were divided into groups by age, so that two-year-olds were with two-year-olds, three-year-olds with three-year-olds, and so on. For each group there are two teachers and one nurse, the director of the school, Mrs. Maria Danilova, told me. And a doctor is part of the staff.

When a child is brought to school by his parents at seven each morning, the nurses check him for sniffles or any other ailment before he joins his group.

For this almost total care in a nation that boasts of a total employment few wives are stay-at-homes, the parents pay from five to 12 rubles a month, approximately $5 to $12 USA, and the state picks up the rest of the tab.

Members of the Sausalito Woman's Club have decided that no civic service project could be more important than dealing with the problems of crime, vagrancy, drug traffic, automobile traffic and litter in their city.

In order to understand their causes and discover solutions, they will make an all-out effort on a long range basis, with the first event scheduled Thursday at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse.

Jay, Frank Kelly, Norman C. Wohlschlaeger, Herbert Andron, Harold Thomas Rogers, John E. Koenig, Charles E. Masten, William V. Lynch, Edwin S. Long, Clyde Trudell, Richard E. Cruikshank, Martha E. Scott, Elmo Maggiora, Ronert L. Mayer, Jan Paul Dyk, Robert Scarborough, Sten Johnson, Earl G. Thompson and Weber, Brady and Patterson.

Before the program when members, their husbands and guests are invited to meet the honored guests, Mrs. Charles W. Elliott and Mrs. G. D. Percy will serve refrshments. Mrs. Churchill is planning decorations, and a courtesy table will be staffed by Mesdames Jackson S. Perry and Leonard E. Blakely.

West Marin Density Bonus Plan Outlined

A point system by which developers can get density bonuses in West Marin was outlined in rough form yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

Commissioner Walter F. Freitas described the system as "confusing and almost shockingly puzzling" but agreed to go along with other commissioners for a more detailed hearing at 10 a.m. on Nov. 18.

Chairman Hugh Dougherty said the Nov. 18 hearing will be followed by another public hearing on the night of Nov. 25, probably in West Marin School. The county planning commissioners will then hold a final public hearing on the morning of Dec. 2 so that the whole package — West Marin density with bonus formula — can go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Dec. 3.

The bonus formula, outlined by County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, would be applied in the West Marin Master Plan area, which is now covered by the West Marin Interim Ordinance, calling for an average density of 1.15 units per acre.

Zucker proposed that "development points" be issued per gross acre of land; for example, 100 points as the basic starting point. On top of these would be added bonus points for (1) planned development, (2) special plan features, and (3) good design presented by developers.

The total development points would then be converted to number of units per acre on the basis of the type of use (residential, motels, or commercial). The conversion table will be worked out in such a way that one-family homes would be allowed at the rate of 1.15 units per acre, as set up by the supervisors, and other uses such as motels, apartments and planned communities would be eligible for higher densities.

The conventional units-per-acre would apply only to residential development, said Zucker, but his development points have the advantage of equal application to all land uses, including single-family, mutltiple, and commercial.

Freitas was skeptical. "In the final analysis, market conditions will decide," said Freitas. "The fanciest formula won't change this. I just don't see the advantage of getting so complex, fancy and nebulous."

"What if we let density take care of itself without cutting up the land," suggested Michael Praszker. "If we could regulate the percentage of land disturbance, that would regulate density."

Praszker said that minimums should be set, such as no more than 12 stories, not more than 10 per cent cut, or no smaller lots than 7,500 square feet. "We should start from minimums we all agree on and work from there. The way we're going, we're chasing our own tails."

"This plan is something that has never been tried before anywhere," said Freitas. "It frightens me to crank something in like this and make it law."

"True, this is a departure," acknowledged Margaret Azevedo. "But it seems to me a carefully thought out plan."

"I think this is more concrete and more workable than other proposals agreed Chairman Dougherty.

Zucker declared that the development points with added bonus for better planning and design, provide incentives toward desirable goals.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning, put it succinctly. Marin is already overburdened with taxes because it is a bedroom type community, he explained.

Pointing to a map showing the West Marin Master Plan, Solnit declared: "If you take a loser like that plan and continue to build homes, you'll soon need seven more schools . . . If you're going to increase density, don't do it by sticking in more bedrooms."

Solnit charged that those who advocate "44,000 more acres of suburbia" are merely asking for a sea of roofs like parts of the Peninsula and are "missing the point."

The point, said Solnit, is to stop urban sprawl and mix in other types of development like apartments, motels and commercial projects that bring in tax revenue instead of tax eaters.

"If anything provides flexibility, this is it," agreed Praszker.

"If we took the master plan and simply jacked up density, the same thing will happen that occurred on the San Mateo coast," added Dougherty.

"Would you be willing to try it for the whole county?" asked Freitas. "Why discriminate in West Marin?"

"Yes, it's workable for the whole county, given the staff time to develop it for the whole county," replied Zucker. He said it would work in open areas like Nicasio and parts of Novato, but in developed areas, a different formula may be needed to fit different goals.

On a motion by Freitas, the commissioners voted unanimously to have Zucker complete details of his bonus formula in time for the Nov. 18 public hearing.

Tam Valley Clubhouse Given Nod

Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club yesterday won the right to go ahead with its new two-story clubhouse at the intersection of Tennessee Valley Road and Marin Avenue.

The Marin County Planning Commission gave the go-ahead, but with several conditions attached to meet some of the complaints from neighboring homeowners.

The commissioners granted an encroachment permit for use of Marin Avenue as an access to the clubhouse for five years, or until Tennessee Valley Road is widened, whichever comes first. When Tennessee Valley Road is improved, the club must put in a permanent access from that road instead of via Marin Avenue.

Joe D. Allen, architect for the improvement club, agreed to excavate a drainage ditch along the side of the 1.5-acre site so that drainage from the clubhouse will not add to the floods on neighboring yards.

The clubhouse site itself will have 14 parking spaces, and another temporary parking area will be set aside for 36 cars on adjoining property owned by the Tamalpais Valley Community Services District. Fences and shrubs will be installed to screen the clubhouse area from neighboring homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Yobua Tanaka of 219 Marin Avenue complained that the clubhouse activities will result in wild parties, noise and rock-and-roll music. Architect Allen assured them no rock bands would be permitted.

The planning commissioners approved the clubhouse on a motion by Niels Schultz Jr.

Planners Ask Scenic Area Review Power

Marin County Planning Commissioners voted 4 to 3 yesterday to extend its power of design review to single family homes in Visual Districts, described as areas "of particular esthetic and/or scenic value."

Margaret Azevedo, who moved to establish a Visual District, imposed limitations so that design review would apply only to preserve specific natural features and not to such items as the color of a home or the number of windows. Agricultural buildings and signs would not be subject to design review even if they are within a Visual District.

She was supported by Michael Praszker, Dr. William F. Upton and Chairman Hugh Dougherty. Niels Schultz Jr., Walter F. Freitas and Eugene R. Trombley opposed.

The three dissenters declared that a Visual District is too nebulous and subject to personal opinions and arbitrary decision.

An earlier motion by Schultz, to abandon the Visual District altogether, went down to defeat by the same 3 to 4 split.

Among opponents of the proposed Visual District were Richard P. Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau; Daniel F. Deedy, executive manager of the Marin Real Estate Board; and Carl Brown, representing the Associated Home Builders of Marin.

Nave called it "potentially capricious and an unwarranted invasion of private rights."

The recommendation to set up a Visual District will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for a decision.

The Marin County Planning Commissioners also:

CODE AMENDMENTS — Amended the Marin County Code so that authority to approve master plans and development plans in planned commercial and planned industrial districts would be transferred from the board of supervisors to the planning commission.

VET HOSPITAL — Approved a one-story veterinary hospital for Dr. Carrie A. Corvin of Novato at 15 Hamilton Drive, between Highway 101 and Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, Ignacio. The hospital will be located in Hamilton Industrial Park just north of the Marin County Humane Society headquarters.

BORROW PIT — Extended for two years a use permit for a borrow pit on Neil McIsaac's ranch in Bowman Canyon off Novato Boulevard, one mile north of Novato-Hicks Valley Road.

WILTSHIRE SIGN — Approved a 30-square-foot sign on the side of the Wiltshire Towers Motel building to advertise the Master Charge card. County Zoning Administrator Thomas E. Cordill said the owner had agreed to take down all extraneous signs from the side of the building in exchange for the new sign.

TIBURON TRAILS — Set 9:30 a.m. Nov. 18 as the time to discuss the study of Tiburon trails and bicycle paths. County Planner Walter H. Horchler, who is working with Tiburon on the trails study, will make the presentation.

NOVATO'S BIG FIREFIGHTER

The tremendous water power of the Novato Fire Department's new $70,000 snorkel truck is shown in this time exposure by Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax taken as the snorkel shot 1,250 gallons of water per minute during a practice drill last night. Capable of extending to an 85-foot height, the aerial unit is run by two men who communicate with the truck driver on an inter-com system. As the firemen practiced last night in an empty field north of Novato, the time exposure turned the lights on the snorkel and on cars on Highway 101 into patterned ribbons of light.

Ross Postal Theft Solved; Girls Cited

The Ross Post Office mystery, involving thefts from boxes over a six-week period, has been solved, police reported today.

Two juvenile girls have been cited to the probation department, police reported.

One of the girls involved, a Ross resident, sought out an officer and told him she and another girl had been into the boxes, police said.

Checks taken in the series of thefts were recovered, police said.

The thefts were made public Oct. 17 after a Ross woman called the Independent-Journal to get information on "a robbery of the Ross Post Office."

Postmaster John Malarin then disclosed that thefts had been going on for six weeks.

Police Chief John Harris said boxes were not actually broken into. He explained the post office boxes are locked by turning two combination dials. When boxholders neglect to turn the dials, the boxes can be "popped open," he said.

Forrest Avenue Bonds Are Sold

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night awarded $148,000 in bonds for the Forrest Avenue assessment district sewer project to Stone and Youngberg Co. of San Francisco on its bid of 5.38 per cent, lowest of five bids.

Ralph C. Noah, district manager, said original amount in bonds was $159,000, but that $11,000 has already been paid by residents in the district.

The bonds include the $92,862 building project awarded to Baldwin Construction Co. of Marysville, and acquisition of reasements and engineering. Construction is about 60 per cent completed, Noah said, and should be finished in three weeks.

By BONNIE BARD

The developers of Sea Ranch yesterday made official their rumored threat to withdraw their offer to the county of a 100-acre park site if Proposition B to establish access corridors to the coast passes on the Nov. 5 Sonoma County ballot.

Going beyond that, Joseph S. McClelland, project director, said that if within seven years the county uses eminent domain powers to establish access corridors, the land would revert back to Sea Ranch possession, regardless of the election outcome. The proposed agreement also sets a time limit of nine years for the county to make improvements to the site.

Proposition B on the Sonoma County ballot establishes public access corridors to the Sonoma coast at minimum intervals of one mile. Proponents of the measure demand the right to public access of beaches and public tideland through private developments such as Sea Ranch, which controls 10 miles of coastal property.

McClelland has said in the past, that if the proposition is approved, his company would probably withdraw its offer of the park at the mouth of the Gualala River. The site includes sandy beaches, picnic and fishing opportunities.

"We want to end the doubt on the sincerity of our offer and want these conditions to be open and on the table," McClelland said.

"I'm sorry you've done it this way," Southern Sonoma Supervisor Leigh S. Shoemaker said. "We can't possibly say today that we can have this park developed in a certain length of time."

Other supervisors agreed, but took Sea Ranch's new offer under study. This written offer complete with maps and the new conditions, replaces an unconditional verbal offer made to the supervisors before conservationists succeeded in overcoming supervisors' opposition and got the access route controversy on the ballot.

The supervisors asked the county counsel's office for an opinion on the legality of accepting the conditional offer.

Dr. William Kortum of Cotati, leader of Citizens Organized to Acquire Access to the Coast, said, "If the county waited seven or eight years to begin acquiring access routes, there certainly would be no agricultural land left. By that time, the fast buck boys would have moved in and we'd have shacks all along the coast."

His organization obtained more than 9,000 petition signatures to get the proposition on the ballot.

Sonoma County Board Of Supervisors Also:

PAYMENT — Approved progress payment on the contract for construction of Petaluma-Valley Ford Road at Tomales Road of $24,296 to the Argonaut Construction Co. of Santa Rosa.

AUCTION — Received notice from the state Department of Highways stating land on the west side of Petaluma Boulevard north and south of Magnolia Avenue, Petaluma, will be sold at auction Dec. 17 at 2 p.m.

FOOD PERMITS — Received letter from Dr. Walter Clowers, county heaath officer, suggesting that a $10 across the board fee be charged for inspection of restaurants, food markets, vending machines and food processing plants. He said a survey of neighboring counties suggested the rates would be applicable. He noted Marin County charges $10 across the board, but $5 for vending machines. He said revenue would provide for additional inspections and increase the number of inspections per year. He said this would aid in the development of a grading system similar to that of San Diego County. The board took the information under advisement.

Storer Charges Baar Of Starting Nude Photo Rumor

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer today charged his challenger in next Tuesday's supervisorial election with starting a false rumor that Storer and his wife were responsible for giving the sheriff a copy of the magazine which showed Deputy Weldon C. Travis in a nude pose.

Storer told the Independent-Journal that he expected the rumor to stop when Travis was vindicated by the county personnel commission, but that it still persists.

Storer challenged his opponent, Louis H. Baar, to repeat the rumor "face to face" in a candidates' night 8 p.m. today in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos told the Independent-Journal that no supervisor was aware of the incident until it was reported in the Independent-Journal.

Cash Stolen

A canvas money bag containing $200 in cash and $20 in checks was stolen Friday morning from the kitchen at Sparkie's Coffee Shop, 357 Third Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

A public hearing being held by the California Public Utilities Commission on the request of the Inverness Water Co. for almost double present rates was interrupted today while the examining officer went to San Mateo County to hear another case.

PUC officials said that the hearing, which opened yesterday, will continue tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Inverness Yacht Club.

The firm, which is operated by a holding company, The Citizens Utilities Co. of Stamford, Conn., presented arguments yesterday asserting the increases are justified.

Cross-examination is scheduled tomorrow, according to PUC officials, who said that Examiner Carol T. Coffey will take the case under submission at its conclusion and later make a recommendation to the PUC.

The water company is asking a boost from $4.65 to $8.90 for the first 200 cubic feet, from 60 cents to $1.15 for each additional 100 cubic feet up to 600, and from 50 to 95 cents for each additional 100 cubic feet up to 1,000, all in the monthly rate schedule.

RETIRED TEACHER DEFENDS ACTION

The recent resignation of a teacher in the Sausalito School District, originally reported by District Supt. Phillip W. Schneider to have been on account of illness, was actually brought on in part by an assault upon her by a child, the teacher disclosed yesterday.

Teacher Peggy-Jo Shaw, who said she hasn't been sick at all this year, also told the Independent-Journal that she had been forced to retire as a result of intimidation by Schneider.

She said that in her fourth grade class at Central School "I had some incorrigible students. You have no idea the language these children use and the abuse they afflict on one another.

"Oct. 2 I told one 8-year-old girl she would have to obey, and she attacked me, clawing my arm. She broke the skin and I later had a tetanus shot.

"I told my principal, Robert E. Lee, what had happened and he said that because of the black movement I should not make an issue of it, that I should keep quiet. He even suggested I apologize to the child.

"I certainly didn't want to work under conditions like that, so that evening, I called Mr. Lee and told him I was resigning. A few days later he asked for the resignation in writing and I sent him a telegram."

Lee said today Miss Shaw never told him a child attacked her, that she just called Oct. 2 to tell him to get a substitute, that she would not be in the next day.

Oct. 6, he continued, Miss Shaw indicated she was resigning and he asked her to put it in writing. A telegram came Oct. 15.

"I asked her several times, but she never stated a reason for her resignation," he said. "I was quite satisfied with her work."

Schneider said Lee on Oct. 15 gave him Miss Shaw's telegram, which simply said she was resigning and a letter of explanation would follow.

He called a special meeting for 5 p.m. the next day to consider the resignation. He told the press at that time that Miss Shaw had been ill two months at the end of the spring semester and for 10 days this fall.

Bruce E. Woelfel, president of the Sausalito School board, said that at the special meeting, Lee remarked Miss Shaw had called in ill and Schneider commented that Miss Shaw had been sick the last two months of last semester.

Woelfel said the three board members present, with James E. Muldoon and David E. Freedheim were absent, accepted the resignation without comment.

But Miss Shaw said she had not been sick one day this year, that she had a personal leave of absence to take care of family business in the spring.

The superintendent said a spcial meeting was called to accept the resignation, though a regular board meeting was scheduled for only five days later, because "we wanted to accept the resignation as quickly as we could to get a new teacher.

"That class had not had a regular teacher for a couple of weeks and we had a fine young man on the string that we wanted to hire."

Miss Shaw said she would be sending her letter of explanation shortly. In it she said she states her qualifications as a kindergarten teacher and her objections to being transferred this fall to the fourth grade.

She does not mention the incident with the child in the letter. Neither had she previously mentioned it to Schneider, she said, because she thought it wouldn't do any good.

The incident, she said, was just a kind of final straw. But what really made her unhappy was the transfer.

She remarked she had acquired 60 units in early childhood education above her Bachelor of Science degree, had taught kindergarten for 22 years, nine of them in Sausalito, and never taught any other grade, and was arbitrarily assigned to teach fourth grade.

When asked why Miss Shaw was reassigned, Schneider said, "We did it just because we wanted to." And then added "People including superintendents, can stay in one job too long."

Miss Shaw commented, "Schneider said at an open board meeting some time ago he was going to clear out many teachers. He has. If not through retirement, through intimidation."

NO REASONS LEARNED FOR AX ATTACK

Circumstances surrounding the assault on former Larkspur Councilman Henry Brocco, who said his wife struck him with a hatchet, remained a mystery today.

Larkspur Police Chief Howard Clark said he was still unable to question Mrs. Lorraine Brocco, 40, who remained unconscious and in critical condition in Marin General Hospital from a pill overdose.

Clark said he planned to talk again with Brocco, who earlier could give no reason for the assault.

Mrs. Keating To Retire As Librarian

Mrs. Virginia V. Keating, who has been with the Marin County Library for 38 years, will retire at the end of this year, she announced today to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

She asked that her assistant, Bruce Bajema, be named to succeed her as county librarian. Bajema, former county librarian in Mendocino County, became assistant to Mrs. Keating last January.

The county supervisors asked the county administrator to prepare a resolution commending Mrs. Keating for her "excellent and imaginative service."

The supervisors said they will decide next Tuesday on the successor to Mrs. Keating.

Mrs. Keating joined the county library staff in January of 1931, became county librarian in 1935.

When she first joined the staff, the county library was located in the basement of the old courthouse in San Rafael, then moved to Coleman School. Since 1962, the county library has been located on the fourth floor of the Civic Center.

Guilty Plea Made To Market Burglary

Armed Bandits Take $1,550 In Greenbrae

Two gunmen, each with several days growth of beard, yesterday calmly held the assistant manager of a Greenbrae bowling alley at gunpoint while they scooped an estimated $1,550 in cash and checks from an open floor safe.

They then fled after forcing the victim to lie on the office floor.

Larkspur police said the robbers, each about 24 years old, entered the office of Greenbrae Lanes, 101 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, at 1:58 p.m.

BOTH ARMED

Each drew what appeared to be .38-caliber revolvers, officers said, and confronted the assistant manager, Robert C. Hipes, 35, who was alone in the office.

They ordered him into an adjacent room where the safe is located, Hipes told newsen, then began packing the loot in a small blue zippered bag they brought with them.

He said the pair, "both a lot calmer than I was," left only a single $1 bill and several rolls of pennies. The loot was estimated today by Manager Fred Riesenman at more than $1,000 in cash, and the remainder in checks.

The gunmen then ordered Hipes to lie on the office floor, with one according to Hipes, commenting, "We are leaving now and will pass by your window. If I see you I'll put a bullet through the glass. You better count to one hundred real slow."

WATCHED THEM FLEE

He said he waited only until he believed they were gone, arose and saw them running outside. He then phoned police.

Hipes said the lanes were full of College of Marin bowling class students but no one else apparently was involved in the heist. He estimated the robbery took only about 90 seconds, though "it seemed like an hour and a half."

He said the pair, each about 5 feet, 9 inches tall and wearing slacks and shirts, were dressed neither like hippies nor businessmen.

Barr Office Opens

Campaign headquarters in the Corte Madera-Larkspur area for Louis H. (Bud) Baar, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Fourth District, have opened at 201 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. Baar is seeking to unseat the incumbent supervisor, Thomas T. Storer.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Way To Avoid Nasty Squabble: Don't Attempt A Foolish Bid

If you want to start a nasty squabble at the bridge table, don't bother to make a foolish bid or play. Most players can take such mistakes in stride. The best way to lose friends and infuriate people is to make a doubtful claim.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

TAKES ACE

Declarer took the ace of hearts and the top trumps and then led the jack of spades. East took the queen of trumps, and South spread his cards face up on the table. "You can take the ace of clubs if you're quick about it," he announced. "I'm throwing my losers on the diamonds."

After an uneasy pause East said, "Play the hand out." And he returned the ten of diamonds to dummy's queen. Now South looked thoughtfully at East, and a great light dawned on him. He tried to lead a heart from dummy, intending to ruff and lead a few high trumps to make sure that the trumps were all out.

EAST OBJECTS

"You can't lead that heart," East objected. "You said you were going to throw your losers on the diamonds, and that's exactly what you have to do."

"I will," South promised. "But, first, I'm going to draw trumps. I didn't say when I was going to play the diamonds, did I?"

They're still fighting about that hand. The laws of the game give the defenders the right to settle what South left unsaid — exactly when he would play the diamonds — but South says that he plays bridge with friends, not with lawyers.

NO ARGUMENT

If South had played a few tricks more, there could be no argument about whether he had miscounted the trumps. South's claim put the opponents in an impossible position: if they accepted the claim they would be giving up a hand that they probably would have beaten if South had merely played on; but if they objected to the claim, they would alert South to the fact that a trump was still out. It saves time and tempers to play most of a hand out before claiming the rest of the tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes:

You hold:
♠ Q 8 6 4
♥ K 7 6 3
♦ 10
♣ A 10 6 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: With two or three four-card suits, bid the cheapest of your suits in response to partner's opening bid. If partner had opened with one club, and your clubs and diamonds were exchanged, you would respond with one diamond. If partner fits your suit, he will raise; otherwise, he will bid another suit and you will have the chance to raise his new suit.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 29, the 303rd day of 1968 with 63 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1918 units of the German fleet at Kiel began a mutiny in demand for peace negotiations with the allies.

In 1923 Turkey became a republic.

In 1929 the stock market collapse continued, billions of dollars of open market values were lost and the stage was set for the great depression.

In 1940 Secretary of War Henry Stimson, drew a number from a fish bowl—and the first peace-time draft was started.

A Thought for the Day: Willa Cather said, "I like trees because they seem more resigned to the way they have to live than other things do."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

TV FILM CENTER

Another Boom Hits Sausalito

By MARION DIETRICH

Better smile if you are in Sausalito these days. You may be on camera.

Two television networks in the last week filmed the Sausalito Police Department conducting one of its human relations study sessions and in action about town.

Two TV channels will film the police again this week. Last week a Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer crew was looking for a houseboat for a scene in a television feature.

Entitled "Houseboat," it concerns a returned foreign correspondent whose wife has died and who decides to live with his three children on a houseboat — with a housekeeper quartered in the wheelhouse.

It will be presented to the TV networks and, if one of them likes it, could become a series with parts of Sausalito on screen every week.

The pilot film will have shots of a houseboat, the exterior of a Sausalito TV store and a delicatessen. The city will appear in the background in some footage.

"The scriptwriters visited Sausalito in the summer and liked the area," said Wally Samson, unit production manager, explaining the location choice. "Beside there are more houseboats here; there are darn little down south."

Samson, who is responsible for lining up all the physical properties for the production, cased the Sausalito waterfront three weeks ago for a houseboat, he spotted a likely one and negotiated with the owner, J. Stuart McCorkindale for its use.

McCorkindale, who is a business agent for Reardon Construction Co., houseboat builders, was living on the boat which was berthed at Kappas Yacht Harbor.

He rented another boat to live on and has a contract with Paramount that if the pilot film develops into a series, they may continue to use his former home.

The houseboat, a 2 - year - old paddle wheeler named Cotton Blossom, was readied for its role at Jerry's Yacht Service in Marinship.

Shutters have been added, a railing, a staircase and a crow's nest. They are permanent construction.

McCorkindale likes the changes. He frequently checks on progress. "I haven't missed a day yet. I can't wait 'til its all finished. I happen to love the boat," he said with a proud smile.

Samson, whose strength is resourcefulness, had to round up two neighbor houseboats for Cotton Blossom and a fleet of six sailboats for background atmosphere.

And he had to build a dock and pier. They were constructed next to the Spinnaker restaurant and will be ripped out when filming ends.

"We have to shoot the scenes in a clear area," he said. It will appear a far cry from the "Little Hong Kong" the Marin supervisors have been complaining about elsewhere.

Samson started in the construction department at Paramount 32 years ago. In his present job he travels all over.

His last assignment he was in a tiny coal town in Pennsylvania. The one before that was with Bob Hope in Puerto Rico. He still finds every job difficult.

"Nothing's easy," he sighed. "We go into an area like this where they are not used to our operation and we have to improvise or have something built. Nothing is easy."

Samson is using mostly local labor. But for one job he called the studio — to send a painter who knew how to make fresh, raw lumber look old.

He also arranges for the housing and feeding of the stars and production crew, and even for a beauty salon where the company hairdresser can work.

This week he may be called on for anything. One actress once poked her head out of her dressing room at 11 p.m. and asked him to fill a medical prescription for her.

If things continue as they have been going, there may be several men like Samson around Sausalito. And the tiny town, already supersaturated with tourists, might become even more famous.

A STAR IS BORN — Cotton Blossom was just another floating home in Kappas Yacht Harbor north of Sausalito until Hollywood discerned her star quality. Readying her for a television series, to be called "Houseboat," are Jerry Cuff (in crow's nest) and Norman Johnson of Jerry's Yacht Service with Armand Roncace (right). Ray Reported Ready To Stress Decoy Role

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Nashville Tennessean says James Earl Ray, accused of the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., will claim he was "promised '$12,000 to $15,000' to lead police away from the real killers and become the lure in the greatest manhunt in history."

Ray's biographer says the man accused of the sniper slaying of King in Memphis, Tenn., last April 4 was tempted out of a Canadian hideout months before the killing by a $12,000 offer to make a mystery mission to Birmingham, Ala.

Author William Bradford Huie quoted Ray about the money offer in the first installment of a series which began yesterday in Look magazine.

The Tennessean, in yesterday's edition, said Ray will claim that he was only a "decoy" in a plot to kill King in answer to the state of Tennessee's contention that Ray acted as a lone assassin.

Ray, an escapee from the Missouri State Prison, goes on trial in Shelby County Criminal Court at Memphis Nov. 12 on a murder charge.

The Tennessean story, a copyright dispatch by reporter Jim Squires from Memphis, quoted "sources close to the case" as to the line of Ray's defense.

The newspaper said numerous sources have indicated "the defense will claim Ray played only a small part in a master plot so complex and far-reaching that even Ray does not know who masterminded it."

Apparently, no effort will be made by the defense to show who masterminded the alleged conspiracy, the paper said.

The Tennessean story said the defense theory is that Ray's movements in Memphis were designed to set him up as the killer to leave a false trail while someone else shot King.

Huie said Ray, who has been writing autobiographical notes in his jail cell in Memphis for use by Huie in a book, told him the money offer to leave Canada came from "a man whom Ray calls Raoul and describes to me as being a blond Latin about 35, and whom Ray took to be a seaman."

Bagley Gets Expo Probe Assignment

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A special legislative committee gate reports that top officials of the financially troubled California Exposition met secretly the night before the show was put under full state control.

Chairman Harvey Johnson, D - El Monte, of the Assembly Government Organization Committee, yesterday named Republican Assemblymen William Bagley, San Rafael, and Alan Pattee, Salinas, to the special subcommittee.

He said the legislators will try to determine if the state open meeting laws were violated when several members of the Cal Expo executive committee met Sept. 29 at the exclusive Del Paso Country Club for a "private party."

The next day, the executive committee, parent of the Expo nonprofit board of directors, abolished the board and assumed its functions to design, construct and operate the exposition. The action was taken with almost no debate and committee members worked from prepared documents.

Tam High Trustees Elect New President

Gloria Melbostad, clerk and acting president of Tamalpais High School District since the resignation of Dr. John C. Siemens, last night was unanimously elected by the district board as president.

Bette Wallace was unanimously elected clerk. Both motions were made by William B. Lewis, trustee who said he felt the reorganization should be effected immediately.

Dr. Siemens resigned Sept. 8 following a heart attack.

The board heard a written report from Robert Corlett, chairman of the district's citizens architectural advisory committee, that outside corridors at the proposed San Geronimo High School might be too narrow.

Also questioned, Corlett said, was the feasibility of Greylight glass for school classrooms, a glass which permits seeing out but not in. The board agreed these matters should be taken up if the $10.9 million bond issue passes next Tuesday and the construction of the school becomes a reality.

The Tamalpais High School Board Also:

CLOSED CAMPUS — Received a letter from Alfred J. Malvino, Larkspur mayor, stating that he was withdrawing a proposed meeting between the council and the board to discuss the possibility of an open campus at Redwood High until later. The board has indicated the campus will remain closed this year, at least.

MEETING — Agreed that Trustees Bette Wallace and Berton C. Jacobson should meet with representatives of the County School District Organization to discuss an assessment and evaluation study of the district's program, including a review of resources, goals, programs and capabilities of the district and elementary districts within the high school district.

SENSITIVITY PROGRAM — Received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Finn Lea of 102 Inez Place, Mill Valley, expressing concern that the proposed building of a student center at Tamalpais High might revive an experiment in sensitivity training at the school. Mrs. Wallace said the proposed building has no connection with the training.

TEACHERS — Heard a request by William D. Wilkinson, dean of student activities and president of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association, that he be permitted to attend board interviews of candidates for the existing trustee vacancy. He also requested that the board accept certain association guidelines for selecting the candidate. Trustees took the matters under study.

CLAIM — Rejected a claim for $372 back pay by Edwin A. Reed, former custodian now residing in Riverside.

TRANSPORTATION — Tentatively scheduled Nov. 6 for a meeting of Lewis and Jacobson with representatives of the People Against Racism Committee to discuss ways of financing transportation of Marin City students to high school.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Carolyn Attkisson to teach English and social studies at Tamalpais High. Her salary is to be determined. Hired Lee DeWitt to teach piano at Tamalpais High's adult evening school at $6.50 an hour.

ARCHITECTURAL FEES — Approved payment of $4,255 to Crawford and Banning, architects, of San Rafael, for revision work on the design of the proposed Tiburon High School.

Four Seeking Dr. Siemens' Tam High Board Position

Four persons thus far have announced their candidacy for the Tamalpais High School District board post vacated by Dr. John C. Siemens, district officials announced last night.

Deadline for filing for the position is 5 p.m. Nov 7.

Candidates are George C. Stone, a clinical psychologist residing at Bolinas Road and Fresa Avenue, Fairfax; Brice Pace, a retired Army Colonel and present dean at San Rafael Military Academy, of 283 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax; David D. Ring, an attorney living at 1860 Mountain View Drive, Tiburon; and Frank L. Miller, management consultant, of 75 Corte Dorado, Greenbrae.

Dr. Siemens resigned Sept. 8 after suffering a heart attack. His term expires in April 1971 and must be filled by Dec. 7.

District officials said interviews of all candidates will be scheduled following the filing deadline.

Commuters Will Be Given Span Questionnaires

Questionnaires will be handed out at the Golden Gate Bridge plaza between 6 and 9 a.m. tomorrow to about 300 commuters to get information on commute destination.

The Marin County Transit District will distribute the questionnaires at random to 300 motorists and bus passengers.

Seymour Kaskin, district general manager, said the test will be the forerunner of a full-scale study Nov. 13, when questionnaires will be given to every vehicle going into San Francisco between 6 and 9 a.m. More than 30,000 questionnaires have been prepared.

"Our goal is to get a complete breakdown of where people go in San Francisco," said Kaskin. He said information will be used in designing a new commuter system.

LAACP's Legal Talent Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — The legal staff of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has resigned in support of a staff member who was dismissed for writing an article critical of the Supreme Court's civil-rights decisions.

Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel, says he and his staff quit because the NAACP national board "insists that its lawyers conform to its kind of orthodoxy."

The staff resigned yesterday in a dispute over the board's dismissal of Lewis M. Steel, an associate counsel. Steel was ousted for having written "Nine Men in Black Who Think White," which appeared Oct. 13 in The New York Times magazine.

The article said the court had struck down only "symbols of racism" and had overlooked "ingrained practices" of white supremacy.

Three Marijuana Counts Are Denied

Ronald T. Faircloth, 24, of Kentfield, pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court yesterday to two charges of selling marijuana and one of possessing marijuana in Kentfield May 15.

Jury trial on the charges was scheduled for March 31.

Music Teachers Oppose Prop. 9

The Marin County Music Educators Association has gone on record in opposition to Proposition 9—The Watson Amendment for tax revision.

"It is our strong belief and fear that if passed, Proposition 9 would not only cripple the schools and their students' education for years to come, but would also drastically limit the services and protection from other local government agencies," he said.

Sent To Napa

Joseph Arthur Jackson, 55, of 9 Fernwood Drive, San Rafael, was sent to Napa State Hospital Sunday night after being treated at Marin General Hospital for an overdose of pills, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Watson Tax Cut Opposed By Tiburon

The Tiburon City Council last night unanimously opposed Proposition 9, the controversial property tax reform measure on the Nov. 5 ballot and endorsed Propositions 1A and 7, two other tax related measures. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 1.)

Proposition 9, also known as the Watson amendment, would limit property taxes to 1 per cent of the market value after July 1, 1969.

The measure would also shift all education and welfare costs from property taxes to an unspecified source of financing over a five-year period and limit bond financing of any one taxing district to 5 per cent of its assessed valuation.

The proposition has been strongly opposed by most cities and other taxing agencies which depend upon property taxes for revenue.

Proposition 1A is the state Legislature's answer to Proposition 9. It provides homeowners with a one-time $70 rebate on their 1968-69 property taxes and gives an annual $750 exemption from property taxes.

The measure also doubles the standard income tax exemption for renters, eliminates personal property taxes and reduces by 15 per cent the tax paid by businessmen on their inventories.

Proposition 7, endorsed by the council as a companion measure to Proposition 1A, authorizes the use of state funds by local governments for strictly local purposes.

The Tiburon City Council also:

NUISANCE — Declared that a bee keeping operation at 10 St. Bernard Lane by Ted W. Steiger was not a nuisance since the number of bee hives on the property had been reduced to the maximum number allowed, eight.

ABATEMENT — Tabled a nuisance abatement hearing for drainage problems in Blacke's Pasture at Tiburon Boulevard and Reed Ranch Road, owned by Thomas and Gerald Connell, since the drainage has been corrected.

AGENDA — Continued the remaining items on its agenda to 8 p.m. Nov. 13 in city hall because of the late hour. The regular meeting was changed from Nov. 11 because of the Veteran's Day holiday.

Stag Film Put On Homes' Cables

The shocking movie early Sunday lasted 15 minutes, according to some estimates.

Chuck Jenkins, chief engineer of Coachella Valley Television, a cable service, said he had determined somebody tapped into its cable. He said the film apparently was shown in this way, by someone with very sophisticated electronics equipment.

Jenkins said his firm's equipment was not used. The cable service has about 10,000 subscribers.

110 Day Sentence On Check Charges

Donald Lee Johnson of Tiburon was sentenced to 110 days in jail and placed on two years of probation in Marin Superior Court yesterday for cashing bad checks from July 8 through 22 in Tiburon.

Judge Harold J. Haley told Johnson that, as a condition of probation, he may drink no alcoholic beverages.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Complications Add Danger To Simple Strep Infections

VAN DELLEN

Strep throat infections are painful, but it is the possible complications that make the disease so serious. but it is the possible complications Rheumatic fever and Bright's disease are the most notorious of these aftereffects. It is for this reason physicians recommend a throat culture whenever strep throat is suspected.

The beta-hemolytic streptococci are most likely to produce complications. These organisms can be identified within 24 hours and, if treatment is begun immediately, the risk of a kidney or heart disorder is minimized.

ANTIBIOTICS, such as penicillin, or the tetracyclines are the best remedies. However, the microbe will not be eradicated unless the drug is taken for 10 days.

Most individuals with sore throat or nasal involvement are like to blame a virus. In the absence of a flu epidemic, there is a better chance that bacteria are responsible. Streptococcal infections usually develop suddenly along with chills and fever. The temperature may reach 103 degrees Fahrenheit.

Muscles and joints ache and so does the head. Soreness makes swallowing difficult. The throat is red and may be studded with white or yellow flecks. Glands in the neck are swollen and tender to the touch.

BED REST is advisable when the person is feverish. An ice collar may relieve some of the soreness. But, for easing over-all discomfort, nothing works better than aspirin or APC powders. Drink plenty of fluids; iced fruit juices are preferred because the cold soothes and the beverage is nourishing. An antibiotic is prescribed when the throat culture yields the bacterial culprit. In addition, the drug must be taken for 10 days; when discontinued too soon, recurrence is possible.

Anyone with a history of rheumatic fever (RF) is fearful of sore throat. One attack of RF does not confer immunity and each strep infection is a potential cause for a recurrence.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

FLU VACCINE

S. R. writes. Is there any danger of a person developing a severe reaction to flu vaccine?

REPLY

This possibility exists, especially in persons who are hypersensitive to egg products. Eggs are used in the preparation of flu vaccines and the products contain traces of chick embryo. Mild reactions such as fever and aching may occur from other components in the vaccine but these symptoms are not serious and are easily controlled with aspirin.

HEARING AND DIET

A. B. writes: Someone told me about a woman who regained her hearing by going on a special diet. Growing deafness is jeopardizing my job, and I would like to know more about this diet.

REPLY

So would we. Imparied hearing is unrelated to diet, hence I am skeptical. The only exception is the rare person who is allergic to certain foods which create hives that block the eustachian tubes leading to the ears.

ELECTRIC TRANSFORMERS

B.R. writes: We have earnest money on a house that is located near an electric power relay station. Would there be any dangerous radiation emitted from the transformer?

REPLY

There is no radiation from these transformers. Consequently, you need not worry.

SKIN CRACKED

A reader writes: Can a person do something for cracked skin? My fingers are so irritated, they hurt.

REPLY

The first step is to avoid soap and water. Apply a suitable hand cream or lotion and protect the skin with a silicone product and gloves. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on skin cracks (fissures).

DROPSY AND HUMIDITY

A reader writes: If a person has dropsy, would moving to Arizona, which has a dry climate, keep water from collecting in the tissues?

REPLY

Stay put! Humidity has no influence on the causes of dropsy and the accumulation of water in the tissues. There are many excellent diuretic products that should help.

BLOOD IRRADIATION

REPLY

Many years ago a special apparatus was used to expose blood to ultraviolent rays. The manufacturer asserted that this irradiation killed viruses in the blood and recommended the use of it to treat viral diseases such as polio or hepatitis. Results were inconclusive.

State Attacks Bay Company's Baldness Claims

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A San Francisco firm which offers treatments to "prevent baldness and grow new hair" was challenged yesterday by the State Attorney General's office.

Dep. Atty. Gen. Clifton R. Jeffers filed suit in superior court charging that the firm, Angroshair, was "inducing the public into purchasing useless hair and scalp treatments, engaging in fraudulent and misleading advertising" and violating California business codes.

The suit asks a civil penalty of $2,500 for each act of false and misleading advertising.

The firm also was charged with practicing physical therapy without a license, engaging in cosmetology without a license and operating cosmetological establishments without a license.

Campers can reserve space at most state park campgrounds again next year, the state Department of Parks and Recreation has announced.

Reservations will not be taken at a few parks, including Mount Tamalpais State Park in Marin.

At other parks, mailed reservations will be accepted starting Jan. 1 through June 30. Applications are to include the camping fee plus a $1 reservation charge, the department said.

The program was started this year to solve the turnaway problem at popular parks and beaches.

TV REVIEW

This And That From A Columnist

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—I guess the most mail I ever received about a column came after I dared to offer some slight criticism of the Dick Clark Show. Next to that, the most mail came after a column in which I dared to offer some slight criticism of "Ben Casey."

Columns reporting the simple facts of the energence of Negroes in television have brought anti-Negro letters, mostly from the North. Southern letter-writers seem much more sophisticated about what is happening. Columns about Barbra Streisand specials have brought anti-Semitic letters about that lady. Favorable columns about Frank Sinatra shows have brought letters aking whether I am on his payroll.

All such hate mail is immediately dispatched to the waste basket. I do my best to answer promptly the courteous mail, much of it. And recently, most of this letter-answering has had to do with a recent column in which I reviewed the two televised, nerve-shattinger "soul" versions of "The Star-Spangled Banner," by Aretha Franklin at the Democratic Convention and Jose Feliciano at the World Series.

You see, here in Los Angeles we are very conscious about anthems. San Francisco, for instance, has had great songs written about it. But nobody has yet come up with a whopper about Los Angeles, although people keep trying.

As for "The Star-Spangled Banner," everybody knows it isn't the easiest anthem to sing. So it's no surprise that people also keep trying to come up with inspiring patriotic songs. For example, one of our letters came from a lady named Mrs. Fred Harrison in Rockford, Ill.

Mrs. Harrison asks, "How about a new patriotic song set to the tune of 'The Battle Hymn of the Republic' which would be easily sung by everyone?"—and, instead of just wondering about it, she included the lyrics. Music, Mr. Sousa, please:

"America, America—the nation of the free!

From the mountains and the valleys to the deep and rolling sea.

We pledge her our allegiance that forever she may be—America—the free!

"America, the glorious—the country of the brave!

Her gallant sons victorious—our heritage to save—

The stars and stripes of freedom's land—so proudly may it wave! America—the brave!

"America, America—defender of the right!

"Oh, may our nation ever be united under God!

Well, anyway, you can see that Miss Franklin and Mr. Feliciano have, if nothing else, started a lot of people thinking about the national anthem again, and that's not bad. As for myself, I've been working on a fight song for the United Nations.

BART Decries Lack Of Cash For Trains

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bay Area Rapid Transit District officials say they foresee a time when the system will have several stations completed—but no trains.

BART has been pleading for months for legislative help with a $144 million deficit in a $700 million budget approved by voters in a bond election several years ago. Rising prices now make the figure $146 million.

At the present time, with available funds, it will be possible to finish the Montgomery, Powell and Civic Center stations in San Francisco and to build the Berkeley subway, official said.

But there are no plans to continue the Market street subway work, East Bay segments, most of the track and the trains themselves, officials said.

Market street, San Francisco's main thoroughfare, has been plowed through the middle for more than a year in digging that has disrupted all traffic except streetcars and buses.

BART now has a list of 89 contracts needed to finish the system. None can be awarded, said cost engineer Quincy Brooks, unless BART gets an additional $146 million.

Two U.C. Student Leaders Begin Fast

BERKELEY (UPI) — Two student leaders at the University of California began a fast yesterday, but that was about the only definite decision in the continuing turmoil on the Berkeley campus.

A call for a general strike brought mixed reactions — and plans for another mass meeting tonight in an effort to reach some decision on how to achieve action on a list of student demands.

The main issue on the 28,000-student campus is a controversial course on racism featuring Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver. Nearly 200 persons, demanding that credit be given for the course, were arrested in two separate demonstrations last week.

Student body president Charles Palmer, 22, and Konstantin Berlandt, 22, editor of the campus daily newspaper, announced yesterday they were beginning a fast to "re-establish communication" with university administrators.

The strike plan was supported by about 80 per cent of about 4,000 students at a noon rally yesterday. Some who opposed it organized 100 "talk sessions" on campus to discuss the continuing controversy with the board of regents.

Students Drop Antiteacher Plan; School Chief Angered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Polytechnic High School students voted overwhelmingly yesterday to withdraw a demand that 20 of the school's 103 teachers be fired.

The 20 had signed a letter charging "pimping, prostitution and drugs" among the students, who last Friday demonstrated 800 strong against the charges.

The students also voted yesterday to continue negotiations with the administration over other demands such as more black teachers and courses, cafeteria menus, and rehabilitation of the auditorium.

Meanwhile, city superintendent of schools Robert I. Jenkins said any eruptions of violence would result in expulsion.

He spoke yesterday in the wake of the Friday march.

Saying a "small group" was to blame, Jenkins said: "We cannot permit further disorders in San Francisco."

Students not attending classes will be judged truant and called for appropriate disciplinary action, he said.

Non-students who incite pupils and threaten teachers will be apprehended and turned over to police.

Officers, he added, will be called in whenever necessary to deal with marchers and demonstrators.

"One of the first reponsibilities of our schools is the development of good citizenship," Jenkins said. "This includes learning the difference between anarchy and responsible freedom.

"Without the development of self discipline which in itself requires appropriate disciplinary action when necessary, our freedoms will become a mockery."

Apartment Looted Of $130 In Cash

A sable boa valued at $130 and $130 in cash were stolen last week from the apartment of Irene Cowell, 155 Canal Street, Apt. 16, San Rafael police said yesterday.

The theft took place between Wednesday and Friday, police said.

Buses Looted

Nine dry chemical fire extinguishers valued at $200 were stolen Friday or Saturday from school buses parked at San Rafael High School garage, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Ike's Army Boss Brucker Dies At 74

DETROIT (AP) — Former Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker died yesterday after collapsing from an apparent heart attack while attending a Detroit Economic Club luncheon. He was 74.

It was Brucker who supervised National Guard intervention in Little Rock, Ark., in 1957 to help desegrate that city's schools, and it was he who affirmed U.S. intention to remain in Berlin in 1958 in the face of demands by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev that U. S troops be withdrawn.

As general counsel to the Defense Department Brucker appeared at the Army-McCarthy hearings in 1954 and often laughed when the late U.S. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., asked insinuating questions.

"I'm sorry," Brucker would say in mock apology to McCarthy, "but it seems funny to me."

A native of Saginaw, Mich., Brucker was the son of a lawyer who served as a Democratic congressman from 1897 to 1898.

When he graduated from the University of Michigan Law School in 1916, Brucker joined the Michigan National Guard and fought in an expedition in Mexico against Pancho Villa.

Extradition Hearing Set For Carl Black

OAKLAND (UPI) — Federal charges against former Oakland accountant Carl M. Black were dismissed by U.S. Commissioner Cameron Wolf yesterday so Black could be extradited by Nevada to face murder charges.

Black, 48, was arrested here Oct. 19 on a federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. The extradition hearing was scheduled for this afternoon before Berkeley Municipal Judge George Brunn.

Las Vegas authorities have charged Black and two other men with murder in the shotgun slaying of Ralph Alsup, 53, a former business agent for the Las Vegas local of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union. Alsup was killed Jan. 16, 1966, near his ranch home near Las Vegas.

Also charged with the killing are former Sacramento painting contractor Norman Call and Thomas Hanley, a Casino Dealers Union official from Las Vegas.

At a preliminary hearing for Hanley, who has been bound over for trial, a witness said he saw Hanley give Black $5,000 to "get rid of" Alsup.

Call and another Sacramento painting contractor, Max Ward, are currently serving life terms at San Quentin Prison for the shotgun slaying of Dow Wilson, a San Francisco Painters Union official. He was killed about three months after the Alsup shooting.

Black was acquitted on charges of conspiracy in the Wilson murder and subsequently found innocent by a federal court on charges of embezzling $63,474 from the Painters Union.

Henry Rossi, 31, of 3451 Broderick Street, San Francisco, suffered a bruised shoulder when his car struck a parked car in front of 74 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, at 10:45 p.m. Saturday, Belvedere police reported.

Rossi's car struck a car owned by I. E. Levine of 74 San Rafael Avenue, police said. Rossi was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Grand Juror Gun Waving Punished

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A municipal court judge has fined a grand jury member $160 for illegally possessing a loaded automatic pistol.

Judge Joseph P. Kennedy also gave juror George H. Russell, 60, a suspended 90-day jail sentence. Russell pleaded guilty Friday and the decision became public yesterday.

On June 11 he was arrested outside a Post Street tavern after police said he threatened to shoot a bartender who had ousted him on grounds that he was drunk.

Russell was chairman of the grand jury committee investigating conditions in the offices of the district attorney, the city attorney, the public defender and the sheriff's department.

Teeners Booked As Dope Suspects

Five teen-agers were cited to Juvenile Hall for the possession of marijuana at 9:30 p.m. Friday, according to Novato police reports.

An anonymous caller told police he thought the teen-agers were smoking marijuana in a field near 699 Tamalpais Avenue. Police found two girls, both 15 years old, and three boys, one 13 and two 14 years old in the field.

They also found seven partially smoked cigarettes and a plastic bag all thought to be marijuana, according to police reports.

Olympics Over, So Track Feud Begins Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the passing of the Olympics has gone the short peace that prevailed in the track feud between the nation's colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union, and the war is on again.

The U.S. Track and Field Federation, an arm of the colleges, has plans to sponsor as many as seven major indoor meets this winter in defiance of the AAU.

Any college athlete running in an AAU meet is threatened with loss of the rest of his campus eligibility, starting this weekend.

"Our stand has become more solidified than it has ever been before," said USTFF President E. Wayne Cooley.

The colleges had declared a truce last April in their long war with the AAU so the feud would not interfere with the Olympic Games in Mexico City. The truce runs out Thursday.

The AAU has been the traditional governing body of open track meets in this country. But the colleges, which supply most of the athletes, argue that they have a responsibility to determine whether proper conditions are met for off-campus competition by their students.

A two-year U.S. Senate effort to work out a compromise was spurned by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the USTFF last spring because the proposed settlement would have left the AAU in control.

The NCAA has announced that, effective Friday, any school sending athletes to an outside meet not certified through the USTFF will be penalized. And the schools will be expected to strip the college eligibility from any athlete competing on his own in defiance of the NCAA ban.

At the same time, the AAU long has threatened to take the international amateur eligibility away from any athlete who enters an unapproved USTFF meet.

Cooley, of Des Moines, Iowa, shrugged, "They have been throwing threats about idly for years. They threaten, but don't do anything about it."

The USTFF is already heading into a wide-ranging, major indoor track season.

The college-backed organization has scheduled the Astrodome Relays in Houston Jan. 24-25, plans a National Invitational meet in Madison Square Garden in New York Feb. 7, will sanction the Herald-Examiner Track Classic in Los Angeles Feb. 15, and has slated its own National Indoor Championships for the Milwaukee Journal meet March 8.

Cooley expressed confidence that the top athletes past the college stage will have to ignore the AAU and come to the USTFF.

"You're only talking about a handful of athletes. They'll want to go where the action is," Cooley said.

A special Sports Arbitration Baord set up by the Senate in 1965 and appointed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey failed to solve the fight earlier this year.

Efforts by the Senate Commerce Committee to enforce a permanent peace dwindled away during the summer, but the issue could be revived when Congress returns in January.

Cerrudo's Rooters Can Cheer Him On

COUNTIN' GREENERY — This week's Lucky International Open Golf Tournamnet at San Francisco's Harding Park should attract a goodly number of Marin's pasture pool partisans because of the presence in the field of Ron Cerrudo, the 23-year-old rookie pro from San Rafael.

Ron hasn't won any major tournaments on the PGA tour to date, but he's coming along. Two weekends ago the handsome youngster with the mod haircut pocketed $5,150 for a third place finish in the Sahara Open. He added another 1,000 bananas to his financial crop the other day.

I haven't peeked at Ron's bankbook lately, but I believe he's doing quite well in the loot department, even better than expected.

When Ron turned pro he told me his goal in his first year on the tour was to place in the top 60 on the PGA money list. He estimated that to be about $20,000, which is not bad for playing a game all year.

He'll Exceed His Goal

Ron's third at Sahara and a $7,000-plus payoff at Cleveland during the summer have been his richest tournaments and he has consistently been in the payline all year. It looks like he'll far exceed his $20,000 goal.

It's a good thing, too. When Cerrudo turned pro he estimated his tour expenses would run about $300 per week. Well, since that time Ron got married, so the expenses have increased. Considerably, I would imagine.

Cerrudo's third place finish at Sahara was accomplished by shooting four consecutive sub-par rounds, the first time, I believe, that he's managed that consistency as a pro.

Thus, he appears ready to score a major victory and it would be just dandy if he could do it in San Francisco before home town fans.

His Fans Need A Name

And I think we Marinites should form a rooting section for the local boy. This is the latest fad in pro golf. Arnold Palmer started it with "Arnie's Army." Then came "Jack's Pack" for Nicklaus while the religious Billy Casper developed a following known as "Casper's Crusaders."

Tom Weiskopf's "Dumkopfs" and then along came Lee Trevino's dramatic triumph in the U.S. Open. Look, Ma, "Lee's Fleas."

Now, in anticipation of Cerrudo's first major triumph, we should think of a name to call his followers. I-J sportswriter Gary Tischler offers "Cerrudo's Barracudas" but I think that stinks as too fishy. Another suggestion is "Ron's Raiders."

If you have any ideas please forward them to me.

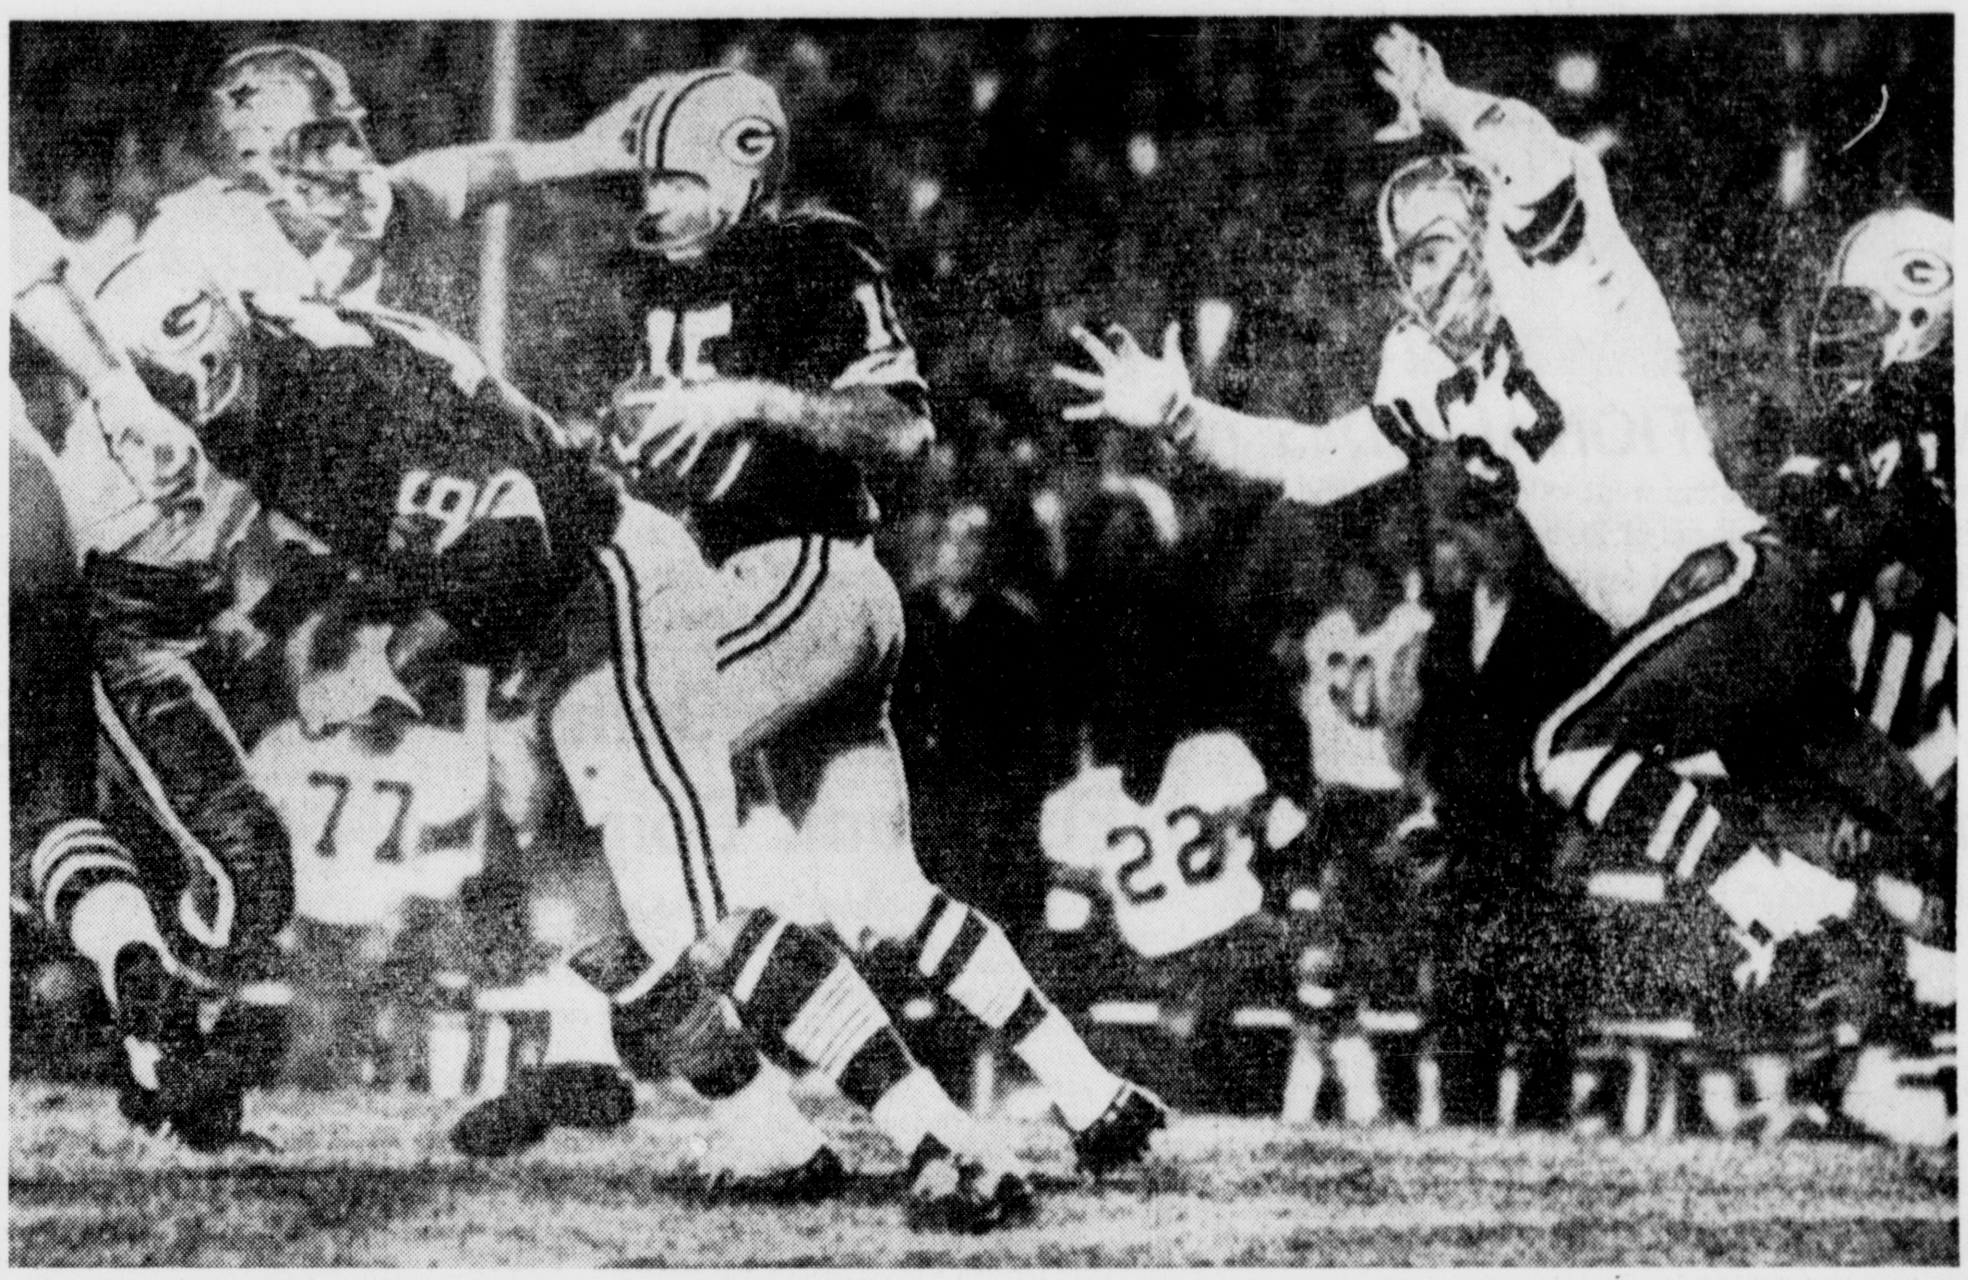
Packers Continue That Mastery



CATCHING STARR — Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr is caught behind the line of scrimmage by Dallas defenders. He stayed free of tacklers long enough last night to throw four touchdown passes to lead the Packers to victory over the Cowboys. No. 63 for Dallas is Larry Cole and that's Bob Skoronski (76) of the Packers. (AP Wirephoto)

Starr Bombs Away

With last night's 28-17 victory over Dallas before a national television audience, the Packers shot into a tie for the Central Division lead of the National Football League with Detroit—each with 3-3-1 records.

Lombardi said, "I never had any doubts" about Green Bay coming back from a series of early season reversals.

AGREES

Dallas Coach Tom Landry agreed.

"We wanted to win this one badly-maybe too bad," said Landry.

Dallas never has beaten Green Bay in a regular season game and has suffered last-second losses to the Packers the past two years in the NFL playoffs.

"They made the big plays," said Landry. "Bart Starr was just great."

Starr, who only last week was on the sidelines for most of the game against Los Angeles with a pulled bicep muscle, rifled four touchdown passes and completed 17 of 25 tosses for 260 yards.

TD ARM

He hit Marv Fleming on scoring tosses of three and 32 yards and tossed for touchdowns 26 yards to Carroll Dale and five yards to Boyd Dowler.

Dallas quarterback Don Meredith, who suffered a broken nose when he was tackled by Willie Davis, threw touchdown passes of 18 yards to Bob Hayes and 27 yards to Craig Baynham. He had three throws intercepted and completed but 13 of 30 for 219 yards.

"The injury was a freak thing," said Meredith. "I'm sure he (Davis) didn't mean to."

Davis was assessed a 15-yard penalty for grabbing the face mask on the play.

PRAISE

"I didn't think Meredith was as effective after he got hurt," said Landry. "But it was a must game for the Packers and I don't want to take anything away from them.

"That's why they are a good team. They win the big ones."

Packer Coach Phil Bengtson said, "It was definitely a must game for us if there ever was one. No question about this being our best game of the year."

Landry said Baynham's fum-

Young Olympians Get Big Welcome

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Trying to hold her jacket, a dozen roses, a plaque from her school and a key to the city, little Debbie Meyer managed to brush away a tear.

Standing next to her in a red, white and blue outfit, Sue Pederson tried to keep from giggling and blushed at the praise of the civic leaders at the microphone.

Nearby were Mike Burton and John Ferris, looking uncomfortable and almost embarrassed at all the fuss at the airport, with the band and all.

The four youngsters had just returned yesterday from the Olympic games in Mexico City where they collected seven gold medals, two silver medals and two bronze medals for swimming.

Vice Mayor Albert Talkin, who gave to them shiny, filigreed keys to the city, said they had "brought fame to Sacramento like nothing since the gold rush" of a century ago.

As the four—accompanied by swim Coach Sherman Chavoor, eight-oared crew members Cleve and Mike Livingston and canoe and kayak Coach Gert Grigoleit—stepped off the commercial jetliner, the Rio Americano High School band began to play, six pom pon girls and four cheerleaders began to dance and a cheer went up from the crowd.

James Phelan, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, praised the Sacramento athletes for "taking some of the play away from the astronauts" who orbited the earth last week.

After a motorcade wound its way through crowded downtown streets, Debbie told newsmen she doesn't plan to compete in the 1972 Olympics in Munich, Germany.

The 16-year-old high school junior said she wants "to try some other things in life" besides swimming.

Chavoor, however, encouraged Debbie to continue to swim in competition at least through high school. Chavoor said Debbie, who holds world records in the 200, 400 and 800-meter freestyle—the events in which she won gold medals—has not yet reached her peak.

Debbie brought back three gold medals, Sue won two gold and two silver medals, and Burton won two gold medals. Ferris brought home two bronze medals.

Bob Gibson Says He's 'Honored'

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Bob Gibson, notified yesterday that he had won the National League's Cy Young Award, went out to do what he does best —play baseball.

"I've got to play ball," Gibson said after learning that he was a unanimous choice of the 20-man selection committee as his league's pitcher of the year. The St. Louis Cardinals are on a tour of Japan.

The big right-hander compiled a 22-9 record in helping the Cards win their second straight pennant and set a major league earned run average low of 1.12.

"It's a great honor to receive the award," Gibson said. "It makes me feel great and deeply honored."

During the season, Gibson won 15 consecutive games, a club record, and had one stretch of 47 scoreless innings. He finished 28 of 34 starts, pitched 13 shutouts and struck out 268 batters in 305 innings.

Gibson was bothered late in the season by a painful pitching arm but said rest had cured it. Pitching coach Billy Muffett said Gibson might go on to bigger and better things next season.

"I figured he would get some kind of award and there's no telling what he'll do next year," said Muffett.

Gibson capped the 1968 season by winning two World Series games but he was the losing pitcher against Detroit in the seventh and final game.

USC Picked By 17, Cal By Just Five

NEW YORK (UPI)—Southern California was missing, but not forgotten.

The Trojans, ranked No. 1 in the country among college football teams, took last weekend off and return to action against Oregon this Saturday. The oddsmakers, well remembering the potent offense of the Trojans, have tabbed them as 17-point favorites to roll up their sixth consecutive victory.

The other high-ranking members of the top 10 also are favored by a touchdown or more to maintain their perfect records through another weekend. Second-ranked Ohio State is picked by seven points over Michigan State, third-ranked Kansas is 12 over Colorado and fourth-ranked Penn State is 11 over Army.

Tennessee, the No. 5 team, entertains UCLA in an attractive intersectional game and the Vols, with four victories and a tie, are picked by 10 points. Seventh-ranked Georgia, which owns the tie against Tennessee, is rated only two points better than 13th-ranked Houston.

Eighth-rated California is five over Washington, ninth-ranked Missouri is 12 over Oklahoma State and 10th-ranked Michigan is 12 over Northwestern.

No point spreads were given on the games between sixth-ranked Purdue and Illinois and 15th-ranked Notre Dame and Navy.

In an important Southwest Conference clash, 11th-ranked Texas is picked by seven points over Southern Methodist, the No. 14 team.

In other games by section:

South — Louisiana State 6 over Mississippi, Florida State 11 over Virginia Tech, Alabama 21 over Mississippi State, Auburn 2 over Florida, North Carolina State 6 over Clemson, Kentucky 1 over West Virginia, Wake Forest 11 over Maryland, Virginia 7 over South Carolina, Georgia Tech 7 over Duke, Vanderbilt 4 over Tulane.

Drake High School pom-pon girls and rooters went wild with elation Friday night as their Pirates went ahead of Redwood in the final minutes of their Marin County Athletic League football game at Kentfield. Meanwhile, over on the other side of the field, it was a sad ending as expressed by Redwood assistant coaches Phil Roark (left) and Al Endriss. Drake scored three times in the last 3 minutes, 24 seconds to win, 37-25.

'Super Oaks,' Friends To Open Home Slate

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Oaks, sporting a new coach a new star and a new image, open their home season tonight against the New Orleans Buccaneers, and seek their fourth straight American Basketball Association victory.

The Oaks, worst team in the ABA last year, have been whipped into a running, slick ball-handling group by Alex Hannum formerly of the Philadelphia 76ers of the National Basketball Association.

Tonight's game, in the Oakland Arena, begins at 8 o'clock.

Rick Barry, a part owner who was restrained by court order from playing for the Oaks last year after jumping from the San Francisco Warriors of the NBA, is being billed as "Super Oak."

The 6-foot-7, 24-year-old Barry, who led the NBA with an average of 35.6 points a game in 1966-67, totaled 114 in the Oaks' three ABA victories, an average of 38 a game.

Barry's isn't the only new face among the Oaks. Doug Moe, 6-5 forward who was the ABA's second leading scorer last year and guard Larry Brown, the ABA assist leader, were obtained from New Orleans.

Moe, along with rookies Jim Eakins, a 6-11 center, and Warren Armstrong, a guard, could play in the NBA, says Barry.

Henry Logan and Russ Critchfield of California are two other rookie guards who, says Barry, help create "a more exciting brand of ball in the ABA.

Minnesota and New Orleans, along with his team, says Barry, could compete with the NBA expansion teams and "not have to worry about things."

The major difference between the leagues ,says Barry, is that in the ABA "you don't have seven - footers blocking shots."

"It's not any easier to score in the new league, he says. The ABA's red, blue and white ball is just like the NBA's. "If you shoot it right, it goes in," he says.

It's probably even harder for Barry in the ABA, says Hannum, "because every team is pointing for him. He's getting belted around a lot. It won't be easy. He'll have to work, but when he's not scoring, we have got other guys who can."

Falcons Place Six On Waivers

ATLANTA (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, new coach of the Atlanta Falcons has put six players on waivers, including five starters, Falcons General Manager Frank Wall confirmed last night.

The six released were:

—Defensive cornerback Lee Calland, a regular with the Falcons since he was drafted from Minnesota in 1966.

—Corner linebacker Marion Rushing, also a regular since chosen from the St. Louis Cardinals in the same 1966 National Football League draft.

—Fullback Brendan McCarthy, a rookie from Boston College who was picked up on waivers and has started every game this season for the Falcons.

—Defensive safety Phil Spiller, picked up this year on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals.

—Center Joe Cerne, picked up on waivers from San Francisco.

—Defensive tackle Jim Norton, the last remaining player from the trade for the No. 1 draft choice in 1967. Norton came from the San Francisco 49ers.

Asked if rumors of the shake-up were true, Wall replied that they were but declined further comment. He said some of the players involved had not yet been told.

Any of the six could be recalled within 48 hours if Van Brocklin so chooses. When a player is placed on waviers, another team has 24 hours in which to claim him and the waiving team has 24 hours after that in which to recall.

Jimmy Hines Joins NFL Miami Dolphins

Wearing his two Olympic gold medals—for a world record 9.9 clocking in the 100-meter run and for anchoring the record-setting 400-meter relay team—Hines went through a mock contract signing for photographers.

Actually, he came to terms with the Dolphins last Thursday at Las Vegas, Nev., where the club president, Joe Robbie, was attending a convention.

"It was the safest bet we ever made at Las Vegas," Robbie quipped.

But the question of when Hines will actually go into action for Miami will be settled only after he shows that he can catch passes and take his knocks, Coach George Wilson said.

"We would like to get him in there returning kicks as soon as possible," Wilson said. "Then if he shows us he can catch the ball, we'll use him as a wide receiver."

But next Sunday's game at San Diego will be definitely too early to use Hines in any capacity, Wilson added.

Hines, a high school football star at Oakland, passed up college football to take a track scholarship at Texas Southern University in Houston.

But he said football was "my first love" and he didn't think the transition to pro football would be too hard.

At McClymonds High School in Oakland, he twice made the All-State team. He scored 13 touchdowns as a senior, gaining 864 yards rushing and 500 on pass receptions.

As a high school trackman, Hines tied Jesse Oens' national record of 9.4 for the 100-yard dash. He received a score of offers for college football scholarships.

At Texas Southern, he tied the world 60-yard indoor record of 5.9 three times and the world record of 9.1 for the 100.

The Dolphins signed him in the sixth round of the 1968 draft but encouraged him to go on to the Olympics before discussing a contract.

Robbie said he watched Hines run in the Olympics but was especially impressed "by the commendable manner in which he conducted himself" during a time when two members of the U.S. team were being suspended for giving black power gestures from the victory stand.

Cardinals Whip Japanese Nine On 3-Run Homer

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Joe Hague's three-run homer in the sixth inning enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to turn back the Yomiuri Giants 6-3 today in the fourth game of their Japanese baseball tour.

The Giants, the Japanese champions, took a 3-0 lead off Redbirds' starter Steve Carlton, who worked the first four innings. St. Louis erupted for five runs in the sixth, scoring twice before Hague, a rookie outfielder, connected.

The Cards, who collected nine hits off four Giants' pitchers, scored their other run in the ninth inning. Reliever Wayne Granger pitched five scoreless innings for the National League pennant-winners and was credited with the victory. He and Carlton scattered six hits.

Raiders Look For Revenge

OAKLAND ,AP) — The Oakland Raiders will be looking for revenge and a chance to get back into the American Football League title race next Sunday when the Western Division-leading Kansas City Chiefs hit town.

The Chiefs, 7-1, humiliated Oakland two weeks ago in Kansas City when they surprised the Raiders with an old-fashioned T-formation offense and crunched their way to a 24-10 victory.

It was the second straight loss for the Raiders, who rebounded Sunday with a 31-10 romp over the fledgling Cincinnati Bengals.

It pulled Oakland into a second-place tie with the San Diego Chargers, who lost 27-20 to the Chiefs.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA FOOTBALL

Stanford's Ralston Hasn't Lost His Sense Of Humor

PALO ALTO (AP) — John Ralston's Stanford football team has lost two of its last three games and tied the other, but he hasn't lost his sense of humor.

"How do you feel?" Ralston was asked as he thought about his teams 20-17 loss to UCLA Saturday.

"Oh, great," said Ralston. "I just slit my throat."

He now tried to get his team ready for bruising Oregon State, which has won four of six games but lost two by a point apiece.

CONCERN

Of major concern, he told the Northecn California Football Writers yesterday, is the running of Bill Enyart, who is second only to O. J. Simpson of University of Southern California in rushing and scoring.

The Beavers also have the "most underrated quarterback on the coast" in option specialist Steve Preece, said Ralston.

Ralston said Mark Marquess performed so well at split end against UCLA that he was tempted to call Marquess at Tucson, Ariz., where he is training with a United States baseball team for a tournament in Mexico, and try to talk him into coming back for the Oregon State game.

FOURTH ONE

Bruce Cass will be the fourth different starter for Stanford at the end position this weekend.

California, 5-1, plays at Washington and Bear coach Ray Willsey said "The Huskies will be waiting in Seattle to knock us out of anything we had in mind."

Asked what he had in mind, Wilsey replied, "Simply to win another football game."

Willsey singled out his defensive unit and end Mike McCaffrey in particular, for play in the 43-0 victory over Syracuse.

McCaffrey, who was in on eight tackles and intercepted a pass, was voted by the writers as the Northern California lineman of the week.

SCHOOL MARK

Gene Washington, Sanford flanker who caught 13 passes against UCLA, setting a school mark and tying a Pacific-8 mark, was voted the outstanding back.

The same awards went to linebacker Jim Jordan of Sacramento State and Santa Clara halfback Dick Nelson in the college division.

Jordan made 17 tackles as his team beat Nevada, 17-14, and Nelson scored three touchdowns in Santa Clara's 27-21 victory over Long Beach State.

Soviet Press Pretty Quiet On Olympics

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet newspapers today expressed dissatisfaction with the poor showing of Russia at the Olympics compared to the United States.

"Unfortunately, our sportsmen were not as successful as we expected," said Pravda, newspaper of the Soviet Communist party. "We lagged behind the Americans in all three kinds of medals."

Sovyesky Sport, the country's only sports daily, said, "The results of the Olympics require long and detailed analysis."

It cited track and field, swimming, basketball, rowing and cycling as the sports in which Soviet athletes most need improvement.

And it called for better training and better "psychological preparation to foster feelings of responsibility for the honor of the banner of our national team."

But, despite these few examples, Soviet papers generally have shied away from criticizing the Olympic team or comparing its showing with that of the Americans. The government, which controls the press, apparently decided to avoid stirring up bad publicity.

Lists of the medals won by various countries have not been published here, in contrast to the Olympics in which Russian teams came out ahead.

The papers also have not carried any comments from athletes or coaches returning from Mexico City.

ble in the fourth period was the play that killed the Cowboys.

Dallas' record dropped to 6-1, which is good enough for a game lead over New York in the Capitol Division.

Landry said, "I'm happy to be 6-1 at this stage. I'll settle for that the second half of the season. I have no apologies for this club."

VERN HARRINGTON

HERE IT COMES — Driver Monte Schaulis is behind the wheel of the Sausalito-based dune buggy which will be among the entrants in the Mexican 1,000 race. Those extra lights will be quite a help during night driving.

DUNE BUGGIES TO ROAR THROUGH MEXICO

Marinites Enter Gruelling 1,000-Mile Race

By RALPH CHATOIAN

It's road racing without a road. There's no track to follow and the terrain is always rugged, full of potholes and rocks. It's desert driving at a fast clip, with no obstacle too high to climb.

It's called off-road racing and two Sausalitans are getting knee deep in it, getting ready for the Mexican 1,000, a grueling race from Ensenada to LaPaz.

Monte Schaulis, 33-year-old insurance agent, and John Hilton, 30, assistant manager of Penske-Hilton Racing Enterprises, have pooled forces to form a team known as Hilton Racing Enterprises, with their first big venture scheduled for Nov. 5, the second annual Mexican 1,000.

DUST EATING

The team has put $9,500 into the building of a dune buggy which is entered in the Mexican race. The blue vehicle bears the number 18, signifying its starting position. And to be the 18th from the starting line in a race that expects to have 300 entries saves a lot of dust eating.

There were only 120 entrants last year in the Mexican race, so you can see the interest growth after only a year of off-road racing.

The purse for the race is $65,000, and is drawing such drivers as A. J. Foyt, Parnelli Jones, and Bob and Al Unser, according to Hilton.

Schaulis will be sharing the driving with Vern Harrington, chief mechanic of their dune buggy. Hopes are to cover the course — between 900 and 1,000 miles — in 24 hours, but, Hilton added, "the drop-out rate is tremendous. Only 15 per cent of the starters finished last year.

The race is divided into eight classes, six for autos and two for motorcycles, under and over 250cc. So when No. 18 takes off, it will be among other buggies, jeeps, sedans and cycles, all trying to make it through the long, long drive.

The Sausalito buggy has been four months in preparation, built to withstand the highest of pressures.

FLYING HIGH

"It's designed to go 50 feet through the air and come down without breaking apart," smiled Hilton. It was assembled at Rockie's Auto Repair in Sausalito.

But the racer itself is only part of the picture.

A specially - built "follow" truck, loaded with spare parts, wheels, tires, torches and tools will be on hand during the Mexico race to come to the racer's aid in case of trouble.

An airplane and pilot will also be part of the team, following the racer over that course. In case of a breakdown, the plane will be used to fly parts from the "follow" truck to the dune buggy itself. Hilton will be aboard the plane, which will be piloted by Skip Scott, high-ranking race driver from Devon, Pa.

SPECIAL LIGHTS

It seems like quite a bit of preparation for one race. It is, but about 10 per cent of the competition will be doing just as much in hopes of winning, said Hilton.

Since a lot of the driving will be done at night, the Hilton-Schaulis dune buggy has been equipped with four headlamps, with two foglamps yet to be added. The lights for the car alone cost $150. The car is powered by a Volkswagen engine.

This first car will serve as a test vehicle for Hilton Racing Enterprises. If all goes well, more will be built by the Sausalito group and sold to others interested in off-road racing.

Schaulis and Hilton, who have known each other for 15 years, had talked about this new kind of racing for a few months before finally deciding to go ahead with their plans. It all should add to a pretty darned interesting day for them on Nov. 5.

Or as Hilton said, "What a way to spend an election day." He's got a point.

The FISHIN' FOOL

STEVENS

I suggest — to the many anglers who will read this — that they read the following letter I received recently. It is short and to the point and stresses the sentiments expressed in a column last week. The writer is Stan Holden of 267 Flint Court No. 6, Hayward. It follows:

Ralph: Here's a short letter about a fishing trip Don Castle and I took this week (Oct. 24, 1968). We camped near Sierraville, and weather and countryside was everything that could be desired. Just grand! As for the fishing, it was the same. Davis Lake is giving up some fine fish — most of them in the pound-and-a-half class. We caught all of ours on trolled nightcrawlers.

NEXT WE HIT Packer Lake in the Gold Lake Basin area. The brookies were hungry and hit flies regularly. At day's end we had a nice string of fish. The big surprise came when we fished Independence Lake. The going was slow until I tagged into an 8¾-pound cutthroat that measured 26½ inches. I was using four-pound line, flashers, three-pound leader and an F7 Flatfish. It was 35 minutes of solid battle before I could get him to the net. Again the Brook trout were on the bite and Don was able to score on flies. The fish sure looked stunning in their fall colors. Independence Lake is just off Highway 89 between Truckee and Sierraville. It's about five miles up the Weber Lake Road. Thanks, Ralph, I hope to be able to drop a line or two again in the Future — Signed, Stan Holden."

TALK ABOUT THRILLS — an 8¾-pounds cutthroat on three-pound leader, and on a four-pound line — a 35 minute battle — What more could a guy hope for.

A very interesting note is before me as I write. "Another venison Bar-b-que is scheduled at the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital on Saturday afternoon, November 2.

Hosted by the good folks of Humboldt County, 20 amputees hunted for the second year on the Roy Fulton ranch. The hunt was organized by Irv Renner, the county's Veteran Service Officer.

EIGHTEEN DEER WERE bagged, so all 1800 of the Hospital's patients will be guests.

According to Johnny White of the "Horns of the Hunter," many major league celebrities, and entertainers will be on hand to make this day a memorable one.

I extend my congratulations to all participants.

Winners' Ancestry

NEW YORK (UPI) — Since 1964, 207 out of 274 horse races have been won by descendants of Eclipse, according to records of the American Thoroughbred Racing Association. Of the remainder, 31 races were won by descendants of Matchem and 36 won by descendants of Herod.

Ellis Wins 3d Straight Yacht Title

R. G. Ellis of Sausalito Cruising Club and his cruiser Mimbo finished only third in last Saturday's Northern California Predicted Log Racing Association race but he didn't have to bother anyway.

Ellis could have been on the dock shooting pool or something, because he had already clinched the season's over-all title a week earlier.

That's a season that covers six San Francisco Bay races over a 21-mile course, and the whole thing is no new experience to the Sausalito Cruising Club past commodore. He's won it for the past three years now, after finishing dead last in his first season five years ago. He's a past commander of the San Francisco Power Squadron and is an Advanced Pilot in Celestial Navigation.

Drake Kids End Perfect Warner Grid Season

The Junior Pirates completed their league season with five victories and no losses, their final victory coming Saturday afternoon over Tamalpais, 33-14, at Tamalpais High School's field.

Quarterback Tom MacGausland connected with Don Asay for touchdown passes of 70 and 50 yards, and MacGausland scored another TD on a 65-yard run after a broken play. Rick Herbert scored from 30 yards out on an end sweep and Bill Reilly ran 20 yards for the team's final touchdown of the afternoon.

Wall Street Closes On The Minus Side

While the trend was lower, brokers commented on the strong action of several stocks, among them Standard Oil (New Jersey), up 2 in active trading. "Jersey" directors were scheduled to meet Thursday to consider the year's final dividend.

Sinclair, up 3, continued very strong. Ling-Temco-Vought, up 4 in heavy trading, erased Monday's decline. Cities Service advanced about 1½ in brisk trading amid rumors of a possible takeover move.

NEW AUTO PARTS STORE

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Vendors Attractive On Long Term Basis

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—I have, in the past, made a good profit in stocks of vending companies. Where does this industry stand today—that is, are there still possibilities for growth?—F.B.

A—The group as a whole has moved up sharply to levels that discount earnings well into next year. However, Canteen Corp. and Macke Co. at 20 and 25 times 1968 fiscal year's estimated earnings appear to have long-term potential.

Several developments are taking place within the industry that could materially change its future. Topping the list are probable price increases.

While sales have risen from $2 billion to $4.5 billion in the last decade, profits have failed to keep pace because individual companies have been hesitant about raising their prices.

Increasing the cost of hot and cold beverages from the standard 10 cents to 15 cents would have a dramatic impact on revenues since these two items account for close to one-third of all vending sales.

Reluctance to make the change stems partly from the intense competition in the field and partly from the fact that much of the business is in locations where prices are subject to negotiated contracts.

However, one of the major companies has stated that it will make the move.

Providing other services to established customers — services such as laundry, janitor, security and gardening — is one of the major areas of chance being explored by the industry.

Manual feeding has been an integral part of operations for several of the vending concerns —volume from this source provides 17 per cent of Canteen's sales. More intensive saturation of this field is therefore a natural avenue of expansion.

Another possible area for growth is in hospital and nursing homes— Macke is well entrenched in this field. Collegees, in-plant cafeterias and mobile truck catering all offer opportunities to be exploited. Growth in any or all of the above-named directions plus an increasing population with its ever-greater spending capacity should continue to push vendors' sales and profits upward.

THE PENNEY STORY

Lay-away works this-away

By ROBERTA NASH

"I found the most darling coat at Penney's," a friend said recently. "But I won't need it for a couple of months, and I really hate to spend the money now."

So I told my friend about Penney's lay-away plan. "You just put a few dollars down and Penney's will hold your coat until you're ready to wear it. You can work out almost any schedule of payments. It's like an easy payment plan for cash customers.

"I often pick up Christmas gifts on lay-away in October and November; why don't you try it?" I asked. She did.
